Jack Kent Cooke

Three Super Bowl titles and four NFC championships. An NBA title with a league record 33-game winning streak. The Forum. New Redskins Park. Acquiring Laker rights for Kareem Abdul Jabbar and Magic Johnson.

For most sportsmen, any one of these accomplishments would spell success. For Jack Kent Cooke, they are only a sampling of his work.

The Redskins added the latest chapter to Mr. Cooke's sporting legacy last season by winning Super Bowl XXVI in a dominating performance that saw Washington outscore opponents 102-41 in the playoffs to cap a 17-2 season.

It was Washington's third Super Bowl championship and fourth Super Bowl appearance in ten years. Since Mr. Cooke became majority owner in 1974, the Redskins have compiled a 180-97 overall record - the best in pro football - and made the playoffs seven times in the last eleven seasons.

In a sport designed to work against the teams at the top, Mr. Cooke's formula for success is simple.

"You get good people and you give them the things they need to succeed," explains the Redskins owner.

Because of the success of the franchise, the personnel decisions have been few, but his intuition to recognize ability and character is reflected in head coach Joe Gibbs and general manager Charley Casserly.

Gibbs was an untested assistant coach for the San Diego Chargers when Mr. Cooke selected him for the Redskins in 1981. Today Gibbs is one of the most successful coaches in National Football League history, compiling a 130-57 record while winning three Super Bowl titles. Among coaches with 10 playoff games, only Vince Lombardi has a better playoff percentage.

"I was satisfied that he had an inner intensity matching that of any man I'd run into in the coaching ranks," says Mr. Cooke in explaining his choice of Gibbs.

That faith was tested early in Gibbs coaching career when the Redskins struggled to an 0-5 start in his first season. In a story Gibbs often tells, Mr. Cooke summoned the coach to his office.

"You're going to turn this around. You're going to do it. You've got what it takes. Now, get back to work," exhorted Mr. Cooke to his grateful coach.

The Redskins rebounded to finish 8-8 and a year later rolled to their first Super Bowl title. Another Super Bowl crown came in 1987, but by midseason in 1989, the Redskins were back at a crossroads after losing to winless Dallas to fall below .500.

Again Mr. Cooke stepped forward, predicting the Redskins would rebound and "win at least nine games." To the surprise of everyone, the Redskins won their last five games to finish 10-6.

"We've been through some tough times here, and Mr. Cooke is at his best when you're being tested," says Gibbs.

The strength of the franchise was also tested with the departure of Bobby Beathard in 1989. Again, Cooke went with a relative unknown in Casserly, predicting that he would be "capable of keeping the Redskins in contention in the National Football League." Like Gibbs, Casserly is today regarded at the top of his profession.

And Mr. Cooke does not stop with the best people. Beginning this fall, the Redskins will be housed in one of the finest training facilities in the NFL. The new state-of-the-art Redskins Park includes three grass and one astroturf practice field, expanded weight room, locker room, training and equipment facilities along with larger team meeting rooms and office space.

He is also completing plans to build a new open air, grass turf 78,100 seat stadium, which will rank at the top of the NFL.

The Redskins Super Bowl championship last year celebrated 40 years of professional sports involvement for Mr. Cooke, who purchased the Toronto Maple Leaf minor league baseball team in 1951. A year later, he was named Minor League Executive of the Year by "The Sporting News."

The Maple Leafs were only the beginning of one of the most illustrious and successful eras of ownership in sporting history. Next was expansion into professional basketball and hockey when he became Chairman of the Board and President of California Sports Inc., corporate parent of the Forum, the Los Angeles Kings of the National Hockey League and the Los Angeles Lakers of the National Basketball Association.

When Mr. Cooke ran into a concrete wall with the Coliseum Commission on an arena lease for his teams, he retaliated by building the first privately funded indoor arena in the United States in 30 years. Today the Forum still ranks at the top of the country's arenas.

Mr. Cooke also left a lasting legacy with the Lakers when he traded for Kareem Abdul-Jabbar and drafted and signed Magic Johnson to lay the foundation for a Los Angeles dynasty. Previously, he brought the Lakers an NBA title in 1971-72 while establishing a mark that may never be duplicated: 33 successive wins.

After buying a 25% share of the Redskins in 1960, Mr. Cooke became majority owner in 1974. He moved from California to Virginia in 1979 and acquired complete ownership of the team in 1985.

His sporting love extends to horses and horseracing, where his Elmendorf Racing and Breeding Farm may produce a Kentucky Derby winner for him in the future. It will surprise no one because winning has been a way of life for Mr. Cooke - in business as well as sports.

Born October 25, 1912 in Hamilton, Ontario, Canada, and beginning as an encyclopedia salesman during the depression at age 18, Mr. Cooke's versatility in business is legendary. He joined Northern Broadcasting and Publishing, Ltd and before he was 26 was one-third partner in Thomson Cooke Newspapers. Subsequently a 50-50 partner with Roy Thomson, he and Thomson operated radio stations and newspapers throughout Canada.

Thomson was later elevated to the peerage becoming Lord Thomson of Fleet.

Presently his business interests are rapidly growing, "Los Angeles Daily News, the Chrysler Building, cable television systems, and real estate enterprises; he has his hand in many other fields.

Cooke's father, Ralph E. was a picture frame manufacturer. His mother, Nancy, helped him develop an interest in music. As a youngster he played clarinet and saxophone, playing in bands in Toronto with Percy Faith, famous orchestra leader and composer, and the late Murray McEachern, outstanding trombonist. Mr. Cooke plays piano, and is a member of ASCAP and BMI, having written and published many songs.

A lover of the English language, Mr. Cooke is an avid reader, an antique collector, a wine connoisseur, and has a collection of Tennessee Walkers.

Most recognizable from his box at RFK Stadium during Redskin games, Mr. Cooke and his wife Marlena, are also regulars at the team's practices during the season.

"That's the kind of loyalty he inspires," says Gibbs. "You know how much he cares when you see him at practice in the worst of weather conditions. His dedication sets the tone for the entire organization."

Jack Kent Cooke and his wife, Marlena, proudly display the Redskins' three Super Bowl Championship trophies.

John Kent Cooke

Executive Vice President

While owner Jack Kent Cooke, general manager Charley Casserly and head coach Joe Gibbs work in the spotlight, an equally valuable Redskin executive is spending countless hours behind the scenes to insure the continued success of the franchise. However, the contributions of Executive Vice President John Kent Cooke are anything but a secret to those at Redskin Park.

"He doesn't get enough credit, but he has done a superb job", says Joe Gibbs. "He is a big reason for our success."

It seems that all hallways in Redskin Park lead to Mr. Cooke's office, where he oversees all Redskin departments.

Mr. Cooke became Executive Vice President in 1981 and the on-field accomplishments the Redskins since then are well documented—seven playoff appearances, four NFL titles, five division titles and of course, three Super Bowl championships.

The Redskin accomplishments of Mr. Cooke off the field are equally impressive. Mr. Cooke negotiates the Redskins' preseason television contract, which ranks among the most attractive in sports, pioneering the first televised NFL scrimmages. In 1992, Mr. Cooke negotiated a new radio contract with flagship station, WTEM, and the Redskins continue to have the largest radio network in the NFL with over 90 stations.

Also this year Mr. Cooke has overseen the design and construction of the new Redskin Park, a state-of-the-art training complex on 161 acres in Loudoun County, Virginia.

Mr. Cooke represents the Redskins in all NFL meetings and served on the Special Commissioner Committee selecting the current Commissioner, Paul Tagliabue, and is currently a member of the Executive Committee of the Management Council negotiating a new player union contract.

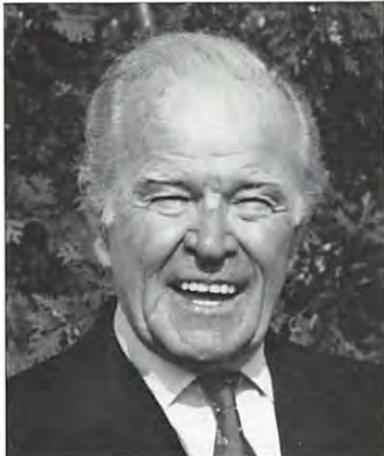

Mr. Cooke attended Upper Canada College and Waterloo College in Canada, majoring in English and journalism. In 1959, he became a trainee director/producer with Associated Television in England, and worked in Los Angeles a year later in the production department of QM Productions, a Hollywood television production company, and subsequently American Cablevision Company, a cable television company.

In 1965, Mr. Cooke became the Vice President of Advertising, Sales, and Promotions for all sports and entertainment events at the Forum in Inglewood, CA, the home of the NBA Lakers and the NHL Kings.

Mr. Cooke relaxes away from professional sports with his wife, Rita, sailing their 42-foot sloop, "Que²".

Mr. Cooke is an officer of Jack Kent Cooke, Inc., and a trustee of Dickinson College in Carlisle, PA. He has two sons, John, Director of Stadium Operations and Club Promotions, and Thomas, a Redskins photographer and student at the Brooks Institute of Photography in Santa Barbara, CA.

Charley Casserly

General Manager

Springfield College

16th NFL Year

Casserly and his scouts found starting linebacker Andre Collins in the second round of the 1990 draft along with Brian Mitchell in the fifth round and defensive tackle Bobby Wilson and All-NFL rookie running back Ricky Ervins in the 1991 selection.

From the Plan B free agent system, where 19 of the 31 players signed by the Redskins have played in at least one regular season game, there were five starters - safeties Brad Edwards and Danny Copeland, cornerback Martin Mayhew, linebacker Matt Millen, and defensive end Fred Stokes.

In a story line that Hollywood might reject as too unrealistic, Charley Casserly completed an unlikely trip from intern to the top of his profession last January when the Redskins defeated Buffalo in Super Bowl XXVI.

While the final act on the Metrodome turf was choreographed by head coach Joe Gibbs, it was the casting of Casserly that made the victory possible and cemented his position as one of the most adept general managers in the National Football League.

Since his promotion in 1989, Casserly has overseen the Redskins 34-14 regular season record and 4-1 playoffs mark that includes two straight postseason appearances and an NFC Eastern Division title.

Last year's Super Bowl edition was a reflection of Casserly's dogged quest to explore every available option. Through the draft,

Through trades Casserly added starting defensive tackles Eric Williams from Detroit and Tim Johnson from Pittsburgh in 1990 while contributing free agents include punter Kelly Goodburn (1990) and tight end James Jenkins (1991).

Then on draft day this spring Casserly was back in action, engineering a trade with Cincinnati to bring the Redskins receiver Desmond Howard, marking the first time a Heisman Trophy winner has ever been selected by a Super Bowl Champion.

However, Casserly's story remains the most remarkable of all. In 1977, he was a Massachusetts high school teacher/coach looking to get into college or pro coaching. Casserly wrote all 28 NFL teams, offering his services, and two, Washington and New England, responded with any interest.

"I told them I'd work for free, breaking down film, cleaning the locker room, anything," recalls Casserly. "All I really wanted was to hang around a while and pick up some Redskin stationery. I thought I'd stand a better chance of getting a college job if I applied on Redskin letterhead."

Redskin coach George Allen took Casserly up on his offer, offering an internship at no pay, and Casserly soon packed and moved to Alexandria where he moved into a YMCA room at $8 a night.

Soon Casserly advanced from intern to full time scout where his eye for talent uncovered the likes of free agents Joe Jacoby and Jeff Bostic, two of the original members of the famed "Hog" offensive line. In 1982, he was promoted to assistant general manager under Bobby Beathard. In 1987, Casserly's ability to organize and work under pressure was put to the test when he oversaw the assembly of the Redskins undefeated replacement team.

When Beathard resigned in May of 1989, team owner Jack Kent Cooke needed no more proof, predicting his newly appointed general manager would "be capable of keeping the the Redskins in contention in the National Football League."

Time has proven Mr. Cooke right, but Casserly plays down the credit that comes from the owner and coach.

"Anybody could do it here with Jack Kent Cooke," says Casserly. "Owners win football games. All you have to do is tell Mr. Cooke what you need."

And Charley Casserly has proven he knows exactly what is needed all the way from an internship to a Super Bowl winning general manager.

Casserly is a native of River Edge, N.J., and attended Bergen Catholic High School in Oradell, N.J.

Although never a candidate for the NFL as a player, Charley played at Springfield College while earning his B.S. in education and masters in guidance. He served as an assistant coach at Cathedral High School in Springfield from 1969-72 and as an assistant at Springfield College from 1973-74. He became Athletic Director at Cathedral (1974-75) before serving as head coach at Minnechaugh High from 1975-76.

Born February 27, 1949, Charley and his wife, Bev, have a daughter, Shannon, 8. They reside in Sterling, VA.

Bobby Mitchell

Assistant General Manager

Illinois

24th NFL Year

Few names are more synonymous with the Washington Redskins than Bobby Mitchell. In 24 years of loyal service as a player, scout, front office executive and good will ambassador, Bobby has the respect and admiration from the entire NFL and Washington, D.C. community.

A 1983 inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame, Bobby joined the Redskins' personnel staff in 1969 following his retirement as a player. He was promoted to Director of Pro Scouting, then to Assistant to the President in 1978. He was named Assistant General Manager in 1981. Bobby enters his 35th National Football League season.

He has come a long way since being an eighth round draft selection by the Cleveland Browns in 1958. He played in four Pro Bowls (one with Cleveland and three with Washington) over his 11-year playing career and is considered one of the NFL's all-time great multi-purpose players.

Bobby came to Washington in 1962 after starting with Jim Brown in the Cleveland backfield. He was traded to Washington along with Leroy Jackson for Ernie Davis (Washington's number one draft choice in 1962) and was switched to wide receiver. As a Brown and Redskin he posted 2,735 yards rushing on 513 attempts (5.3-yard average); 521 receptions for 7,953 yards (15.3-yard average), 69 punt returns for 699 yards (10.2-yard average), 102 kickoff returns for 2,690 yards (26.4-yard average); 91 touchdowns (5th all-time) for 546 points; and 14,078 total yards (8th all-time).

Bobby has been selected to Who's Who in Black America, the Arkansas Hall of Fame, the D.C. All-Star Hall of Fame and the Washington, D.C. Touchdown Club Hall of Fame. He is a board member of the American Lung Association (D.C.) and the Martin Luther King, Jr. Federal Holiday Commission. Born Jun 6, 1935 in Hot Springs, AR, Bobby graduated from the University of Illinois in 1958 with a bachelor of arts degree in education. Bobby and his wife, Gwen, who is a Washington, D.C. lawyer, have two children: Terry, and Robert C. Jr. The Mitchell's reside in Washington, D.C.

Coaches

Joe Gibbs

Head Coach

20th NFL Year

12th Redskin

San Diego State

With a victory in Super Bowl XXVI, Redskins head coach Joe Gibbs secured a select place in NFL coaching history experienced by a very few.

Three coaches have won three Super Bowls in NFL history. Only one, Joe Gibbs, has done it with three different quarterbacks. Only one coach - Vince Lombardi - has a better postseason winning percentage than Gibbs. Of the twelve coaches who have won more games than Gibbs, none has less than 17 years of service. Joe Gibbs has won 130 games in 11 years.

In those eleven years with the Redskins, there have been seven playoff appearances, four Super Bowl games resulting from four NFC Championships, and five NFC East titles to go along with the three Super Bowl Championships.

His 130-57 record includes a playoff mark of 15-4 and his .689 winning percentage is second only to Vince Lombardi among coaches with 100 victories. Gibbs currently ranks 13th on NFL's career coaching list, only four games behind Weeb Ewbank. Eight times in his 11 seasons, the Redskins have won at least ten games.

Gibbs now ranks as the NFL's third winningest active coach behind Don Shula and Chuck Knox. He has won with veteran teams, young teams, running teams and passing teams, but consistency has been his trademark from the beginning.

It seems the only one unimpressed by the record is Joe Gibbs.

"I'm one of the most fortunate guys in coaching," Gibbs told The Washington Post last season. "I think anybody could have come here and been successful because of Mr. Cooke. I happened to come to a place with someone special."

It takes others to speak up for Gibbs, including Mr. Cooke.

"I was satisfied that he had an inner intensity that matched any man I'd run into in the coaching ranks," recalls Mr. Cooke about his first meeting with Gibbs.

"The Redskins of Joe Gibbs build on a foundation of fundamentals well taught," writes Dave Kindred of The Sporting News, which selected Gibbs as its NFL Coach of the Year last season.. "From that solid base they then work variations to take advantage of game situations...a fundamental mastery lifted to greatness by a coach's battlefield decisions."

"The Washington Redskins are not only the champions of all football at the moment, but year in and year out, they are the best-drilled, most successful professional football team this side of the Lombardi Packers or the 1970s Pittsburgh Steelers," says Jim Murray of the Los Angeles Times.

And even those teams would find it difficult to match the dominance of the 1991 Redskins, who compiled a 17-2 record while outscoring opponents 102-41 in three playoff games. The Skins led the NFL in scoring with 485 points - 4th highest in league history - while giving up 224 points, second only to New Orleans. The 16.3 point average margin of victory was the best since the Minnesota Vikings in 1969 as the Redskins recorded a +55 sack ratio (only nine allowed) and +28 turnover ratio. The two defeats came by a total of five points.

Gibbs work ethic and concentration are legendary, and now his record is acquiring the same status. Over the last 42 games, the Redskins are 33-9, each season peaking as the year winds down. During December, Gibbs' teams are 31-10.

Still, after last year's successful Super Bowl season, Gibbs pointed to the players as the reason behind the success.

"I've never been around a more focused group of players," says Gibbs. "No accomplishment was enough until we won the Super Bowl."

Once again, that will be the goal for the Redskins as they begin their 12th season under Joe Gibbs. Few would have predicted such a run when he was hired as an obscure assistant from the San Diego Chargers in 1981. After an 0-5 start in his inaugural campaign, the team provided a hint of the strong finishes to come by finishing 8-8. In 1982-83, he became the first head coach in 20 years to be named Coach-of-the-Year by the Associated Press in consecutive seasons.

In 1982 his team posted the sixth-best record in NFL history (12-1) while winning Super Bowl XVII, and a year later his offense set an NFL record for points in a season (541) enroute to Super Bowl XVIII. In 1984, the Redskins' 66 sacks were the fourth-highest total ever, and their plus 43 turnover ratio set an NFL record.

His coaching career began San Diego State, his alma mater, under Don Coryell. He joined the Aztecs staff in 1964 as a graduate assistant and coached the offensive line during a period when the team won 27 of 31 games, including an 11-0 mark in 1966.

In 1967, Gibbs joined Bill Peterson's staff at Florida State as offensive line coach and was part of a 15-4-1 record over two seasons.

In 1969, John McKay brought Gibbs to USC and the Trojans went 15-4-1 over two seasons. The winning ways continued when Gibbs joined Frank Broyles' staff at Arkansas and the Razorbacks were 14-8-1 in 1971 and 1972.

Gibbs and Coryell were reunited in 1973 when the latter named Gibbs offensive backfield coach for the St. Louis Cardinals. From 1973-77, the Cardinals were 42-27-1 with two NFC East titles.

In 1978, Gibbs became Tampa Bay's offensive coordinator under McKay. After one season with the Buccaneers, Coryell called again in '79 and tabbed him as offensive coordinator at San Diego. In two seasons as the pilot for "Air Coryell," Gibbs helped the Chargers win two AFC West titles behind the record setting passing of Dan Fouts. His brilliant coaching career caught the attention of Jack Kent Cooke, who named Gibbs the Washington Redskins' 17th head coach on January 13, 1981.

Since that time his success on the field has been matched only by his work in the community. He is very active in church and youth programs, especially the Youth for Tomorrow/New Life Center, a home in suburban Virginia for wayward teens. He has expended much time and energy in fund-raising efforts for the Prince Williams County home.

Born in Mocksville, NC on November 25, 1940, Gibbs moved to the West Coast as a child and graduated from Santa Fe Spring High School. His competitive spirit has carried over into his hobbies. A racquetball enthusiast, Gibbs was the 35-and-over national champion in 1976 and ranked second in 1977. He also transformed a life-long love for racing into ownership of a NASCAR racing team last year.

He and his wife, Pat, have two sons, Jason Dean (JD), 23, a graduate of William & Mary, and Coy Randle, 19, who plays football at Stanford. The family resides in Vienna, VA.

Gibbs in Postseason

Joe Gibbs joined Don Shula (6), Tom Landry (6), Chuck Noll (4) and Bud Grant (4) as the only coaches in NFL history to make four-or-more appearances in the Super Bowl.

Gibbs' three Super Bowl wins surpasses Vince Lombardi, Shula and Landry, tying him with Bill Walsh for the second most victories by a coach in the Super Bowl. Chuck Noll won four with the Steelers.

Gibbs became the only coach in Super Bowl history to win three Super Bowls with three different starting quarterbacks. He won Super Bowl XVII 27-17 over Miami with Joe Theismann, Super Bowl XXII 42-10 over Denver with Doug Williams and Super Bowl XXVI 37-24 over Buffalo with Mark Rypien.

In addition, his 11 seasons as the Redskins head coach has brought the team seven playoff appearances, five division titles, four NFC championships and four Super Bowl appearances.

His 15-4 (.789) playoff record is the best among active NFL head coaches with five-or-more playoff wins. And his 15 playoff wins are the second most among active NFL coaches (Don Shula has 17) and among coaches with 100 career victories, he owns the third best mark in NFL history.

RICHIE PETITBON

Position	Assistant Head Coach/Defense
NFL Yr.	19th
Redskin	15th
College	Tulane

COACHING: Richie certainly deserved a lion's share of the credit for last year's success. The Redskins limited opponents to 224 points (2nd lowest in the NFL) while holding opponents to 14 points and under 10 times. In addition, the Skins forced 41 turnovers (27 interceptions and 14 fumbles) and in postseason forced 12 takeaways. But preparation and getting the most out of their players has been a Redskin trademark since Richie began choreographing the Skins defense in 1978 (longest current tenure). He has also been a member of every Redskin Super Bowl team (5) as either a player or coach. Before re-joining the Skins as a coach in 1978, he spent 4 seasons as defensive backfield coach for the Houston Oilers (1974-77).

PLAYING AND PERSONAL: As an NFL player from 1959-72, Richie had 48 career interceptions and made 4 Pro Bowl appearances. A 2nd round pick by the Chicago Bears, he set 5 club interception marks and played a key role on the 1963 World Championship team. He was traded to the Los Angeles Rams in 1969 and played there 2 seasons before joining the Redskins in 1971. He was a member of the Redskins 1972 Super Bowl team. This is Richie's 33rd year in the NFL. He was an all-SEC quarterback at Tulane. He was born April 18, 1938 in New Orleans, LA and attended Jesuit High School. Richie and his wife, Beverly, have 3 children: Hope, 29, Richie, 27, and Vicki Leigh, 26. The Petitbon's live in Vienna, VA.

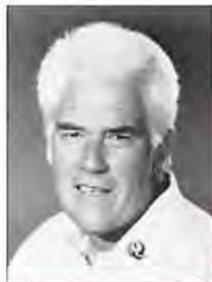

LARRY PECCATIELLO

Position	Defensive Coordinator
NFL Yr.	21st
Redskin	12th
College	William & Mary

COACHING: It was fitting that on the 1st play of the 2nd half in Super Bowl XXVI, that the back breaking blow to the Bills came from linebackers Andre Collins (blitz) and Kurt Gouveia (interception). No unit personifies the Redskins' "the sum is greater than its parts" defensive philosophy than the club's linebackers. Redskin linebackers led the league in interceptions with 8 last year. And the credit for the cohesiveness and team play goes to Larry. With over 20 years of NFL coaching experience, Larry has the respect and admiration from players and peers throughout the league. He began his NFL coaching career with the Houston Oilers (1972-75) before moving to Seattle (1976-80) as linebackers coach and defensive coordinator. Larry also spent 11 years on the collegiate level with stops at William & Mary (1961-68), Navy (1969), Florida State (1970) and Rice (1971).

PLAYING AND PERSONAL: Larry was captain of William & Mary's team his senior season, earning all-Southern Conference honors and all-America as a wide receiver. Born December 21, 1937 in Newark, NJ, he attended Barringer High School. Larry served as a lieutenant in the 101st Airborne Division. He holds a masters degree in education. Larry and his wife, Betsy, have 4 children: Teri, 32, Arnie, 31, Kathy, 29, and Marci, 28. The Peccatiello's reside in Warrenton, VA.

D O N B R E A U X

Position	Offensive Backfield
NFL Yr.	13th
Redskin	12th
College	McNeese State

COACHING: The one constant in the Redskins running game since Joe Gibbs put together his staff in 1981 has been Don. Year-in and year-out the Redskins running game has been the cornerstone of the team's success. And last year certainly pointed that out. The Redskins boasted the league's 7th best rushing unit (128.1 per game) and in the playoffs the Skins raised their game a notch rushing for 134.7 yards a game against the league's best teams. The Redskins led the league with 21 rushing touchdowns (league average in 1991 was 12.8 rushing TDs per team) which was the 3rd best mark in club history (30 in 1988 and 23 in 1986). In addition, Earnest Byner went to his 2nd straight Pro Bowl and posted his 2nd straight 1,000 yard season, while Ricky Ervins led all NFC rookie rushers with 680 yards. Before Don came to Washington in 1981, he coached for 14 years on the collegiate level with teams that made 12 post-season bowls. He coached at Arkansas (1977-80, 1968-71), Texas (1975-76), Florida (1973-74) and Florida State (1966-67). He also coached the Houston Oilers' running backs in 1972.

PLAYING AND PERSONAL: Don was a quarterback at McNeese State and in the AFL with Denver (1963) and San Diego (1964-65). As a member of the Broncos and Chargers he completed 92 of 181 passes for 1,339 yards and 9 touchdowns. As a member of the Chargers he once threw 4 touchdown passes in a game. Born August 3, 1940 in Jennings, LA, he attended LaGrange High School in Lake Charles, LA. Don and his wife, Harleen Marie, have 2 daughters: Kara Lynn, 29, and Sheila Marie, 27. The Breaux's reside in Leesburg, VA.

BOBBY DEPAUL

Position	Adm. Assistant/Defensive Line
NFL Yr.	4th
Redskin	4th
College	Maryland

COACHING: Bobby took on added responsibilities last year assisting Torgy Torgeson with the defensive line, while still working closely with Joe Gibbs as his administrative assistant. Besides his added coaching duties, Bobby has a variety of responsibilities from coordinating day-to-day operations to preparing scouting reports on upcoming opponents for the defensive coaches. Bobby prepared himself for his current post by spending 3 seasons as defensive coordinator and linebacker coach at Catholic University (1986-88) before joining the Redskins.

PLAYING AND PERSONAL: Bobby played linebacker for 3 years at the University of Maryland before he suffered a knee injury in the 1984 spring game. A starter for the Terrapins, he played for current San Diego Charger head coach Bobby Ross while at Maryland and was a teammate of Richie Petitbon, Jr., son of the Redskins assistant head coach. Bobby, who grew up in Bowie, MD, played fullback and linebacker on a Carroll High School (Washington, D.C.) team that only lost one game during his 3-year varsity career and won 3 consecutive Metro Conference titles. Born January 24, 1963, Bobby and his wife, Lisa, reside in Bowie.

ROD DOWOWER

Position	Quarterbacks
NFL Yr.	14th
Redskin	3rd
College	San Diego State

COACHING: Mark Rypien's emergence as a Super Bowl quarterback was a key to the Redskins success last year and Rod's guidance certainly was a reason for that success. Mark finished as the league's 2nd rated passer (97.9 QB rating). In addition, the Redskins 30 touchdown passes were tied for 2nd best mark in the league. His experience and knowledge as a former NFL and college head coach certainly helped the Redskins score a league best 485 points in 1991. Rod has learned his craft from some of the league's most innovative coaches like Bill Walsh, Don Coryell, Dick Vermeil and Dan Reeves. He began his NFL coaching career as an assistant under Coryell in St. Louis (1973, 1982-84), and later had stints in Denver (1980-81), and Atlanta (1987-89). Rod was the head coach of the Indianapolis Colts from 1985-86. He also coached 13 years on the collegiate level, including 1 year as head coach at Stanford (1979). His other stops included San Diego State (1966-72), UCLA (1974-75), Boise State (1976) and Stanford (1977-78).

PLAYING AND PERSONAL: Nicknamed the "Rocket" as an all-America quarterback for Don Coryell at San Diego State, Rod was a college teammate of Joe Gibbs and Redskins assistants Wayne Sevier and Rennie Simmons. He finished his Aztec career as the school's all-time leader in passing yardage (2,864 yards) and touchdowns (33). He was born April 15, 1943 in Ord, NE and attended Santa Barbara (CA) High School. He and his wife Nancy have 2 sons: Brian, 21, and Deron, 20, who are both students at the University of Virginia. The Dowhower's reside in Ashburn, VA.

R U S S G R I M M

Position	Tight Ends
NFL Yr.	1st
Redskin	1st
College	Pittsburgh

COACHING: Always considered a coach on the field as a player, Russ makes the transition from the playing field to the sidelines this season. After a distinguished NFL playing career with the Redskins, Russ begins his initial season as the team's tight ends and H-back coach.

PLAYING AND PERSONAL: Russ was selected to four consecutive Pro Bowls from 1983-86 and was selected to the 1980's NFL all-Decade team as a 1st team choice at guard. During his 11 seasons with the Redskins, Grimm was the cornerstone for the Redskins offensive line known as the "Hogs" and helped make the "Counter-tray" and "Counter-gap" household words. He helped the Redskins to 4 Super Bowl appearances and 3 world championships. Russ was an all-American at Pittsburgh and was selected in the 3rd round by the Redskins in the 1981 draft. Born May 2, 1959 in Scottsdale, PA; he attended Southmoreland (PA) H. S. He and his wife, Karen, have 4 children: Chad, 7, Cody, 5, and 2-year old twins, daughter Devin and son Dylan. They reside in Oakton, VA.

JIM HANIFAN

Position	Offensive Line
NFL Yr.	18th
Redskin	3rd
College	California

COACHING: In 16 games last season, Redskin quarterbacks were sacked a league low and club record 9 times. But that kind of number is nothing new for Jim. As the offensive line coach for the St. Louis Cardinals in 1975, his line only gave up 8 sacks (2nd all-time) and allowed the fewest sacks in the league from 1974-78. And when the pressure was on last year, Jim's Hogs did not allow a sack in 3 postseason games. Including postseason, the Redskins' 9 sacks were the fewest ever allowed by a team in 19 games. Jim's record as a molder of Pro Bowlers didn't diminish last year with Jim Lachey (2nd straight) and Mark Schlereth (1st year) earning Pro Bowl honors. As an assistant coach he has tutored some of the NFL's premier linemen during the last 3 decades like Dan Dierdorf, Ed White, Conrad Dobler and Bill Fralic. Jim spent 11 years in St. Louis as the offensive line coach (1974-78) and then as head coach (1980-85). He left the Cardinals in 1979 to rejoin Don Coryell in San Diego as assistant head coach. He and Joe Gibbs were on Coryell's staff for 4 seasons (1974-77) in St. Louis and 1 year in San Diego. In 1977, Jim was named the league's top assistant coach by a vote of NFL coaches. In 1987, Jim moved to Atlanta as offensive line coach for 3 seasons. He began his coaching career on the collegiate level at Yuba (CA) Junior College (1961-63), Glendale (CA) Junior College (1964-66), Utah (1967-70), California (1971-72) and San Diego State (1972-73).

PLAYING AND PERSONAL: Jim was an all-American tight end at California (1952-54) where he led the nation in receiving as a senior. Following his collegiate career at Berkeley, Jim played 1 season with the Toronto Argonauts (1955) in the CFL. Born September 21, 1933 in Compton, CA and attended Covina High School in Covina, CA. He and his wife, Marianna, have 2 children: Kathleen, 32, and James, 20. The Hanifan's reside in Ashburn, VA.

Hog Tied

Opponents were often frustrated in their attempts to reach Redskin quarterbacks in 1991. In 16 games, the Redskins were sacked a league low and club record nine times.

The Redskins offensive line did not allow a sack in three postseason games against three of the NFL's best teams and the nine sacks allowed, including postseason, were the fewest ever allowed by a team in 19 games.

DAN RILEY

Position Strength Coach

NFL Yr. 11th

Redskin 11th

College Keene State

COACHING: Time after time Joe Gibbs credits the team's conditioning and strength for that extra edge. And Dan's off-season and in-season strength program has become the foundation for 3 Super Bowl championship teams. Dan's flamboyant personality and his work ethic are hard to match. In addition to those 3 Super Bowl titles, the Skins have won 5 division crowns and 4 NFC championships since Dan joined Gibbs' staff in 1982. Before joining the Redskins, Dan spent 5 seasons as strength coach at Penn State (1978-82) and 4 years at West Point (1974-77).

PLAYING AND PERSONAL: Dan has authored 4 books on weight training. A 1972 graduate of Keene State (NH), he earned a masters degree in physical education from Indiana University in 1973. Born October 19, 1949, Dan is a native of Manchester, NH and attended Central High School. He and his wife, Brenda, have 2 sons: Marty, 18, and Timmy, 14, and they reside in Ashburn, VA.

WAYNE SEVIER

Position Special Teams

NFL Yr. 17th

Redskin 10th

College San Diego State

COACHING: It's no small coincidence that good all-around special teams play is a cornerstone for good football teams. Last season proved that point. Place kicker Chip Lohmiller led the NFL in scoring with 149 points, but he also had 34 of his 100 kickoffs not returned. The average starting point after kickoffs for Skins opponents was the 20.5 yard line (best in the NFL). The longest punt return against the Skins was 20 yards while Brian Mitchell averaged 13.3 yards per return and took 2 back for touchdowns. It's also no small coincidence that Wayne's competitive personality, and his willingness to do whatever it takes to win has made that possible. That's why Joe Gibbs re-hired Wayne in 1989. An original member of Gibbs's staff (1981-86), Wayne spent 2 years (1987-88) with San Diego. He also coached with the Cardinals (1974-75), Atlanta (1976) and San Diego (1979-80).

PLAYING AND PERSONAL: Wayne was Don Coryell's first starting quarterback at San Diego State and a teammate of Joe Gibbs (1961-62) and Redskins assistant Rennie Simmons. He led the Aztecs in passing as a senior and in total offense 2 straight years totaling 1,649 yards, while also leading the team in scoring as a junior. He graduated with academic distinction in mathematics. Wayne was born July 3, 1941 in San Diego, CA and attended Sweetwater High School. His wife, Barbara, is the coaching staff's secretary. They reside in Broad Run, VA. Wayne has 4 children: Mike 33, Lorine, 31, Thane, 30, and Anna, 17; and 8 grandchildren.

W A R R E N S I M M O N S

Position	Receivers
NFL Yr.	12th
Redskin	12th
College	San Diego State

COACHING: A key to the Redskins success has been the ability to run and pass with equal precision. Last year, the Redskins scored on 43.3% of their possessions which was the best mark in the NFL. And Rennie, whether working with the tight ends or the offensive line, has had a hand in developing one of the league's top offenses. Rennie, who joined the Redskins in 1981 as an original member of Joe Gibbs' staff, will move over to receivers coach this season. He and Gibbs were childhood friends and had played together at San Diego State. He has provided Gibbs with both a trusted friend and a good coach. Rennie coached previously at California State-Fullerton (1974-78) and Cerritos (CA) Junior College (1978-80).

PLAYING AND PERSONAL: Rennie played center at San Diego State (1961-63) and was a teammate of Joe Gibbs, Wayne Sevier and Rod Dowhower. He was chosen as the Aztecs' Most Inspirational Player as a junior. Born February 25, 1942 in Poughkeepsie, NY, he grew up and attended Santa Fe High School in Santa Fe, CA. He and Gibbs have been friends since 9th grade. Rennie and his wife, Carol, have 2 children: Rod, 30, and Karen, 26. They reside in Ashburn, VA.

Redskin Firsts

In 1950, the Washington Redskins became the first team in the NFL to have all its games televised locally. On September 26, 1954, the Redskins became the first team in the NFL to have its games televised regionally when their contest with San Francisco was telecast back to Washington and throughout the South.

CHARLEY TAYLOR

Position	Research & Development/Rec.
NFL Yr.	12th
Redskin	12th
College	Arizona State

COACHING: Under his watchful eye, "The Posse" - Art Monk, Gary Clark and Ricky Sanders have become the best trio of receivers on one team in the NFL. They've become so good that the pupils are now moving past, or inching closer, to his receiving records. Monk already is the team's all-time leader with 801 catches (he needs 19 catches to become the NFL's all-time leader) and Clark (with 485 catches) is now 3rd on the team's all-time list. But each catch is a tribute to the skills Charley has passed along to this talented trio. Charley became the receivers coach in 1981 and is an original member of Joe Gibbs' staff. He joined the Redskins' front office as a scout in 1978 after retiring as a player.

PLAYING AND PERSONAL: Charley was inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1984. In '85, he also was inducted into the Texas Sports Hall of Fame, located in his hometown of Grand Prairie, TX. He also is in "Who's Who in Black America," and "Who's Who in Texas." He is the NFL's 4th all-time leading receiver with 649 catches for 9,130 yards. An 8-time Pro Bowl selection and the Redskins all-time leader in touchdowns, Charley scored 90 touchdowns (6th all-time) and totaled 10,833 yards. Washington's 1st round draft choice in 1964 as a running back, he was named the NFL's Rookie of the Year. He caught 50-or-more passes a season 7 times. Charley was an all-American running back at Arizona State (1962-64). An avid outdoorsman, Charley was appointed to the Game and Inland Fisheries Commission in 1983 by then Virginia Governor Charles Robb. Born September 28, 1942 in Grand Prairie, TX, he attended Dalworth High School. Charley and his wife, Pat, have 3 children: Charley, 27, Elizabeth, 23, and Erica, 12. The Taylor's reside in Reston, VA.

Training Camp

This year marks the 30th consecutive year the Redskins have trained at Dickinson College, in Carlisle, PA. In all, the team has had seven different training camp sites. The other six are: Fairlawn Playground in Anacostia, MD (1937), Ballston, VA softball field (1938), Spokane, WA (1939-40), San Diego, CA (1941-44), Georgetown University (1945) and Occidental (CA) College (1946-62).

EMMITT THOMAS

Position Defensive Backfield

NFL Yr. 12th

Redskin 7th

College Bishop College (TX)

COACHING: Against the league's top run-and-shoot teams last year, including Houston and Buffalo, the Redskins did not allow an opposing quarterback to throw for over 300 yards. The Redskins also had 27 interceptions which was the 2nd most in the NFL. Since Emmitt took over in 1987, that kind of play from the Redskins secondary comes as no surprise to anyone in the NFL. He spent his 1st year with the club as an offensive assistant (1986). Before coming to Washington, Emmitt coached the Cardinals receivers for 5 seasons (1981-85). The unit led the NFC in receptions in 1984. He was defensive backfield coach at Central Missouri State (1979-80) for 2 seasons before joining the Cardinals.

PLAYING AND PERSONAL: In a 13-year career with the Kansas City Chiefs (1966-78), Emmitt played in 4 Pro Bowls and 2 Super Bowls. He compiled 58 career interceptions, including 1 in Super Bowl IV, and twice led the NFL in interceptions. In fact, he holds the distinction of being the last AFL player to record an interception. In the game's closing minutes of Super Bowl IV, his 3rd interception of the playoffs (2 in the AFL title game) allowed the Chiefs to run out the clock. Emmitt played quarterback and wide receiver at Bishop College (1963-65) before he signed as a free agent with the Chiefs and was converted to defensive back. Born in Angleton, TX on June 3, 1943, he attended Marshall High School. Emmitt and his wife, Jacqui, reside in Reston, VA. He has 2 children: Derek and Debra.

TORGY TORGESEN

Position Defensive Line

NFL Yr. 34th

Redskin 22nd

College Washington State

COACHING: Torgy begins his 42nd consecutive year in the NFL as a player or coach (the longest current streak in the NFL), and he has left an indelible mark in both areas. Last year, Washington's defensive line finished 2nd in the NFL in quarterback sacks with 36 (3 behind leader Philadelphia). His defensive line has totaled at least 50 sacks in 5 of the last 9 seasons. Torgy has been a member of all 5 Redskin Super Bowl teams and has coached in 6 Super Bowls overall (1979 with the Rams). He began his coaching career in Washington (1959-61) before joining the Steelers (1962-68). He then went to the Rams (1969-70), re-joined the Redskins (1971-77) and back to the Rams (1978-80), before returning to the Redskins for a 3rd time in 1981.

PLAYING AND PERSONAL: Torgy played linebacker and center for the Detroit Lions and was a part of 2 World Championship teams (1952-53) and also played in the NFL title game in 1954. He was traded to the Washington Redskins in 1955 and played with the Skins until 1958. Torgy played in 5 Pro Bowls (1955 and 1956 with the Redskins) in his 8-year playing career and played in 94 of 96 games. In college, Torgy played linebacker and center at Washington State (1948-50). Born February 28, 1929 in LaCrosse, WA, he attended LaCrosse High School. Torgy and his wife, Nola, have 2 daughters: Teri, 33, and Tami, 32. They reside in Fairfax, VA.

JASON ARAPOFF

Position	Assistant Strength Coach
NFL Yr.	1st
Redskin	1st
College	Springfield College

COACHING: Officially beginning his 1st year on the Redskins coaching staff, Jason had spent the previous 3 seasons working as an intern on Dan Riley's strength and conditioning staff, while pursuing his master's degree at American University. His hard work ethic, experience and familiarity with the Redskins made him a natural choice when Riley was looking for a new assistant following the Super Bowl XXVI win.

PLAYING AND PERSONAL: Jason played 4 years of college football for Springfield College (alma mater of general manager Charley Casserly) as a defensive back. He earned his undergraduate degree in health fitness in 1989 before acquiring his master's degree in exercise physiology from American University in Washington, D.C. in the spring of 1992. He was born July 8, 1965 in Weymouth, MA, and attended Marshfield High School in Marshfield, MA. He resides in Centreville, VA.

College	Wilmington

Now in his 3rd decade with the Redskins, Kirk has been at his current post since 1978. He first came to the Redskins as a personnel scout from 1971-72. After leaving to become head coach at Earlham College (IN), he rejoined the Redskins in 1974 as a scout and defensive assistant. Kirk also coached the receivers and special teams as an assistant under George Allen. Kirk started coaching as a graduate assistant at Ohio University (1961-62). He became an assistant coach at Defiance College in 1963, became head coach in 1964-67, and was named the NAIA Ohio Football Coach of the Year in 1966. He moved on the University of Wisconsin as an assistant (1967-69) before joining the Redskins. Kirk lettered in football, baseball and track at Wilmington College (1959-61) in Ohio and earned MVP honors in football and baseball. Hail to the Redskins

On August 17, 1938, "Hail to the Redskins" made its debut as the official fight song of the Washington Redskins. Since its debut 54 years ago, the song, written by renowned band leader Barnee Breeskin, has had a few minor changes from the original lyrics penned by Corinne Griffith (wife of owner George Preston Marshall). Griffith's original lyrics had "Fight for old Dixie" instead of today's "Fight for Old D.C." Also, Griffith originally had "Scalp 'em, Swamp 'em. We will take 'em big score. Read 'em, weep 'em Touchdown, we want heap more" instead of today's version.

"Hail to the Redskins!
Hail Victory!
Braves on the Warpath!
Fight for Old D.C.!
Run or pass or score -
we want a lot more!
Beat 'em Swamp 'em Touchdown-let the points soar!
Fight on, Fight on -
Till you have won,
Sons of Wash-ing-ton!!"

THE POWER IS ON

New Redskin Park

The Washington Redskins are moving their team training and front office complex to a site eight miles from the previous facility.

Set on a picturesque 161 acres of land in Loudoun County, Virginia, the newest state-of-the-art NFL complex will have four football fields (three natural grass and one Astro Turf), ample parking and first-class provisions for television and print media. The building itself will be approximately three times the size of the current complex amassing some 65,000 square feet.

Located in Beaumeade Corporate Park at the intersection of Virginia State Routes 28 and 625 (Waxpool Road), the two-story concrete and glass structure will house the front office, coaches, team meeting rooms and an auditorium upstairs and the player locker room, training rooms, equipment and video rooms downstairs.

The complex will include expanded weight training and equipment rooms, as well as a larger team meeting auditorium and various break-out rooms for position coaches and players. Also included in the new building will be more space for college and pro scouts, an enlarged video department and a players' recreational area, including a basketball court, two racquetball courts, a jacuzzi, steam bath and lounge.

The media room will have individual cubicles furnished with desks, file cabinets and electrical outlets for beat reporters, as well as a separate interview room, kitchen and restroom facilities. Each cubical will be pre-wired for telephones and computers. The media room will also have lighting for television.

Redskin Owner Jack Kent Cooke had the new facility constructed because the Redskin have outgrown the current Redskin Park.

- Mark was born in Banconstadt, Germany and played his freshman year of football at Berlin American High School where he was a teammate of big league pitcher Danny Cox.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

- Mark caught a touchdown pass in 1987 as a member of the Kansas City Chiefs.
- Mark has started 49 games over his career

How Acquired: Signed as a Plan B free agent on March 29, 1990.

Games Played/Started: 77/49 [4/0] - KC 1986 (15/15); 1987 (12/12); 1988 (10/10); 1989 (16/11); WASH 1990 (8/1)[1/0]; 1991 (16/0)[3/0]

1991 Season: Each time an injury crops up on the offensive line the Redskins are reminded about the importance of having the NFL's best and deepest offensive line — thanks in large part to the contributions of Mark Adickes. "There's no doubt Mark is a very important part of our offensive line," said offensive line coach Jim Hanifan. "He's mentally tough and he prepares himself during the week to be ready to play." They were reminded in Dallas in Week 2 when Mark stepped in at right tackle after Ed Simmons injured his knee. They were reminded in a 16-13 overtime win against the Oilers when the Skins lost both starting tackles and Mark subbed for Joe Jacoby. Not only did he not allow a sack to the AFC sack leader William Fuller but it was Mark who threw a key block that sprang Earnest Byner for a 23-yard touchdown run in the 4th quarter. And in Week 10, Mark filled in for Russ Grimm in the second half at left tackle. Normally a guard Mark had never played tackle in the NFL until that Week 2 game at Dallas.

Pro Career: 1990: As the eighth offensive lineman, Mark played in only eight games, but when called on to play, he responded and played well. Mark's only start came in Week 10 against the Saints when he played the entire game at left guard in place of injured Russ Grimm. 1989: Mark was one of the most highly regarded Plan B free agents when Kansas City did not protect him. He started 48 games during his four seasons in Kansas City (besides starting in the USFL in 1984 and 1985). 1988: Mark bounced back from a back injury in training camp to start the final 10 games of the season at right guard after coming off injured reserve. 1987: Mark was Kansas City's only offensive lineman to start all 12 games that he appeared in. He even showed his versatility and athletic ability by catching a 3-yard touchdown pass from Bill Kenney in the season finale vs. Seattle.

1986: After a two-year stint with the USFL's Los Angeles Express, Mark signed with the Chiefs and immediately became a starter on the Kansas City offensive line, starting 15 games at right guard. 1984-85: Mark was the Chiefs' 1st round draft choice in the NFL's 1984 supplemental draft, but he opted to sign with the USFL's Express.

College, Personal: Mark was a 2nd team all-America selection as a senior at Baylor where he started 33 consecutive games for the Bears. Besides his all-America honors, he was a 1st team all-SWC choice as a senior and 2nd teamer as a junior. Mark studied management/real estate while at Baylor. At Killeen (TX) High School, Mark was an outstanding four-sport letterman. His brother, John, also was a standout prep performer at Killeen High School and played with Chicago and Minnesota (1987-1989). Mark was born in Badconstadt, West Germany where his father was stationed in the military. His father was an Army chaplain for 25 years and now is a minister in the Dallas-area. He played varsity football as a freshman at Berlin American High School in Berlin, Germany, where he was a teammate of big league pitcher Danny Cox of the St. Louis Cardinals and Philadelphia Phillies. Besides his community involvement, Mark's other interests include snow skiing, swimming and golf. Mark resides in Reston, VA.

- Jeff has started 48 straight games and has not missed a game since 1988.

How Acquired: Signed as a free agent September 2, 1980

Games Played/Started: 164/135 [18/18] - 1980 (16/0); 1981 (16/16); 1982 (9/9)[4/4]; 1983 (16/16)[3/3]; 1984 (8/8); 1985 (10/6); 1986 (16/16)[3/3]; 1987 (12/5)[3/3]; 1988 (13/11); 1989 (16/16); 1990 (16/16)[2/2]; 1991 (16/16)[3/3]

1991 Season: After 12 years in the league, a career-threatening knee injury in 1984 and the constant pounding of practices and 164 regular season games it would come as no surprise if the quickness and instincts should begin to erode. Except if you're talking about Jeff Bostic. "He's very competitive and one of the most intelligent guys I have ever had the pleasure of coaching," said offensive line coach Jim Hanifan. "He's also an exceptional athlete with great balance, control, instincts and excellent hand-foot quickness. Put all those things together and he's done an exceptional job during a long career." Jeff started every game last season (48 straight starts and 135 over his career) and was named offensive player of the week against both Detroit and Cleveland. Typically consistent, Jeff anchored a line that allowed a league-low (and club record) 9 sacks.

Pro Career: 1990: Jeff started every game for the second year in a row and along with his fellow "Hogs" played a key role in the Redskins stretch run to the playoffs. Jeff was awarded the Nate Fine Memorial Award at the Redskins Alumni Welcome Home Luncheon which is given annually to a player "completely dedicated to the Redskins and the game of football."

1989: Jeff was the glue that kept everything in place as the only offensive player to start all 16 games. With his co-Hogs going down to injury all around him, Jeff picked up the slack and had his finest year since his Pro Bowl year of 1983. Only a bruised left calf in the second half of the Week 2 games against Philadelphia kept Bosco sidelined during the year. He was named Redskin of the Year by Washington's Quarterback Club.

1988: After working his way into the starting lineup, Jeff suffered bruised ribs in Week 13, then came back to start the last game of the year. Despite a ligament-damaging knee injury in the finale, Jeff fought back to an '89 starting role. 1987: Jeff started the season as a reserve when the Redskins opted for more size in the line and switched Russ Grimm from guard to center. But after Grimm suffered a knee injury, Jeff stepped into the starting role in Week 11 and added stability to a unit that had changed frequently during the first part of the season. Jeff started the remainder of the season and into the postseason. 1986: For the first time since he injured his knee against St. Louis in 1984, Jeff started and finished every game at center. He was named Offensive Player of the Game for his efforts against New Orleans and San Francisco.

1985: The Redskins recipient of the Ed Block Courage Award, Jeff was without a doubt the team's Comeback Player of the Year. A knee injury he had suffered the previous season could have ended his career. Instead, Jeff came off the Physically Unable to Perform list on October 19 and played in the final 10 games, starting 6. 1984: Heading into Week 8 against St. Louis, Jeff had played in 64 straight games, but when he hit the Busch Stadium turf on the last play of the third quarter his streak ended and questions about his football future were raised. He tore three of the four ligaments in his right knee and was out for the season.

1983: Jeff was recognized by his peers as the best center in the NFC, making the NFC Pro Bowl squad. He was one of 3 Washington linemen to make the team, joining guard Russ Grimm and tackle Joe Jacoby. He also was selected to the UPI 1st team all-NFC squad. Jeff helped pave the way for the league's third-ranked rushing attack and an offense that scored 21 points or more in every game except one. 1982: Jeff settled into his 2nd year as the Redskins' starting center. As the team's long snapper, Jeff was an integral part of Mark Moseley's NFL-record 23 consecutive field goals.

1981: Jeff was the biggest surprise in the Redskins' training camp, earning the starting job at center. He also continued long snapping and led the punt coverage team in tackles. 1980: Jeff signed with the Philadelphia Eagles as a free agent, was released late in training camp and signed with Washington six days before the season as a long-snapper. He didn't have one bad snap in 16 games and earned a game ball for causing a fumble against the San Diego Chargers.

College, Personal: Jeff was named to the all-ACC team his junior year at Clemson, then switched from center to guard as a senior. He was scouted by Charley Casserly as a junior who then remembered him as a center when Jeff was cut by the Eagles. Born in Greensboro, N.C., Jeff graduated from Benjamin Smith High School. He won the 187 pound state wrestling championship as a senior. He is involved in real estate development in Greensboro and Charleston, S.C. He holds an annual gold tournament to benefit the Hospice House of Greensboro (NC). He and his wife, Lynn, have two daughters - Ashley Lynn and Amanda, and reside in Oakton, VA.

Up Close

- While making one of his many offseason community relations appearances at a local elementary school last year, John met his future wife who was a teacher at the school.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

- John led the Redskins in both kickoff and punt coverage tackles the last two seasons.
- He was named special teams player of the week 3 times last season.

How Acquired: Signed as a Plan B free agent March 15, 1990.

Games Played/Started: 76/2 - IND 1987 (12/2); 1988 (16/0); 1989 (16/0); WASH 1990 (16/0)[2/0]; 1991 (16/0)[3/0]

1991 Season: A day at the office for most people doesn't include a forearm to the face or a whack on the head. But if you're John Brandes there's nothing unusual about a helmet-ringing tackle on kick or punt coverage. "He's a blood and guts special teams player," said special teams coach Wayne Sevier. "He has excellent speed and he has burning desire to be the best special teams player on the field." For the second consecutive year John led the Redskins with 48 total special teams tackles (2nd with 26 kick coverage tackles and 1st with 12 punt coverage tackles) and was second on the team with 111 total special teams hits. John was named special teams player of the week 3 times (most on the club) and finished among the top 3 in special teams hits in 10 of 16 regular season games. He led the team with 12 hits vs. Cleveland, 11 vs. Philadelphia, 9 vs. Giants (Week 8) and 8 vs. Dallas (Week 2). John also handled the long snapping for the 2nd straight season.

Pro Career: 1990: John handled all long snapping duties and still led the Redskins in both kickoff coverage tackles (21) and punt coverage tackles (15). He finished second on the team with 107 total special teams hits. John had a team-high 13 special teams hits vs. Miami and 12 against the Lions. 1989: John was named the Colts' special teams Player of the Week 9 times, while leading the team with 22 kick coverage tackles. He also handled all the team's long snapping. 1988: John was used primarily in special teams situations and finished third on the team with 24 tackles and continued to handle long snapping duties. 1987: John enjoyed his most productive receiving season as a pro catching his only 5 passes for 35 yards as a rookie after making the team as a free agent. He caught 2 passes at Miami and vs. Buffalo. Primarily a special teams performer, John finished with nine kick coverage tackles.

College, Personal: A walk-on as an offensive guard at Cameron State, John eventually made the switch to tight end as a senior. In his only season as a collegiate tight end, he caught 8 passes for 98 yards and 1 TD. John also played 1 season of baseball at Cameron State. He graduated with a degree in health and physical education. He holds a 1st degree brown belt in karate and has won 33 of the 34 tournaments he has entered. He enjoys wrestling with his 2 pet rottweilers. John plays about 150 softball games a summer (down from 400 to 500 he used to play) and golf. John attended Lamar High School in Arlington, Texas, where he was a 3-sport prep standout in football, baseball and soccer. He and his wife, Linda, have a baby daughter, Shelby, and they reside in Falls Church, VA.

Rushing Touchdowns

Not only did the Hogs keep opposing rushers off quarterback Mark Rypien in 1991, they also escorted Redskin rushers to a league-leading 21 rushing touchdowns. The league average in 1991 was 12.8 rushing TDs per team.

Gerald Riggs tied for third in the league with 11 rushing touchdowns which is the fifth-best mark in club history and the most since George Rogers rushed for 18 in 1986. John Riggins holds the NFL record with 24 rushing touchdowns in 1983.

The team's 21 rushing touchdowns was the third-best mark in team history. the club record is 30 set in 1983 followed by 23 in 1986.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

- Ray earned a game ball for his performance in the Redskins 10-3 win over the Eagles in 1989.
- He played a career-high 15 games in 1988.

How Acquired: Signed as a Plan B free agent March 10, 1989.

Games Played/Started: 40/8 [1/0] - St.L-PHO - 1986 (11/4); 1987 (7/3); 1988 (15/1); WASH 1989 (7/0); 1990 (0/0)[1/0]; 1991 (IR)

1991 Season: Although Ray spent a 2nd year in a row on injured reserve (elbow), Redskin coaches and general manager Charley Casserly thought enough of Ray to place him on the team's 37-man protected list. "We have very high regard for Ray," said offensive line coach Jim Hanifan. "We have felt that way all along. He has terrific ability. We just have to get him healthy."

Pro Career: 1990: Ray spent the entire regular season on injured reserve, and saw his only game action in the playoff loss at San Francisco.

1989: Ray's playing debut as a Redskin came in Week 10 vs. Philadelphia, (due to a 1st quarter injury to Joe Jacoby) against Reggie White. Ray did not allow a sack, helping pave the way for the 10-3 win and earning himself a game ball. 1988: Ray played a career-high 15 games for Phoenix, starting the season finale. 1987: Ray was waived by St. Louis in training camp but resigned with the club Sept. 12. He started 3 games at left tackle before he was placed on injured reserve Nov. 12 with a torn finger tendon. Ray was reactivated Dec. 12 for the final 3 games. 1986: Ray made the team as an 8th round draft choice. After playing much of the season as a reserve tackle (he spent Weeks 7-11 on IR with a knee injury), he started the final 4 games at left guard.

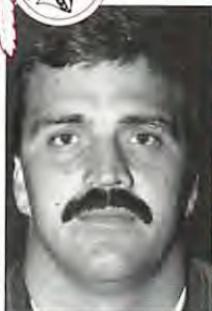

College, Personal: An all-Southland Conference selection at Arkansas State, Ray played both tackle and tight end. He transferred to Arizona State from Memphis State after his freshman year before finally switching to Arkansas State. He was the first player in Southland Conference history to be named 1st team all-conference at 2 positions in the same season. Born in West Memphis, AR, he was an all-state performer at Marion High School and played both offense and defense. He once made 25 tackles in a game. Ray belonged to the National Honor Society and also served as class president. He has 3 children; two daughters, Lentish, 10, and Andrea, 5, and a son, Tyler, 8. He resides in Marion, AR.

- Among Jason's many hobbies is genealogy which is the study of the recorded history of the descent of a person or family.
- An Outland Trophy winner, he began his college career as a quarterback.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

- Jason has played in 2 Super Bowls (XXIII as a Bengal and XXVI as a Redskin).
- He led the Bengals with 6 sacks in 1989.

How Acquired: Signed as a free agent October 9, 1991.

Games Played/Started: 68/23 [8/0] - CIN 1987 (12/0); 1988 (16/0)[3/0]; 1989; (16/16); 1990 (16/6)[2/0]; WASH 1991 (8/1)[3/0]

1991 Season: Like every player in the NFL Jason had thoughts of playing in Super Bowl XXVI heading into the season. He didn't, however, figure those plans would include the Washington Redskins. But after being cut by the Bengals when rosters were trimmed to 47, Jason was without a team. But the Redskins came calling after a Week 6 knee injury put Markus Koch out for the season. More comfortable in the 4-3 alignment than the 3-4 he had played in Cincinnati, Jason saw action mainly as a backup to Charles Mann and Fred Stokes (1 start vs. Pittsburgh in Week 11). Jason gave the Redskins solid and reliable play. In his only start of the year at Pittsburgh, he registered 3 tackles and 1 1/2 sacks. In the Super Bowl Jason's 2nd quarter sack of Jim Kelly for -11 yards knocked the Bills out of field goal range with 2:00 minutes remaining in the half.

Pro Career: 1990: Jason saw his playing time decrease as he was used mainly in passing situations in the Bengals nickel package. As a result his tackle numbers were down (11). 1989: Starting all 16 games for the first time in his career, Jason posted a career-high 56 tackles (42 solos) and led the team with a career-best 6 sacks. 1988: Jason again was a big-play maker in the Bengals pass defense coming up with a career-best 6 sacks, while also adding 35 tackles (25 solos). 1987: Selected by the Bengals in the 1st round (17th overall), he missed training camp and didn't sign with the club until Sept. 8. Jason still played in all 12 non-strike games while seeing all of his action as a backup.

College, Personal: The Western Athletic Conference's Player of the Year in 1985 and 1986, Jason capped off his brilliant college career by winning the Outland Trophy awarded to the nation's outstanding interior lineman. He also earned all-America honors as a senior at Brigham Young. He began his college career as a quarterback at Ricks College in Idaho. He left school to work and gained 45 pounds. When he returned to Ricks he was shifted from quarterback to defensive end where he went on to earn Junior College all-America honors. He makes numerous public speaking appearances and works with The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints. His hobbies include genealogy, reading and family activities. - His hometown of Milledgeville, GA, honored Earnest this past offseason with an "Earnest Byner Day" and parade.
- During Thanksgiving, Earnest helps bring food to the needy families.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

- Earnest has been selected to back-to-back Pro Bowls.
- His 2,847 yards rushing as a Redskin is 6th in club history.

- His 1,219 yards rushing in 1990 was the 3rd best single-season rushing mark in team history.
- He is one of only 11 players in NFL history to gain over, 1,000 yards rushing with 2 different teams.

How Acquired: Obtained in a draft day from the Cleveland Browns, April 22, 1989 for running back Mike Oliphant.

Games Played/Started: 115/96 [10/9] - CLEVE 1984 (16/3); 1985 (16/13)[1/1]; 1986 (7/7)[1/0]; 1987 (12/12)[2/2]; 1988 (16/16)[1/1]; WASH 1989 (16/13); 1990 (16/16)[2/2]; 1991 (16/16)[3/3]

1991 Season: When Earnest came to the Redskins 3 seasons ago he was supposed to be the 3rd down back, catch passes and complement the Redskins rushing attack. The other guy in the Redskins offense. Instead, Earnest has become the workhorse and has strung together back-to-back 1,000 yard rushing seasons (only the 3rd Redskin in history to post such a feat). In addition, he has gone to back-to-back Pro Bowls and has topped 100-yards rushing 10 times. "He's not real big, yet he is a strong runner," said running backs coach Don Breaux. "He's a slashing type runner and he's a real threat out of the backfield. He's smart and he produces." Joe Gibbs puts it simply, "I wish I had 15 Earnest Byners." Earnest became the first Redskin runner since George Rogers in 1985-86 to post back-to-back 1,000-yard rushing seasons when he gained 1,048 yards last season, despite being hampered by a midseason knee injury that left him less than 100%. He finished 5th in the NFL in rushing and 4th in the NFC, while his 1,356 total yards (1,048 rushing/308 receiving) placed him 4th in the NFL. In addition to his running, Earnest caught 34 passes. He rushed for a season-high 116 yards on 25 carries at Phoenix in Week 14 and had 3 other 100-yard games against Dallas (22/101), Phoenix (23/109) and Houston (21/112). Earnest celebrated his 29th birthday (09/15) with 160 total yards against the Cardinals in Week 3 (109 rushing/51 receiving) which was his best total output of the season. Earnest set the tone for his Pro Bowl season in the season opener gaining 83 yards rushing and throwing an 18-yard TD pass to Ricky Sanders. Against Houston, he scored the Redskins' only TD with a 23-yard 4th quarter run (his longest of the season). And in the Super Bowl, his 10-yard TD catch gave the Skins a 10-0 lead. Whether running, receiving or passing, Earnest was the Redskins workhorse in 1991. HONORS: Pro Bowl, College and Pro Football Newsweekly NFL All-Pro 2nd team, AP All-Pro 2nd team.

Pro Career: 1990: Earnest put together his finest season in the NFL. He produced enough to finish 4th in the NFL in rushing with 1,219 yards and was selected to his first Pro Bowl. Taking on the full-time rushing duties in Week 10 against the Saints, he averaged 110 yards and 26 carries a contest over the final 7 weeks of the season. During that stretch run the Redskins won 5 of 7 games and were the 2nd best rushing team in the NFL. Earnest rushed for over 100 yards 5 times, including 4 straight 100-yard efforts (the last Redskin to post 4 straight 100-yard games was John Riggins in the 1982 playoffs). The impressive streak included 157 yards vs. Miami, 121 yards vs. Chicago, 149 yards at New England and 154 yards at Indianapolis. And for his efforts he was chosen NFC Offensive Player of the Month for December. His 297 rushing attempts led the NFL and his 39-carry effort at New England was the 2nd best mark in club history. He also threw his 1st career touchdown pass when he hit Ricky Sanders for 31 yards vs. the Giants. Besides his Pro Bowl selection, Earnest was a 1st team choice by USA Today and a 2nd team choice by UPI on their all-NFC team. 1989: The Redskins were 6-0 when he started at running back. Earnest became the full-time starter Week 12 against Chicago and over the last 5 games (all wins), he rushed for 316 yards and added 19 catches for 151 yards as the Redskins averaged 30 points per game. Three times (Phoenix, twice, and Chicago) he combined for more than 100 yards while totaling over 1,000 yards for the 3rd straight season. His 7 rushing TDs led the Redskins and 9 TDs tied Gary Clark for the lead. 1988: The Redskins saw Earnest first hand when his 27-yard touchdown run with 1:49 remaining at RFK Stadium gave the Browns a 17-13 victory over Washington in Week 13. Earnest led the Browns in both rushing (576 yards on 157 carries) and receiving (57 catches for 576 yards). His 57 catches were the most in his pro career. 1987: The Browns called Earnest the "heart and soul" of their offense. He scored a club-high 8 touchdowns and finished 2nd in the AFC in non-kicking scoring with 60 points. He caught at least 2 passes in every game and had 8 catches twice. 1986: Earnest missed action for the first time in his pro career. He suffered an ankle injury in Week 7 against Green Bay and didn't return until the AFC Championship Game against Denver. Even then, he saw limited action, catching just one pass for four yards. 1985: In his first full season as a full-time starter, Earnest broke two of Cleveland's postseason records. His 161 yards rushing against Miami broke Jim Brown's mark of 114 vs. Baltimore in 1964. His 66-yard touchdown run for a touchdown in that game broke Leroy Kelly's record of 56 against Dallas in '67. 1984: After being selected by the Browns in the 10th round, Earnest increased his role steadily as the season progressed. His 5.9-yard rushing average was highest among AFC running backs. His 188 yards (21 carries) against Houston in the season finale still is the 2nd highest total by a Browns' rookie, bettered only by Jim Brown's 237 in 1957.

College, Personal: As a senior at East Carolina, Earnest led the team in rushing with 862 yards. A three-year starter at fullback, Earnest finished as the eighth-leading rusher in school history. Earnest gained 2,049 yards on 378 carries in his career. He majored in physical education. Born in Milledgeville, GA, Earnest played quarterback, tailback, safety and linebacker at Baldwin High School and his jersey (no. 21) was retired after he graduated. He even was the school's class president. Earnest and his wife, Tina, have 3 daughters: Semeria, 9, Adrian, 7, and Brandi, 1. They reside in Centreville, VA.

Possession Football

Washington finished eighth in the NFL in total possessions (189), but were first in total points scored (485), second in TDs (51) and field goals (31). The Redskins scored on 43.3% of those possessions which was the best percentage in the NFL.

- On the first play of his first NFL game, Ravin lost his helmet as he ran down field on kick coverage but never slowed down until making the hit.
- He was a high school rival of Philadelphia's Keith Jackson.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

- As a starter in 1989, Ravin recorded a career-high 97 tackles.
- Ravin had a career-high 3 sacks vs. Philadelphia in 1988.
- He posted a career-high 19 tackles vs. New Orleans in 1989.

How Acquired: Selected in fifth round of 1986 draft (113th overall).

Games Played/Started: 75/14 [8/0] - 1986 (IR); 1987 (12/0[3/0]; 1988 (16/1); 1989 (15/13); 1990 (16/0)[2/0]; 1991 (16/0)[3/0]

1991 Season: Ravin calls it craziness. Others say playing on special teams takes a combination of courage and attitude. Wayne Sevier calls him the perfect special teams player. Ravin is big enough to take on a wall of blockers head on and still fast enough to chase down a return man. "Ravin has plenty of experience. He's been around here for 5 years now," said special teams coach Wayne Sevier. "So it's the combination of size, speed, experience and excellent size-speed ratio that gives Ravin the ability to make big plays." On a Monday Night win over Philadelphia, Ravin finished with 10 special teams hits (season-high 5 tackles) and vs. Houston he had a team-high 10 special teams hits. In both games he was named special teams player of the week. Against Dallas in Week 2, Ravin recovered a Cowboy fumble that led to the Redskins first score. Ravin finished 3rd on the team with 26 special teams tackles (17 kick coverage and 9 punt coverage) and 4th with 99 total special teams hits. As a backup at linebacker, he enjoyed his best day of the year at Chicago in Week 6 with 2 tackles (1 for loss), 1 QB hurry, 1 pass deflection and 6 special teams hits.

Pro Career: 1990: A 2-week contract hold out, followed by a sore knee once he reported to training camp got Ravin off to a slow start, and he was never able to wrestle the starting spot from rookie Andre Collins. Ravin finished 4th on the club with his 78 total special teams hits, including a season-best 12 hits vs. Miami. 1989: Given the starting nod in the 3rd week of the year, Ravin started the next 12 weeks until a knee injury sidelined him for the finale against Seattle. His 97 tackles were 5th-best on the team, 2nd among linebackers, and his 3 1/2 sacks tied him for 4th. In his 2nd start of the year, against New Orleans in Week 4, Ravin caused a fumble on the game's third play that led to a Chip Lohmiller field goal, and finished the game with a career-high 19 tackles. His 11 tackles in the Week 13 win over San Diego led the team. Ravin was also busy on special teams, finishing 7th on the team with 50 total hits. 1988: Ravin's role increased to that of special teams standout and pass rushing linebacker. In his only start of the year vs. Phoenix in Week 7, Ravin had a key 1st quarter safety and was named Defensive Player of the Game. In Week 13, Ravin had 3 sacks and 2 forced fumbles in the 20-19 win over the Eagles. His 119 special teams hits were 2nd on the team. 1987: Ravin earned a spot on the Redskins' Super Bowl roster, thanks to his special teams enthusiasm. By the regular season finale against the Vikings, Ravin earned time with the defense and made 4 tackles, including 1 sack. 1986: A knee injury slowed Ravin throughout training camp, eventually forcing him on injured reserve for the season. In his NFL debut against the Steelers in preseason, he lost his helmet as he ran down field on kick coverage but never slowed down until making the hit.

College, Personal: A fractured knee cap as a senior at Arkansas dropped Ravin's draft position, but the Redskins were the beneficiaries of his bad luck. His sophomore and junior seasons pointed to a higher selection when he made 58 and 65 tackles, respectively. His best game was a 13-tackle performance against Tulsa. Arkansas was a natural for Ravin, who grew up in Ft. Smith, AR, and graduated from Northside High School, where he was all-state as a senior. He played against Philadelphia's Keith Jackson in high school. Ravin was a criminal justice major. He has a son Ashton, 3, and lives in Herndon, VA.

League Leading Interceptors

Redskin linebackers led the NFL in interceptions with nine last season, three more than Buffalo who finished second with six. Wilber Marshall tied for the team lead with five thefts, followed by Andre Collins (2), Kurt Gouveia (1) and Monte Coleman (1). In the playoffs, linebackers accounted for four interceptions with Gouveia intercepting a team-high three passes.

Up Close

- Gary participated in the Virginia DMV "Buckle Up Virginia" campaign.
- Gary's "Why Say No" Sports Camp was formed after he read a story about a 14-year old girl smuggling cocaine through an airport.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

- Gary was selected to the Pro Bowl in 1986, 1987, 1990 and 1991.
- He has surpassed 1,000 yards receiving five times.
- Gary has averaged 69 catches per season over his career.
- His seven-yard TD grab in 1987 NFC title game provided the winning points.

How Acquired: Selected in the second round of the 1984 supplemental draft. Signed as a free agent May 13, 1985.

Games Played/Started: 106/93 [11/11] - 1985 (16/10); 1986 (15/15)[3/3]; 1987 (12/11)[3/3]; 1988 (16/13); 1989 (15/12); 1990 (16/16)[2/2]; 1991 (16/16)[3/3]

1991 Season: In the biggest game of the year, with the Redskins holding a 24-10 lead and faced with a 3rd and 10 from the Buffalo 30 yard line, it was Mark Rypien's 30-yard scoring strike that nestled into Gary's hands that put the exclamation point on the Redskin victory and season. Fittingly it was Gary who came up with the big catch. He had catches of 82, 75, 65, 61, 54, 50 and 49 yards with all but the 75-yarder going for touchdowns last season. In the regular season, he led the team with 10 touchdown catches averaging a whopping 45.3 yards per TD catch (6 of his 10 TD catches were 49-yards or longer). He caught 70 passes for the 5th time (3rd in a row) in his career. He went over 1,000 yards receiving for the 5th time (3rd in a row) in 6 seasons. The only other receiver in the NFL to accomplish that over the same stretch is Jerry Rice. In his 7 seasons he has averaged 69 receptions (an average that is higher than all 20 of the leading lifetime receivers) and 1,119 yards per year. And he has gone to 4 Pro Bowls (2 straight). His 485-career receptions are 3rd on the Redskins all-time reception list and his 7,830-yards receiving are also 3rd all-time in the Redskin record book. "He's one of the best there is," said receivers coach Charley Taylor. "He has great ability, great quickness and knows what to do after he makes the catch. A lot of players know how to catch the ball, but Gary's is more dangerous after he catches it." That daily excellence was apparent in every game last season. He finished 2nd in the league in receiving yards with a career-high 1,340 yards and 6th in the NFC in receptions (70). His 19.1 yard average per reception was the 2nd best mark in the league, while his 10 TD receptions were a career high and tied him for 5th in the NFL. In addition to his 30-yard scoring grab in the Super Bowl, Gary caught 7 passes for 114 yards. In the NFC Championship game, he had 4 catches for 77 yards and a 45-yard TD catch to follow up a 6-catch, 64 yard effort vs. the Falcons the previous week in the divisional playoff contest. Gary led the team with 17 catches for 255 yards and 2 TDs in the playoffs. He led the club in receiving yards in 11 of 16 games. In his last 7 regular season games, Gary averaged 24.2 yards per catch (32-774) and had at least 70 yards receiving in his last 9 games. In a 3 week stretch (Weeks 10-12), Gary averaged 27.1 yards per catch (14/380). That streak included 4 catches for 203 yards and 3 touchdowns (career high) against the Falcons. His 203 yards receiving was the 2nd highest receiving yardage total of his career, the most by a Redskin last season and the highest receiving yardage total in the NFC. His 82-yard TD catch against the Falcons was the longest by a Redskin last season and the second longest of his career. He followed that with 3 catches for 95 yards and 1 TD at Pittsburgh, including a spectacular one-handed grab for 37 yards. Gary also registered 100-yard receiving days in the opener against the Lions with 107 yards and 1 TD and the Giants (Week 15) with 129 yards on 3 receptions, including 2 TDs (65 and 50 yards). In the first Giant win in Week 8, Gary caught 3 passes for 70 yards, including the Redskins only 2 TDs (7 and 54 yards). HONORS: Pro Bowl, UPI All-NFC, All-Madden, Football News All-NFC, AP All-Pro 2nd team, NEA All-Pro.

Pro Career: 1990: Gary earned his 3rd trip to the Pro Bowl as he finished 5th in the league in receptions (75) and 4th in receiving (1,112). His 75 receptions marked the 6th straight year he had at least 40 catches (tying Bobby Mitchell's club record) while surpassing the 1,000-yard mark for the 4th time in 5 seasons. Gary led the team with 4 100-yard receiving games with a season-high 162 yards (eight catches) and two touchdowns (both 42 yards) at Phoenix. Other 100-yard performances included San Francisco (7/106), Detroit (11/132) and New Orleans (8/131/2). Gary led (or tied) the team in catches in 9 games and his 8 touchdown receptions also led the team. Gary was on the receiving end of 8 of the 10 longest pass receptions by a Redskin. Besides his Pro Bowl selection, he was chosen to the all-Madden team and the UPI All-NFC team. 1989: Gary was brilliant from the beginning when he caught 6 passes for 100 yards against the Giants. It was the first of 5 100-yard receiving games with others coming against the Eagles (4/153/2), Raiders (8/145/1), Bears (8/124/1) and Seahawks (9/149/1). His 9 touchdown catches were a career high. Against the Eagles in Week 2, he opened the game with an 80-yard touchdown catch on the opening play. In Week 5 his 4th quarter 23-yard touchdown catch with 1:54 remaining proved to be the difference in a 30-28 win over Phoenix. His biggest catch came Week 14 when Gary improvised on a 4th-and 4 to grab a 33-yard go-ahead 4th quarter score against San Diego. His 79 catches were a career high and 10 catches vs. Tampa Bay were a season high. 1988: Gary's 59 catches ranked 3rd on the team. Among his season bests were an 8 reception game (98 yards) against Chicago in Week 11 and a 99-yard effort (5 catches) in Week 14 against Philadelphia. Gary owned the team's longest offensive play of the season with a 60-yard touchdown catch in Week 7 vs. Phoenix. 1987: Gary made his 2nd straight Pro Bowl. His 1,066 yards ranked 3rd among NFL receivers and 56 catches tied for 9th. He led the team in receptions, receiving yards, combined yards (1,077) and touchdowns (7). Gary's 7-yard touchdown catch with 5:15 remaining in the NFC Championship Game against Minnesota provided the winning margin and sent the Redskins to Super Bowl XXII. Gary was very much a part of Washington's record-setting 35-point quarter against Denver in the Super Bowl. His 27-yard touchdown catch gave the Redskins a 14-10 lead. 1986:

Gary's 1,265 yards and his 74 catches both were 4th-best in Redskins' history. His yards ranked 2nd in the NFC and his catches 5th as he made the first of 4 Pro Bowl appearances. He led the team with 7 touchdown catches and had 5 100 yard games. His 241 yards (11 catches) in Week 8 against the Giants set a team record (which was broken by Anthony Allen the following season). 1985: Gary and Art Monk formed the league's top receiving tandem, combining for 163 catches. Gary came to Washington in May after playing a season with the Jacksonville Bulls of the USFL. His season high was an 11 catch, 193-yard performances against the Giants. 1984: USFL: Gary caught 56 passes for 760 yards for Jacksonville. He also returned 20 punts for 84 yards and 19 kickoffs for 341 yards.

College, Personal: Gary was named 1983 Offensive Player of the Year in Virginia for his performance as a senior at James Madison University and became the first player in JMU history to be drafted by a professional football team. He ended his college career with 155 catches. As a junior he was second in the nation in punt returns with a 14.9-yard average. Gary makes numerous speaking engagements throughout the D.C. area and the state of Virginia. He runs a football camp "Why Say No To Drugs" in both his home area of Roanoke, VA and D.C. for underprivileged children. He also hosted his own show on Home Team Sports shown on Thursday evenings during the season. He also took part in the Crime Card series distributed by the Washington, D.C. police department. A native of Dublin, VA, Gary attended Pulaski County High School. He resides in Centreville, VA.

Up Close

- Monte is the local spokesperson for the Virginia Make-A-Wish Foundation.
- During Super Bowl XXVI, Monte, along with several teammates and ESPN, went ice fishing on a local Minneapolis lake.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

- His 46 1/2 career sacks are sixth on the club's all-time list.
- Monte's 173 games as a Redskins ranks 7th in club history and fourth among defensive players.

How Acquired: Selected in 11th round of the 1979 draft (289th overall).

Games Played/Started: 173/58 [19/5] - 1979 (16/0); 1980 (16/10); 1981

(12/11); 1982 (8/2)[4/0]; 1983 (10/0)[3/0]; 1984 (16/5)[1/0]; 1985 (10/1); 1986 (11/4)[3/2]; 1987 (12/12)[3/3]; 1988 (13/0); 1989 (15/3); 1990 (15/0)[2/0]; 1991 (16/1)[3/0]

1991 Season: "He doesn't seem to age, does he?" remarked former Redskins linebacker, and current scout, Mel Kaufman one day at a Redskins practice. In fact, the Monte Coleman that finished his 13th year in 1991 is, if anything, still as fast, still as strong and, most definitely, a better football player than the player who first showed up in the summer of 1979 at the Redskins training camp in Carlisle, PA. "Physically he's shown no signs of slowing down," said linebacker coach Larry Peccatiello. "He's an exceptional athlete. Plus, his experience allows him to anticipate things on the field. He's really a coach on the field." And last year, thanks to an abundance of run-and-shoot teams, Monte played as much as he had in any other season. His 89 tackles (6th on the team) were his highest since 1987 and the 5th best output of his career. He also finished with 3 1/2 sacks to up his career total to 46 1/2 which is the 6th best mark in club history and the most ever by a Redskin linebacker. In addition, Monte still showed he can play on special teams finishing 7th on the club with 67 total hits. Season highlights included a season-high 12 tackles (10 solo) vs. Detroit in the season opener; 9 tackles (6 solo) vs. Atlanta and 9 tackles, including 1 tackle for loss, 1 QB hurry and 1 pass deflection vs. Cleveland in Week 7. Monte enjoyed his most productive day, however, against the Rams in Week 13. He tallied 4 tackles, 1 1/2 sacks, 1 QB hurry, 1 pass deflection and 12 special teams hits. Monte also added his 15th career interception against the Giants in Week 15.

Pro Career: 1990: Monte turned in his finest year since 1987 with 66 tackles and 11 QB hurries. He also added 3 sacks. Monte had a team-high 14 tackles against the Cardinals and led all linebackers with 10 tackles vs. the Giants, including 1 sack. He also added 31 total hits on special teams.

1989: Despite an aggravated hamstring suffered in Week 7 against Tampa Bay that limited his play in the middle of the season, Monte finished the year with 49 tackles and 4 sacks. In his 3 starts (Week 1 vs. Giants, Week 2 vs. Philly and Week 16 vs. Seattle), Monte had his best games. In the opener against the Giants, Monte's 24-yard interception return (the 3rd of his career) for a 4th quarter TD gave Washington its only lead of the game. In Week 2 vs. the Eagles, Monte posted a season-high 7 tackles, and forced a fumble, and in the season finale at Seattle he added a sack and forced fumble.

1988: Monte was the starter at left linebacker until he sprained his left knee against Chicago in Week 11. After missing the next 2 games, he alternated run-downs and passing-downs with Mel Kaufman for the remainder of the year.

1987: Monte emerged as a starter at right linebacker after middle linebacker Neal Olkewicz tore knee cartilage in the preseason opener, forcing Rich Milot to move from right linebacker into the middle. Monte remained the starter even after Olkewicz returned and finished the season with 4 1/2 sacks, (2nd most of his career) 2 interceptions and 107 tackles (10 for loss).

1986: Monte replaced Kaufman as the starter after Mel tore his Achilles in Week 2, but a pulled hamstring put Monte on injured reserve three weeks later. Monte returned in Week 10. During the playoffs, Monte finished 4th on the team with 16 tackles.

1985: Monte pulled his hamstring in Week 3 while chasing Eagles receiver Mike Quick and spent the next 6 weeks on injured reserve. He returned in Week 10 against the Detroit Lions. 1984: In one of his best seasons, Monte finished with 10 1/2 sacks (2nd on the team) and 88 tackles. 1983: Monte missed the first 6 games because of a severe thigh contusion sustained in the preseason against Buffalo. 1982: Monte started at left linebacker until he suffered a shoulder injury against the Giants Nov. 21. The injury bothered Monte throughout the season but he missed only 1 game (Philadelphia), playing the latter part of the season in passing situations. 1981: Monte's 114 1/2 tackles were 3rd on the team. Against Philadelphia in Week 14, Monte intercepted a pass in the 4th quarter and returned it for the game-winning touchdown. He suffered a fractured shoulder in Week 2 against the Giants and missed 4 games. 1980: Monte's 118 tackles were a career high. He started the season at left linebacker in place of Brad Dusek and moved to the right toward the end in place of injured Pete Wysocki. 1979: Monte played as a pass-covering specialist and on special teams.

College, Personal: Monte became the first player out of the University of Central Arkansas to be drafted in the NFL. As a safety and linebacker, he earned NAIA honors after setting a school record with 22 career interceptions. Monte's brother, Sam, also attended Central Arkansas and had a tryout with the Redskins as a running back. A commercial art major, Monte enjoys landscape painting, but his passion is fishing and hunting.

He bagged a 4-point deer during last year's hunting season. And, along with teammates, Chip Lohmiller, Art Monk and Earnest Byner, went ice fishing during Super Bowl XXVI which was featured on ESPN. He's also participated in the Bayou Bass Challenge in Morgan City, LA, which is the biggest fishing tournament in the country with proceeds going to the United Way of South Louisiana. Born in Pine Bluff, AR, he and his wife, Yvette have 2 children: a son, Jasmine and a daughter, Kyndall and they reside in Herndon, VA. Monte also has two children: son Corry, 15, and daughter, Londie 12.

Up Close

- Andre is one of 19 children (12th overall) in his family.
- He is the only Redskin player who lives inside the Beltway residing in Arlington to be closer to a boys and girls club in Alexandria where he donates his free time

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

- He led the Redskins in tackles with 151 last season.
- His first career TD was a 15-yard INT return vs. Atlanta in 1991.
- Andre became only the second rookie to start every game under Joe Gibbs in 1990.
- His 6 sacks in 1990 tied the club record for sacks by a rookie.

How Acquired: Selected in second round of the 1990 draft (46th overall)

Games Played/Started: 35/35 [5/5] - 1990 (16/16)[2/2]; 1991 (16/16)[3/3]

1991 Season: Andre's leveling of Buffalo quarterback Jim Kelly on the 1st play of the 2nd half, which resulted in an interception and 1 play later a 24-0 Redskin lead, provided the punctuation on an outstanding season. A starter since day one as a rookie, he calmly adjusted to his switch from the left side to the right outside linebacker post at the beginning of training camp. "As a rookie Andre had doubted his ability to play in the NFL," said linebacker coach Larry Peccatiello. "We didn't feel that way. Andre has been everything we expected. He understands the system better. Last year everything started to fall together for him. He pays great attention to detail and mistakes. Because of that, nothing he does is surprising." That attention to detail led the club with 151 tackles and left little doubt that he could handle anything thrown his way. A model of consistency, Andre came up with no fewer than 6 tackles in any game. He also posted double-digit tackles in 7 games — 13 vs. Giants in Week 15 and Dallas in Week 12; 12 vs. Giants in Week 8 and 11 vs. Philadelphia in Week 16, vs. Houston in Week 9, vs. Cleveland in Week 7 and Detroit in the season opener. His season portfolio also included a 15-yard interception return for a touchdown (career 1st) in the 4th quarter against Atlanta in Week 10. Other highlights included an INT vs. the Eagles and the only sack of the Houston game when he dropped Warren Moon for minus 8 yards.

Pro Career: 1990: With Marvin Caldwell a training camp holdout, Andre was quickly thrown into the starting lineup from day one in preseasn. Andre became only the 2nd rookie in the Joe Gibbs era to start every game (Darrell Green started every game in 1983). Andre finished 5th on the team with 91 tackles and his 6 sacks tied Dexter Manley's Redskin rookie record. His season bests included 2 sacks in Week 15 at Indianapolis and 12 tackles versus Buffalo. Andre's contribution in the Philadelphia playoff victory included 9 tackles and 1/2 sack. He was chosen to the all-rookie team by Pro Football Weekly and Football News.

College, Personal: Andre completed an outstanding senior season by being named a 1st-team all-America by the Football Writers Association. He was one of 5 finalists for the Dick Butkus Award, given annually to the top college linebacker. Andre finished the year with a career-high 130 tackles (3rd highest total in school history) and became only the 3rd player in Nittany Lion history to record back-to-back 100 tackle seasons (110 tackles as a junior was the highest total by a Penn State linebacker since 1975). He made the position switch from safety to linebacker during spring drills before his junior year. Andre was a standout 3-sport athlete in football, basketball and track at Cinnaminson, N.J., High School. He is 1 of 19 children (12th) with 12 sisters and 6 brothers. He also had 2 other brothers, Gerry, a running back and Phil, a wide receiver, who played at Penn State. He has 3 sisters who played college athletics: Valerie played basketball at Monmouth, Cheryl fenced at Seton Hall and Fran played basketball at Montclair State. Andre finished his degree requirements in health planning and administration last summer completing an internship at Arlington Hospital. Andre, and his wife Beverley, reside in Arlington, VA.

How Acquired: Selected in fourth round of the 1990 draft (86th overall)

Games Played/Started: 0/0 - 1990 (IR); 1991 (IR)

1991 Season: It wasn't quite deja vu for Cary, but 1991 did bare a strong resemblance to his rookie season when he spent the entire year on injured reserve. Yes, he did spend a repeat year on IR with the same nagging knee problem. But unlike the previous year, Cary was given ample opportunity in training camp and preseason to test himself against NFL competition. And the coaches liked what they saw. "As a rookie, Cary really didn't get the opportunity to play much in training camp and preseason," said quarterback and passing game assistant coach Rod Dowhower. "Last year, we got him as much playing time in practice, scrimmages and preseason as we could and he didn't disappoint us one bit. He's got a strong arm, he's tough and he's got a fine future in this league." Seeing considerable action in preseason, Cary passed for 263 yards (21-40) and threw 2 touchdowns without an interception in 4 preseason games.

Pro Career: 1990: Cary spent the entire year on injured reserve when he was hit on the knee during a drill in training camp.

College, Personal: In only 2 years as a starter, Cary finished his career at Washington as the school's 2nd all-time leading passer with 4,850 yards. As a senior, he became the Huskies' all-time single-season leader in passing yards (2,569) and total offense(2,502) including 16 TD passes which was the 2nd-best mark in school history and culminated his senior year by being named the Hula Bowl MVP for the West squad. In his college debut as a sophomore, Cary was pressed into service in the 9th game of the season at Arizona. He came off the bench and passed for 237 yards, including 2 TDs and 1 rushing TD to rally the Huskies to a 21-21 tie. He majored in political science at Washington. Cary was a prep all-America quarterback at Eisenhower High School in Yakima, WA, and was an all-state performer in basketball and baseball. Cary and his wife, Demetra, reside in Sterling, VA.

DANNY COPELAND

Weight	213
Year	4th
Born	01/24/66

Up Close

- Danny, along with several Redskin teammates took part in the GamePlan program that goes into area schools to deliver a say no to drugs and stay in school message.
- Danny plans to become a teacher in his native Georgia.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

- Danny had a career-high 97 tackles in 1991.
- His 17 tackles vs. the Giants last season was a career-high.
- Danny led the Chiefs in kick returns in 1989 averaging 17.9 yards.

How Acquired: Signed as a Plan B free agent April 1, 1991

Games Played/Started: 46/14 [4/3] - KC 1989 (16/0); 1990 (14/0)[1/0]; WASH 1991 (16/14)[3/3]

1991 Season: Another Plan B gem by the Redskins, Danny's status as the incumbent at strong safety wasn't planned. In 2 previous years with the Chiefs, he was a special teams standout and was limited to a few plays on defense. So convinced that his role in KC would not change, he only agreed to join the Redskins after being promised a tryout at running back. But a pulled back muscle in minicamp, ended that experiment and Danny was back on defense full-time and trying to land a job. He did more than that. When Alvin Walton was injured in Week 2 at Dallas, Danny moved into the starting lineup for the remainder of the season and is now firmly entrenched as the starter. "Danny stepped right in and did an outstanding job for us," said assistant head coach/defense Richie Petitbon. "He fits right in. He's smart and he can cover." He also finished the year 5th on the team with a career-high 97 tackles. Because of his starting role on defense, his special teams duty was somewhat diminished, but he still finished 3rd on the club with 108 total hits. Danny's brightest moment in the regular season was his performance against the Giants in Week 15. He notched a career-high 17 tackles (9 solos), recovered a fumble and added an interception. He also reached double-digit stops against the Eagles (12) in Week 16, the Giants (13) in Week 8 and 10 vs. Chicago in Week 6. Not to neglect his special teams duty, he was chosen special teams player of the week vs. Atlanta in Week 10 with a season-best 12 hits. Danny also led the team with 3 fumble recoveries. In the playoffs Danny's interception squelched Atlanta's opening drive.

Pro Career: 1990: Danny finished 3rd with 17 special teams tackles, and also added 14 tackles on defense when used in nickel situations in his final year with the Chiefs. 1989: Danny joined the Chiefs as a Plan B free agent from Cleveland. In his 1st season in Kansas City, he led the team with 26 kick returns for a 17.9 yard average. Danny also added 17 special teams tackles. 1988: Danny missed his entire rookie season in 1988 with Cleveland because of a hamstring injury. He was a 9th round draft pick by the Browns.

College, Personal: Danny was a 1st-team all-Ohio Valley Conference selection at cornerback as a junior and senior at Eastern Kentucky. In addition to 105 tackles and 8 interceptions during his final two seasons, Danny also returned 47 kicks for a 29.3 average (2 touchdowns) and 56 punts for an 8.7 average (2 touchdowns). Danny was a GTE academic all-American at Eastern Kentucky. He attended Central High School in Thomasville, GA. He and the Giants Myron Guyton both attended high school and college together. Danny and his wife, Joann, have a daughter, Danyelle, 1 and they reside in Fairfax, VA.

Up Close

- Brad is chairman of the South Carolina Children's Home and the South Carolina Blind Olympics.
- He and the Bears' Donnell Woolford run a football camp with all proceeds donated to The Boys and Girls Club of Fayetteville (NC).

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

- Brad had 2 interceptions in Super Bowl XXVI.
- He had a career-high 135 tackles (2nd best on team) in 1991.

- Brad returned an interception 37 yards for a touchdown vs. Tampa Bay as a rookie.

How Acquired: Signed as a Plan B free agent March 7, 1990.

Games Played/Started: 57/24 [8/3] - MINN 1988 (16/6)[2/0]; 1989 (9/1)[1/0]; WASH 1990 (16/1)[2/0]; 1991 (16/16[3/3]

1991 Season: In pro football's most glittering event — Super Bowl XXVI — Brad Edwards took center stage. He accounted for 2 interceptions (5th player in Super Bowl history), 5 passes defensed and 4 tackles. Besides his 2 INTs, he also came up with a big play when he jarred the ball loose from Buffalo wide receiver Don Beebe at the goal line. His efforts did not go unnoticed as he was a runner-up in the Super Bowl MVP balloting. It was an exclamation point to a season that began as a question mark. When the Redskins let incumbent Todd Bowles leave in Plan B, they gave the starting job to Brad hoping his aggressive nature would create big plays. And it did. Brad finished 2nd on the team with 135 tackles, was 3rd in interceptions with 4 and 4th with 9 passes defensed. "Brad did an outstanding job for us," said defensive backs coach Emmitt Thomas. "He calls all our defensive signals and is a leader. But what he adds is speed and he can really get to the ball." Brad's season-bests included 19 tackles vs. Dallas in Week 12 and 18 tackles (season-high 11 solos) vs. the Giants in Week 8. He was named defensive player of the week twice - vs. the Giants in Week 8 and vs. Cincinnati Week 4. Brad also recorded 10 tackles vs. the Giants in Week 15 and Dallas in Week 2. Against Phoenix in Week 14, he returned an interception 25 yards that set up the Redskins go-ahead field goal. He also had interceptions against the Bengals, Phoenix in Week 3 and Houston in Week 9.

Pro Career: 1990: Despite preseason injury that forced Brad into wearing a cast on his right hand and wrist, he still called adjustments in the nickel package and led the club with 112 total hits on special teams in his 1st year with the Redskins. Brad had 6 tackles, a game-ending interception and a team-high 9 special teams hits against the Bears. He also had an interception in the win over Miami, in addition to 12 special teams hits. In his only start of the year against the Giants, Brad had 7 tackles and 2 weeks earlier vs. the Giants he posted a season-high 8 tackles. 1989: Brad saw action in 9 games, including 1 start at free safety, and finished the year with 21 tackles and 1 interception. Brad also stood out on the Vikings' special teams with 8 kick coverage tackles and a blocked field goal. 1988: Minnesota's 2nd-round draft choice, Brad started 6 games and finished with 43 tackles and had 2 interceptions, including a 37-yard interception return for a TD vs. Tampa Bay.

College, Personal: After leading South Carolina with 120 tackles as a senior, Brad was a 2nd-team all-America selection by College and Pro Football Newseekly. Brad also led the Gamecocks with 8 interceptions as a senior. He was a 3-year starter and was a member of the Sough Carolina Dean's list and graduated with a degree in business management. Among his hobbies is playing the piano. He has been a spokesperson for the South Carolina Wildlife Commission. He formerly held a brokers license in Minnesota and worked in a financial planning office during the offseason while playing for the Vikings. Brad was a widely heralded quarterback at Douglas Byrd High School in Fayetteville, NC. His father, Wayne, was an infielder in the Baltimore Orioles organization from 1962-65. He and his wife Susan have a son, Jackson, 1, and reside in Fairfax, VA.

- Born in Lagos, Nigeria, Mo moved to Canada when he was 11 years old and did not play football until convinced by friends to play as a college freshman.
- Mo was a rugby, soccer, basketball and track star in high school.

How Acquired: Selected in third round of 1990 draft (76th overall)

Games Played/Started: 0/0 - 1990 (IR); 1991 (IR)

1991 Season: With a year tucked under his belt learning the Redskin system, Mo had high hopes going into the season. He spent the whole year on a rigorous weight program and was switched from guard to tackle. But a sprained right knee suffered in a scrimmage against New England once again forced him on injured reserve. And once again he was forced to sit on the sidelines and wait another year for his chance. "We still have high hopes for Mo," said offensive line coach Jim Hanifan. "It was a tough blow last year. He hasn't played a lot of football and we need to get him out there."

He has terrific talent and the potential to be a really fine offensive lineman."

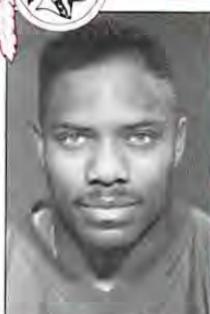

Pro Career: 1990: Mo's rookie season was put on hold when a nagging shoulder injury in training camp forced the Redskins to put him on injured reserve after the final roster cut.

College, Personal: Mohammed earned the 1989 Outland Trophy, and in addition, he earned 1st-team all-America notice by Kodak and Walter Camp, while being selected to The Sporting News' 2nd-team. He also was named to the all-WAC 1st-team in his only season as a starter. Mo transferred to Brigham Young from Snow College (Ephraim, Utah) in the spring of 1987. In his final year at Snow, Mo earned 2nd-team all-America honors. Mo was convinced by friends to join the football team as a freshman. It was the first time in his life that he had ever played the game, but he instantly impressed the coaching staff and earned a starting assignment at guard. An excellent athlete at Victoria High School in Kamloops, British Columbia, Canada, he moved there when he was 11 years old from Lagos, Nigeria where he was born. He was drafted by Vancouver of the North American Soccer League in 1985. Mo was a business management major at BYU with a minor in Asian studies. He even took a pottery class while at BYU. His given name is Mohammed Thomas David Elewonibi and his last name is pronounced Ella-wa-NEE-bee. Mo resides in Centreville, VA.

Up Close

- Growing up near the Rose Bowl in Pasadena (site of this year's Super Bowl), Ricky used to park cars during the New Year's Day Classic.
- Ricky wrote an autobiography as a school project.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

- Ricky led all NFC rookies in rushing with 680 yards.
- He became the 5th Redskin to gain over 100 yards in a playoff game with 104 yards vs. Atlanta.
- His 4.7 yards per carry was best among NFC rushers in the top 10 last season.

How Acquired: Selected in third round of 1991 draft (47th overall).

Games Played/Started: 15/0 [3/0] - 1991 (15/0)[3/0]

1991: Ricky's fantasy turned into a nightmare for Redskin opponents. Walking on the turf before every game, Ricky would imagine breaking a long gainer for a score. Finally in Week 7 against Cleveland, he got his chance. With Earnest Byner out of action and the Skins holding a slim 21-17 lead against the Browns, Ricky took over. A 46-yard kickoff return was only a prelude. Inserted into the backfield, he gained 15 yards off tackle. Then it was 4 yards up the middle. Then, like a cannon-shot, 12-yards around left end for a touchdown. He wasn't finished. When the afternoon had ended, Ricky had gained 133 yards (13 carries), including another touchdown, this time a 65-yard dash. The Redskins had found another dimension — explosive speed. "Ricky is a very intelligent young man," said running backs coach Don Breaux. "He still has a lot to learn in the overall passing game. But it's just a matter of his gaining experience. He will definitely be a threat." Ricky eventually finished the year as the NFC's top rookie rusher with 680 yards (145 carries) and was 2nd in rookie of the year balloting. He sparked the Redskins comeback vs. the Giants in Week 8 with 82 yards rushing in the 2nd half, converting on 3 straight 3rd down attempts on the Skins' first scoring drive. Ricky accounted for the Redskins 3 longest rushes (65, 37, and 34 yards), 2 of the 3 longest kickoff returns (46 and 33 yards) and the highest single-game rushing total (133 vs. Browns) of the season. There also was an 84-yard rushing effort at Pittsburgh in Week 11. He returned to his hometown in Week 13 vs. the Rams and caught his first career TD pass, a 24-yarder in the 3rd quarter. In the playoffs he was simply superb. He darted for 104 yards (including a 17-yard TD run) against the Falcons in the mud, 53-yards vs. the Lions and 72 yards in Super Bowl XXVI. HONORS: PFWA All-Rookie, Football Digest All-Rookie, Pro Football Weekly All-Rookie, Football News All-Rookie, College & Pro Football Newsweekly All-Rookie.

College, Personal: An ankle injury in the 5th game of the year at Ohio State as a senior ended any hopes of Ricky duplicating his outstanding junior campaign when he led the Pac-10 in rushing with 1,395 yards (the most at USC since Marcus Allen's 2,427 in his 1981 Heisman Trophy season) and a team-high 10 touchdowns. Ricky was also the team's 2nd leading receiver with 39 catches (the most ever by a Trojan running back). He culminated his outstanding junior season as the Rose Bowl MVP with 126 yards rushing and 1 TD in the Trojan win over Michigan. Despite his aborted senior year, Ricky still managed to gain 393 yards an 4 touchdowns on just 90 carries as a senior. As a sophomore backup, Ricky ran for 410 yards and 2 scores on 92 carries. As one of the top prep players in the country at Muir High School in Pasadena, CA, Ricky rushed for 1,602 yards (6.8 avg.) and 21 TDs as a senior. As a junior, Ricky once gained 225 yards (four TDs) in 1 quarter of play. He gained 3,847 yards during his prep career. He also finished 8th in the 100 meters at the state meet in a time of 10.80. Born in Fort Wayne, IN, Ricky moved to California when he was 11. Also an outstanding baseball player, the Cleveland Indians offered him a contract in 1989. Nicknamed "Pinball Wizard" Ricky majored in business finance at USC. He and his wife, Shawnese, have a baby daughter, Jazmyn, and they reside in Pasadena, CA.

- Steve was a member of the celebrated "Nasty Boyz" offensive line that led the London Monarchs to the World League title.
- He also holds the distinction of being the first player drafted by London.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

- 1st team All-World League honors in 1991.
- Member of London Monarchs World Bowl championship team.

How Acquired: Signed as a Plan B free agent on April 1, 1992.

Games Played/Started: 4/0 - GB 1991 (4/0)

1991 Season: 1991 took some twists and turns for Steve, but when the year had come to an end, he had laid the foundation for an NFL career. He opened the year as a 1st round draft choice (10th overall) by the London Monarchs in the World League draft of offensive linemen. Not only did the team win the inaugural World Bowl championship, but as a member of London's "Nasty Boyz" offensive line he earned All-World League 1st team honors at tackle. He followed that success by signing with the Packers. Although cut by the Packers in the final roster cutdown, he re-signed with the club and spent the first 9 weeks on Green Bay's developmental squad. Steve was activated on November 9 and spent the remainder of the year on the active roster as a backup at tackle.

Pro Career: 1990: Steve went to his 2nd training camp with Philadelphia but did not make the roster. 1989: Signed as a free agent by Philadelphia, Steve was released by the Eagles and then re-signed as a developmental player. He spent most of the year on the developmental squad, but was activated for the final game of the year and the playoff loss to the Rams.

College, Personal: Steve was a 3-year starter as a defensive tackle at Florida State and earned Football News All-America honors as a sophomore. He totaled 113 tackles, 5 for loss and 1 1/2 sacks while helping the Seminoles to back-to-back 11-1 seasons. Steve holds a degree in economics and business from Florida State and attended Independence High School in Charlotte, NC. He and his wife, Kimberly, have a daughter, Jacqueline, 1, and reside in Tallahassee, FL.

- Jumpy was honored by his local U.S. Rep. Robin Tallon and the town of Andrews, SC with a "Jumpy Geathers Day" this past offseason.
- Besides raising funds for area high schools, he also funded a day care center.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

- Jumpy led the Saints with a career-high 9 sacks in 1986.
- He has recorded 33 1/2 sacks during his career.
- He was named the team's defensive player of the week twice last season (Pittsburgh and Houston).

How Acquired: Signed as a Plan B free agent March 30, 1990

Games Played/Started: 105/24 [6/0] - NO 1984 (16/0); 1985 (16/0); 1986 (16/2); 1987 (1/0)[1/0]; 1988 (16/6); 1989 (15/15); WASH 1990 (9/1)[2/0]; 1991 (16/0)[3/0]

1991 Season: The swim, the bull rush and the forklift. Jumpy's tools of the trade were all used with precise effectiveness last season, especially his patented forklift. In that move, Jumpy slips one arm under an opponents' armpit, and the other around his waist and then shoves him backward into the quarterback. A maneuver of pure strength. "He's got great leverage and he's real strong. Probably the team's strongest player," said defensive line coach Torgy Torgeson. "It's amazing some of the things he does with his strength. He just pushes piles back out of place." The Redskins pass rushing specialist, he led the team with 27 QB hurries and was tied for 4th with 4 1/2 sacks (his highest total since 1986). Steelers quarterback Neil O'Donnell saw that strength first hand in Week 11. Jumpy used his forklift maneuver to record 2 sacks for minus 23, forced a fumble on one of those sacks and had 3 tackles. In addition to being named defensive player of the week by the coaches for his performance against the Steelers, Jumpy also was named player of the week against Houston. Seeing more playing time against the run-and-shoot Oilers, Jumpy came up with 2 tackles and a season-high 4 QB hurries. In overtime, the Redskins winning points were set up by Jumpy as he drove his opponent into Warren Moon which caused him to throw an interception to Darrell Green. In the Redskins Super Bowl XXVI triumph he had 3 tackles and 1 sack.

Pro Career: 1990: Jumpy missed min-camp, training camp, and the first 7 weeks of the season on the Physically Unable to Perform list following reconstructive surgery on his right knee (his second major knee operation), before being given the green light for the Week 8 contest at Detroit. Jumpy played in only 6 downs, but came up with a crucial 3rd quarter sack. The following week at Philadelphia, Jumpy again came up with a sack. While his playing time was limited, he still managed 3 sacks, 5 QB hurries and 1 forced fumble. 1989: Jumpy started 15 games before being placed on IR for the final game of the season with a knee injury that required reconstructive surgery. He finished the year with 23 tackles, one sack and led the Saints with 5 fumble recoveries. 1988: Jumpy started 6 games and produced a career-high 33 tackles. He also added 3 1/2 sacks, including a 2-sack day at Seattle. Jumpy also recovered three fumbles, including two against the Giants. 1987: He suffered torn knee ligaments in the final preseason game and was lost for all but the final game of the year. 1986: Jumpy enjoyed his most productive season with 32 tackles, plus he led the Saints with a career-high 9 sacks. 1985: Again, Jumpy saw most of his action during passing situations and responded with 6 1/2 sacks and 29 tackles. He also blocked a field goal vs. Atlanta, in addition to recording a career-high 7 passes defensed. 1984: Drafted by the Saints in the 2nd round, Jumpy contributed 6 sacks as a backup.

College, Personal: Jumpy originally entered college on a basketball scholarship at Paducah (KY) Community College, but switched to football after transferring to Wichita State as a junior. In just 2 seasons, Jumpy recorded 34 sacks for the Shockers. Nicknamed "Jumpy" by his grandfather as a youngster. He owns a car dealership in Georgetown, SC, which is operated by his older brother Robert, who was a 3rd round draft choice by Buffalo in 1981. He also holds an annual basketball tournament to help raise funds for athletic equipment for 5 area high schools in his hometown during the offseason. He attended Choppe High School in Georgetown, SC. His last name is pronounced like "Feathers." He resides in Georgetown, SC.

- Kelly has been an active supporter of Multiple Sclerosis Society, March of Dimes and the Leukemia Foundation back in his home area of Kansas City, MO.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

- Kelly has placed 76 punts inside the 20 during his career.
- He has a +52 inside the 20 ratio to touchbacks during his career.
- As a Chief in 1989, Kelly tied a club record with 11 punts in a single game.

How Acquired: Signed as a free agent December 4, 1990.

Games Played/Started: 68/0 [5/0] - KC 1987 (13/0); 1988 (16/0); 1989 (16/0); 1990 (3/0); WASH 1990 (4/0)[2/0]; 1991 (16/0)[3/0]

1991 Season: The Redskins had few true "gut check" moments in their 37-24 Super Bowl win over Buffalo. One of those moments came in the second quarter. Washington was 4th and 10 from its 1-yard line with under 2:00 minutes remaining in the half. Kelly, standing 3 inches from the back of the end zone, calmly booted the Skins out of harm's way with a 42 yard punt. "Gut check" passed with flying colors. "Kelly's clutch punting down the stretch is what stands out in my mind," said special teams coach Wayne Sevier. "His ratio to touchbacks, his hang time and his position punting are excellent. Those have been trademarks of the Redskins over the years and those are Kelly's strengths." Especially during the playoffs. Kelly was named special teams player of the week in the divisional playoff win over Atlanta. In the rain, mud and swirling wind that was RFK that day, Kelly booted 4 punts for a 38.8 yard average, with 2 landing inside the 20. During the regular season, Kelly's 190 return yards were the 2nd best figure in the NFC. Plus his inside the 20 ratio to touchbacks was +13 (16 inside the 20/3 touchbacks). Season highlights included a career-high 61 yard punt at Chicago in Week 6 that bounced out of bounds on the 1-yard line (he also had a 51-yarder that game). He averaged 45.5 yards on 4 punts vs. the Giants in Week 8, including punts of 53, 51 and 45 yards. Kelly also punted 4 times for a 45.8 yard average vs. Phoenix in Week 14, including a 42 and 49 yarder. He also added a 52 yard punt against Philadelphia in Week 16.

Pro Career: 1990: Kelly spent the first 3 weeks with the Chiefs before being released. He was signed by the Redskins with 4 games remaining to add consistency to a slumping punting game. He punted just 11 times in 4 games, but 6 of those were placed inside the 20. Kelly saved his best for the playoff win over Philadelphia. He punted 9 times for a 36.9 average with 4 landing inside the 20 giving the Redskins excellent field position which led to 10 points. 1989: Kelly put together his finest season as a pro. His 25 punts inside the 20 were the 3rd-best mark in the league, and his 5 touchbacks tied him for the 3rd fewest in the AFC. Kelly tied a Chief record for most punts in a game with 11 (6 landed inside the 20) against Cleveland.

1988: Kelly punted a career-high 76 times and had 9 go over 50 yards (career high), including a career-high 59-yarder at Denver. In that Broncos game, Kelly punted 3 times for a 55.3-yard average. 1987: A strong showing in the three replacement games led to a call from the Chiefs when their regular punter, Lewis Colbert, was sidelined with a season-ending back injury. Kelly ended the year ranked 5th in the AFC with a 40.9 average and placed 13 kicks inside the 20.

College, Personal: Kelly played just 1 season at Emporia State where he punted 55 times for a 40.8-yard average as a senior. He transferred there from Iowa State where he had spent 4 years (including a redshirt year) on the Cyclone football team. Since entering the NFL, Kelly has been an active participant in his community with the Multiple Sclerosis Society, YouthNet and March of Dimes. He has also done work for the Lukemia Foundation.

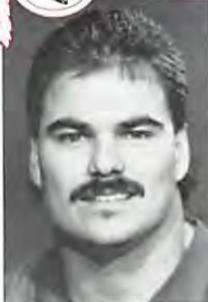

He once had an 86-yard punt in high school. He graduated with a degree in physical education from Emporia State and attended Eastwood High School in Correctionville, IA. He and his wife, Sara, reside in Roeland Park, KS.

Larry Peccatiello designed defensive scheme. Kurt came up with an interception in each game. And none was bigger than his interception on the 1st play of the 3rd quarter against Buffalo in Super Bowl XXVI. With Andre Collins applying pressure on a red dog, Kurt stepped in front of a Jim Kelly pass and rambled 23 yards to the 2-yard line. "Kurt definitely came up with some big plays for us down the stretch," said linebacker coach Larry Peccatiello. "He's excellent against the pass. He's a very intelligent player who puts himself into the right position to make the play." The most versatile member among the Redskins talented linebackers, Kurt can play both inside and outside against the run, but played mostly in nickel situations. His only interception in the regular season came against Chicago in Week 6 that set up a game-clinching 4th quarter field goal. He posted a season-best 6 tackles vs. the Giants in Week 8.

Pro Career: 1990: Kurt started the final 7 games and the increased playing time resulted in a career-high 76 tackles. It was Kurt's 39-yard fumble return for a touchdown on the 3rd play of the game against the Patriots that started the Redskins on their way to the playoff-clinching win. The following week at Indianapolis, Kurt had a season-high nine tackles. In Week 3 vs. the Cowboys at RFK, his sack of Troy Aikman was the 1st full sack of his career. 1989: Against Philadelphia in Week 10, Kurt made his biggest play of the year when he intercepted Randall Cunningham's 3rd down pass on the Redskins' 13-yard line to thwart an Eagles rally and help reserve the 10-3 win. The following week against Denver, Kurt had a season-high 6 tackles. In his only start of the year in Week 12 vs. Chicago, Kurt suffered a bruised thigh that limited his play for the remainder of the year. 1988: Kurt became a special teams leader, and finished the season with a team-high 126 hits. From the linebacker position, Gouveia added 21 tackles. 1987: Kurt was inserted into a starting role in Week 2 against Atlanta, and responded with 13 tackles. In Week 13 vs. Dallas, Kurt moved to outside linebacker, replacing the injured Monte Coleman, and recorded 10 tackles.

College, Personal: Kurt has been on 2 Super Bowl championship teams (1987 and 1991) and played a key role in bringing Brigham Young's team to national prominence, and as a junior played on BYU's No. 1 team. BYU coach Lavelle Edwards called Kurt the best linebacker in Cougar history. He was named all-WAC his senior season, the year the Cougars played in the Citrus Bowl. As a junior, Kurt had 107 tackles and 7 sacks as BYU secured a national championship with a Holiday Bowl victory over Michigan. His high school career is equally impressive. He guided his teams at Waianae High School to 3 straight state titles as a quarterback and defensive back. He became the 1st player in state history to be named Hawaii player of the year on both offense and defense. Born in Honolulu, Kurt majored in recreation management at BYU. Kurt also sits on the advisory board for the state anti-drug program, "No Hope in Dope" in Hawaii and also sponsors a golf tournament to benefit the program. As part of his "No Hope in Dope" program, he started Keola Keiki (Kurt's Kids) and Club 54 Skins as clubs for kids to join in the fight against drugs. He also donates an annual college scholarship to a graduating senior from his high school, who furthers his/her education at a mainland university. Kurt also is the driving force in the Hawaiian chapter of the Make-A-Wish Foundation. He and his wife, Loree, reside in Great Falls, VA, with their 3 children: Landon, 6, Ariel, 4, and Jeron, 3.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

- Darrell has been named to 5 Pro Bowls (1984, 1986, 1987, 1990, 1991).
- His 52-yard punt return for a TD vs. the Bears put the Redskins into the 1987 NFC Championship game.
- He had 3 interceptions vs. Detroit in 1987.
- Darrell's 2 interception returns for TDs in regular season have both come against the Cowboys (1990 and 1984).
- He had a 32-yard INT return for a TD vs. Detroit in the NFC championship game last season and an INT vs. Buffalo in Super Bowl XXVI.

How Acquired: Selected in first round of 1983 draft (28th overall)

Games Played/Started: 130/129 [15/15] - 1983 (16/16)[3/3]; 1984 (16/16)[1/1]; 1985 (16/16); 1986 (16/15)[3/3]; 1987 (12/12)[3/3]; 1988

1991 Season: Calling Darrell Green fast is fast becoming a cliche in the NFL. Now it's simpler to call Darrell, if not the best cornerback in the NFL, then certainly the league's most respected. "Everyone knows about Darrell's speed," said assistant head coach/defense Richie Petitbon. "But now Darrell is the complete cornerback. He has the experience to go along with great speed. He's one of the top players in the game and certainly is at the top of his game." And his peers in the league also felt the same way about Darrell. He was chosen to his 5th Pro Bowl (his 2nd straight as a starter) and was an unanimous All-Pro. Darrell tied for the team lead with 5 interceptions (his best output since 1986) and a team-best 21 passes defensed. Twice Darrell came up with 2 interceptions in the same game. In the season opener vs. Detroit he was named defensive player of the week after picking off 2 passes and later posted a pair of interceptions vs. Philadelphia in Week 5. Those interception opportunities were rare since opponents found it better to throw in any direction other than Darrell's. Still, it was Darrell's pivotal interception in overtime against the Oilers in Week 9 that led to the game winning field goal. And in the postseason, Darrell again was superb with 2 interceptions. In the NFC Championship game, his 4th quarter pickoff put an exclamation point on the Redskins 41-10 victory. And in Super Bowl XXVI, his 2nd quarter interception led to a touchdown and a 17-0 lead at the half. Darrell's regular season bests included a season-high 10 tackles vs. Dallas in Week 12, 6 tackles and 5 pass deflections vs. the Rams in Week 13, 8 tackles vs. Cleveland in Week 7 and, in addition to his INT, 7 tackles vs. Houston. HONORS: Pro Bowl, AP All-Pro, UPI All-NFC, All-Madden, College and Pro Football Newsweekly NFL All-Pro, Sports Illustrated All-Pro, Football News All-NFL, PFWA All-Pro, NEA All-Pro, The Sporting News All-Pro, Pro Football Weekly All-NFL.

Pro Career: 1990: Darrell was named a Pro Bowl starter - his 4th appearance; a 1st-team on the all-NFC team by UPI, Football News and Pro Football Weekly and a 2nd-team all-NFL choice by AP. Darrell opened the year with interceptions the first 3 weeks of the season (a career first). In Week 3 vs. Dallas, Darrell had 7 tackles, 2 pass deflections and capped the Redskin win with an 18-yard interception return for a touchdown. He posted a season-best 10 tackles against the 49ers and also came up with an interception. He also had interceptions against Phoenix and New Orleans to finish with 4 (the most since his 5 thefts in 1986). He also had an interception in the playoff win over Philadelphia. 1989: A fractured wrist in Week 7 against Tampa Bay prematurely ended his season. Against Phoenix, Darrell had 2 first quarter interceptions as the Redskins jumped to an early lead. Despite missing the final 9 games, his 5 pass deflections were 3rd on the squad. 1988: Darrell's worth was again evident in his absence. A broken hand in the 1st quarter of the Week 15 contest versus Dallas opened the door to 3 Cowboy touchdown passes in a 24-17 loss. Before the injury he turned in another consistent season in which he narrowly missed the Pro Bowl. He led the Skins in pass deflections with 14 and also provided a spark on special teams with several timely punt returns. Returns of 13 and 18 yards against the Steelers set up a field goal and touchdown in a 30-29 victory. The best was a 32-yard 4th quarter return versus the Giants. 1987:

In the NFC championship game, Darrell made the last-second hit on the goal line that helped jar the football out of the hands of running back Darrin Nelson, preventing the Vikings from forcing overtime. The performance came despite a torn rib cartilage that kept his playing status in question throughout the week. Green had suffered the injury the previous week during his 52-yard punt return for a touchdown in the 1st round playoff game against the Bears. The return gave the Redskins a 21-14 lead and proved the winning margin. The highlight of his regular season came against Detroit with a career-high 3 interceptions. The last came on the Lions' final possession and preserved a 20-13 victory. His overall performance resulted in a 3rd Pro Bowl appearance. 1986: A succession of big plays led Darrell to his 2nd Pro Bowl. In Week 2, Darrell's interception in the end zone with 30 seconds remaining sealed a 10-6 victory against the Raiders. He was slowed in Week 12 against Dallas when a bruised shoulder forced Darrell from the lineup for the 1st time in his career. His 5 interceptions were a team high. In the playoffs, Darrell intercepted a pass to setup the go-ahead touchdown in a 27-13 upset of the Bears. 1985: Lady luck did not smile on Darrell when punt returns of 99 yards and 73 yards were nullified on successive weeks. Nevertheless, his 13.4 yard average on 16 punt returns was the highest by a Redskin since Eddie Brown's 13.5 in 1976. 1984: There was no sophomore slump for Darrell, who earned a starting Pro Bowl spot in his 2nd season. He had 5 interceptions, 87 tackles, and a team-high 14 deflections, but cemented his all-star berth with one dramatic performance. With the Skins trailing Dallas 21-6 at halftime, Green turned the game around with a 32-yard pass interception for a touchdown.

Later he stopped a Cowboy drive with an interception in the end zone, and the Redskins rallied for a 30-28 come-from-behind victory. 1983: Darrell set the tone for his NFL career the first time he touched the football with a 61-yard punt return in a preseason game against Atlanta. A contract dispute by Jeris White thrust him into the starting lineup against the Cowboys and Darrell left his calling card when he pulled Tony Dorsett down from behind. He completed the year as the team's 4th best tackler with 109, including a team-high 79 stops. His regular season play earned him a runner-up spot as AP NFL Defensive Rookie for the Year, and Football Digest and AP all-rookie teams. However, he saved his best for the postseason where he ran back an interception 72 yards for a touchdown against the Rams.

College, Personal: Darrell is legendary at Texas A&I, where he was named to the Football Coaches all-American Division II team with 56 tackles and 4 interceptions in 1982. The Lone Star Conference Defensive Player of the Year, Darrell was also selected as an AP 1st-team Little all-American. He returned 2 punts for touchdowns as a senior (76 and 96 yards). However, football was only half the story. A 10.08 100 meter clocking was second behind Carl Lewis as a senior. Showing no preference, Darrell was all-state in track and all-city in football at Jones High School in Houston. He has won the "NFL Fastest Man" competition 3 times, winning the 60-yard event over such notable track stars as Willie Gault, Ron Brown and Herschel Walker. Darrell added the title "World's Fastest Athlete," in 1991 winning a competition that included several events. On the personal side, Darrell is very active local youth groups. He founded the Darrell Green Youth Life Foundation which provides financial and moral support for DC youth and their families. He serves as a local VP of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. He also devoted charity time to the Big Brothers of America in the DC area, the homeless, and has worked in several anti-drug campaigns. He has an annual golf tournament to benefit Hope Springs Farm which provides care for orphans, foster children and underprivileged children. Darrell also has testified at a Senate Judiciary Panel for drug prevention as well as appearing as the Redskins representative in the league sponsored United Way commercial. A native of Houston, Darrell and his wife, Jewell, have 3 children, Jarrel 6, Jared, 3, and Joie, 2 and reside in Vienna, VA.

- David, along with running back Brian Mitchell, were all-American quarterbacks in college.
- He led Jacksonville State to the Division II national title as a junior.

How Acquired: Selected in 11th round of 1991 draft (299th overall).

Games Played/Started: 0/0 - 1991 (IR).

1991 Season: It was truly a season of adjustment and learning for David. A quarterback in college, David was switched to safety by the Redskins in minicamp, but a broken wrist against Pittsburgh during a training camp scrimmage stunted his progress. He was placed on IR for the entire year. The Redskins did think enough of his potential to leave him on the club's 37-man protected list during Plan B.

College, Personal: A quarterback at Jacksonville State, David was a 1st-team all-Gulf South Conference as a junior and senior, he ended his career with 5,339 total yards (2,389 rushing/2,950 passing) to go along with a school record 48 rushing touchdowns. As a senior, David gained 800 yards passing and 478 yards on the ground, including 13 rushing TDs. He had a big junior year when he threw for 878 yards (4 TDs) and rushed for an additional 670 yards (16 TDs). He also tied the school record scoring 96 points (16 touchdowns) as a sophomore and finished the year with a career-high 927 yards rushing. David was an all-state and all-America selection at Pell City (AL) High School. He resides in Herndon, VA.

Turnover Ratio

One of the many factors in the Redskins success in 1991 was the club's turnover ratio. In regular season play the Redskins tied for the NFL lead with New Orleans in take-away/give-away with a +18 turnover ratio. In postseason the Redskins again found the winning formula in the take-away/give-away department. Against Atlanta the Redskins were +5, +3 vs. Detroit and +4 vs. Buffalo in Super Bowl XXVI.

How Acquired: Signed as a Plan B free agent on April 1, 1992.

Games Played/Started: 46/17 - SD 1988 (3/1); 1989 (14/0); 1990 (14/4); 1991 (13/13)

1991 Season: George shed his utility role last season and put together his finest year in the NFL. He produced a career-high 32 tackles while starting 13 straight games before a groin injury sidelined him for the remaining 3 games of the year. Before his injury, George had a season-high 5 tackles vs. Atlanta in Week 3 and Kansas City in Week 5. He also had a fumble recovery against Denver in Week 4.

Pro Career: 1990: A valuable back-up at both defensive end and tackle, George still started 4 games and had a season-best 3 tackles and one half sack vs. Houston in Week 4. 1989: George saw action in 14 games and notched 2 1/2 sacks and 24 QB pressures. 1988: Hampered by a foot injury for 13 weeks, George was activated from injured reserve for the remaining 3 games. He quickly gave notice of his abilities with a career-high 3 sacks and 10 tackles.

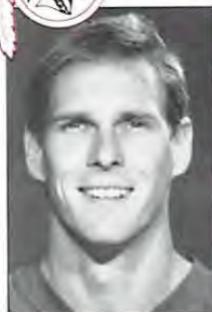

College, Personal: George started 3 years at Arizona and totaled 2 1/2 sacks each season for the Wildcats. He obtained his degree in criminal justice from Arizona after graduating from Pacific High School in Pacific, Missouri. He made Blue Chip Magazine's top rated Gold List as a senior while also earning all-state honors in football. George was honored by his high school who retired his number in 1989. He also spends time speaking to church and youth groups. George is also an avid marksman. He resides in Robertsville, MO.

1991 Season: It was a mixed bag of emotions for Terry in 1991. The low came after, playing well and contributing to the Redskins 6-0 start, a broken arm in the Week 6 win over Cleveland that shelved his regular season. The high came when he was activated for the Super Bowl and played a contributing role on nickel and special teams. "Terry has intelligence, anticipation and very good range," said assistant head coach/defense Richie Petitbon. "He and Brad (Edwards) compliment each other very well and we feel very fortunate to have such great depth at that position." For the season's first 6 weeks, the Redskins enjoyed the luxury of that depth. Terry had a season-high 8 tackles vs. Cleveland before leaving the game with his broken arm. On special teams he had 29 total hits in just 6 games and was among the team leaders at the time of his injury. Against his former Eagle teammates in Week 5 Terry recorded 2 tackles and 3 special teams hits.

Pro Career: 1990: Terry played in all 16 games, including three starts. In the opening 2 weeks of the season, he led the Eagles with 20 tackles and finished the year with 38. He also finished among the team's leaders with 12 special teams tackles. 1989: A leg injury in preseason forced Terry on IR for 9 weeks. He returned for the final 6 games as a nickel back. 1988: Although used in nickel situations, Terry led the Eagles with 8 interceptions (3rd highest total in Eagle history) and finished 2nd in the NFL. He earned 2nd-team all-NFC honors. He had two interceptions and a 38-yard TD run off a fake punt in the season-opening win over Tampa Bay. 1987: Terry finished as the team's 2nd leading tackler with 100, including a career-high 18 tackles at New England. He set up the win in that game by forcing a fumble in overtime. 1986: Terry joined the Eagles as a free agent when New Orleans waived him in preseason. He finished the year 3rd in tackles (112) and started 12 games. 1985: Terry started 13 games for the Saints and finished with 4 interceptions. He returned one of those thefts 52 yards for a touchdown at Green Bay. 1984: Terry saw action in 14 games as a rookie and totaled 27 tackles.

College, Personal: Terry was an unanimous all-America selection as a junior and senior at Georgia. He also placed 5th in the Heisman Trophy voting in 1983 which is the highest finish ever by a defensive back. Terry led the nation, and set a Bulldog record, with 12 interceptions as a junior and was called by former Georgia coach Vince Dooley "the finest defensive back I've ever coached." His future plans may include the investment field, medical school, or a research position. He has been the honorary chairman of Children's Miracle Network Telethon benefiting Children's Hospital. As a high school freshman at Huntsville(TX) High School, he audited a general zoology class at Sam Houston State (taught by his father) and earned the 2nd highest grade in the class. He and his wife Jennifer, have 2 children, Christopher, 7 and Natalie, 2. They reside in Rosemont, PA.

Up Close

- Stephen takes an active role visiting youth in the D.C. metropolitan area participating in the Redskins GamePlan Program.
- One of nine children - his brother Curtis was a USFL teammate of Gary Clark with the Jacksonville Bulls.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

- Stephen's 1st career catch was an 18-yard touchdown against Buffalo in 1990.
- He was the special teams captain in Super Bowl XXVI.
- He led the Redskins in special teams hits with 133 in 1991.

How Acquired: Signed as a Plan B free agent March 7, 1989.

Games Played/Started: 22/0 [5/0] - KC 1988 (IR); WASH 1989 (IR); 1990 (6/0)[2/0]; 1991 (16/0)[3/0]

1991 Season: When Stephen stood with the other captains at midfield of the coin toss for Super Bowl XXVI, it was a moment to savor, and a clear sign of what Redskin coaches thought of his special teams contributions. "He's gone beyond what we thought he could become," said head coach Joe Gibbs. "When we signed him, we were hoping to get a good special teams guy. He's a better receiver and special teams player than we anticipated. He's played extremely well for us and has turned into a very dependable player." Last year it all came together for Stephen. He led the team with 133 special teams hits and was 2nd on the team with 36 special teams tackles. He led the team in special teams hits 5 times and was only twice lower than third. That consistency was rewarded with special teams player of the week honors following Week 3 (Phoenix) and Week 6 (Chicago). He reached double-digit special teams hits in 6 times, including a season-best (and team-best) 13 vs. Atlanta in Week 10. In addition to outstanding special teams play, Stephen provided the Redskins with steady play as the club's 4th wide receiver.

Pro Career: 1990: Stephen was finally brought to the active roster in Week 10 after nearly 2 1/2 seasons on IR. In his pro debut versus the Saints, Stephen returned 4 kickoffs for 53 yards. His 1st NFL catch was good for an 18-yard touchdown against Buffalo. He finished with 32 total hits on special teams to go along with 6 kick returns for 92 yards (15.3 avg.). 1989: Stephen spent the year on injured reserve after coming to the Redskins as a Plan B free agent from Kansas City. A nagging injury to his left knee kept him out of action for the season. 1988: Stephen signed with Kansas City as a rookie free agent, but a sprained left knee in training camp forced him onto IR for the entire season.

College, Personal: During 2 seasons at North Alabama, Stephen caught 64 passes for 940 yards and four touchdowns. He transferred to North Alabama after playing 2 seasons at Copia-Lincoln Junior College in Wesson, MS. There, he earned all-state and all-region honors and was an honorable mention all-America. He is one of the team's top basketball players and owns a vertical leap of 36 inches. Born in Mendenhall, MS, he played quarterback and receiver at Mendenhall High School. Stephen resides in Sterling, VA.

- Stan has hosted a golf tournament that benefited the Retarded Citizens of Prince William County, Virginia.
- His home of Shreveport, LA, is also the hometown of former NFL QBs Terry Bradshaw and Joe Ferguson.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

- Stan tossed 2 TDs in his first career start vs. Phoenix in 1990.
- He passed for a career-high 242 yards vs. the Cardinals in 1990.

How Acquired: Drafted in sixth round of 1988 draft (159th overall).

Games Played/Started: 9/5 [0/0] - 1988 (NFI); 1989 (2/0); 1990 (7/5); 1991 (0/0)

1991 Season: Stan waited in the wings the entire season hoping for an opportunity. But although listed number 2 on the depth chart, Stan was designated as the team's "3rd quarterback" on the weekly de-activation report for 14 of 16 regular season games and the playoffs. "Stan's a very talented guy," said head coach Joe Gibbs. "He knows what it takes to play in this league. Our quarterback situation is always going to get attention, so Stan has to be ready to play when he's needed."

Pro Career: 1990: When Mark Rypien went down with a knee injury in Week 3 vs. Dallas, Stan stepped in and preserved the 19-15 win. In his first career start the following week at Phoenix, Stan led the Redskins to a 38-10 romp over the Cardinals. After completing 2 passes in his first 5 attempts for 15 yards, Stan completed 18 of his next 20 attempts for 242 yards and 2 touchdowns. He finished 20 of 25 for 257 yards, including two 42-yard scoring strikes to Gary Clark. He had 5 starts, including a 13-7 win over Philadelphia. A sprained knee suffered on a Monday Night contest at Philadelphia in Week 9, when he replaced an injured Jeff Rutledge, left Stan on IR for the remainder of the year. 1989: Stan's only regular season playing time came when he finished games against the Los Angeles Raiders and Seattle Seahawks. All of his regular season passing attempts came against the Raiders. 1988: Stan stayed on the sidelines after being placed on the non-football illness reserve list Sept. 3 with bycotopenia, a blood disorder.

College, Personal: Stan learned patience in college, beginning at LSU and transferring to NE Louisiana where he played behind Bubby Brister until his junior season. Stan did not disappoint when his time arrived, earning Southland Conference Player of the Year honors while leading the Indians to a 12-2 record and the NCAA Division I-AA national title as a senior. He completed 94 of 160 passes (58.8 percent) for 1,397 yards and 11 touchdowns in the playoffs. In the championship game, Stan completed 26 of 43 passes for a career-high 436 yards and scored the game-winning touchdown on a 3-yard run in guiding his team to a 43-42 victory over Marshall. He completed 52.1 percent of his 338 passes and was named the Southland Conference Player of the Week on 2 occasions. He received all-SLC honorable mention honors as a junior and ranked 2nd in the conference in both passing and total offense. He twice was named to the school's honor roll while majoring in general studies. Selected all-America at Southwood High School (Shreveport, LA), Stan completed 235 of 458 passes for 3,416 yards and 34 touchdowns in 2 years. His hometown also is the home of quarterbacks Terry Bradshaw and Joe Ferguson. Stan has had a golf tournament to benefit the Retarded Citizens of Prince William County, Virginia. He and his wife, Connie, have a daughter, Brooke, 2, and they reside in Coushatta, LA.

JOE JACOBY

Year	12th
Born	07/06/59

Up Close

• An active supporter and benefactor of the American Heart Association, Joe's annual golf tournament has raised over $225,000 in eight years.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

- Joe was selected to 4 straight Pro Bowls from 1983-86.
- He has started every postseason game under Joe Gibbs (19 games).
- He was the Redskin recipient of the 1990 Ed Block Courage Award.

How Acquired: Signed as a free agent April 20, 1981.

Games Played/Started: 152/138 [19/19] - 1981 (14/13); 1982 (9/9)[4/4]; 1983 (16/16)[3/3]; 1984 (16/16)[1/1]; 1985 (11/11); 1986 (16/16)[3/3]; 1987 (12/12)[3/3]; 1988 (16/13); 1989 (10/10); 1990 (16/6)[2/2]; 1991 (16/16)[3/3]

1991 Season: Joe Gibbs calls it persistence. And offensive line coach Jim Hanifan agrees. "He's one heckuva football player," said Hanifan. "He's come back from injuries, and quite frankly, he played as well last year as he has ever played in his career. That's remarkable considering all he has been through over the years." Remarkable might be an understatement. Considering 2 years ago his career was thought to be finished. But since bouncing back from a near catastrophic knee injury in 1989, Joe has played in every game over the past 2 seasons, including 16 regular season starting assignments last year (20 straight over the past 2 years) and all 3 postseason contests. Joe opened the year at left guard (2 starts), but then switched to right tackle (14 starts) when Ed Simmons went down with a knee injury. Joe was named offensive player of the week for his performance against Phoenix in Week 3.

Pro Career: 1990: Joe battled back from a career-threatening injury to his left knee and played in all 16 games, including six starts in regular season and both playoff games. Jake played a key role whenever and wherever he was needed. In the Week 8 overtime win over the Lions he stepped in for an injured Jim Lachey at left tackle. And when Russ Grimm and Jeff Bostic suffered injuries against Miami, Jake was inserted at left guard. The following week he started at left guard against the Bears. An injury to Ed Simmons in that game moved Joe back to right tackle, where he started the rest of the season. 1989: Joe settled into his nearly-new spot at right tackle, and through 9 games was having a banner year. Slimmer and quicker than in previous years, Jake had cut down on his sacks and QB hurries from '88 and had regained the form that put him in 4 straight Pro Bowls. Then in Week 10 against Philadelphia Joe suffered major ligament damage to his left knee that forced him to undergo reconstructive surgery and miss the final 6 weeks of the season. 1988: Joe started the first 9 games of the year at his usual left tackle spot until a variety of injuries (knee, ankle, groin) sidelined him in Weeks 10-12. When he returned for the season's final 4 games, Jake was switched to right tackle, making room for Jim Lachey on the left side. 1987: Joe faced some of the best defensive ends in the league and allowed only 2 sacks in 3 playoff games and only 5 in 12 regular-season games. "Without a doubt, he had the best season of his career. And you're talking about a guy who has made the Pro Bowl 4 times since coming into the league," said former line coach Joe Bugel after the season. 1986: Joe made the Pro Bowl for the 4th consecutive year and played in every game for the 4th time in 5 seasons despite suffering a broken hand in the Wild Card game against the Los Angeles Rams. He played the next 2 weeks with a protective cast. 1985: If they didn't realize at the time, the Redskins found out how valuable Joe was to their offense. He missed 5 games after spraining his right knee during a practice prior to Game 7, and then re-injuring it against Cleveland. In the 5 games Joe missed, Redskins' runners gained 100 yards or more only once. Joe had started 55 straight games before the injury. Despite the missed playing time, Joe made the Pro Bowl for the 3rd straight time and was named to the UPI 2nd-team all-pro squad. 1984: Joe received the nickname "Jake the Quake" when he fell on a Keith Griffin fumble in the end zone against Minnesota to become the only Washington offensive lineman to ever score a touchdown. In an injury-riddled season, he was one of only 8 players to start every game for the Redskins. In addition to making the Pro Bowl for a 2nd straight year, he was named to the AP all-pro squad, the UPI all-NFC team, The Sporting News all-pro team, the PFWA all-pro team and all-Madden team. He was runner-up to teammate Russ Grimm in USA Today's NFC Lineman of the Year voting. 1983: Joe made his first Pro Bowl. He faced Dallas' Harvey Martin, Philadelphia's Dennis Harrison and St. Louis' Curtis Greer and didn't allow a sack. He limited Raiders' end Lyle Alzado to 1 tackle and 1/2 sack and San Francisco's Fred Dean to 2 tackles and 1 sack. 1982: Joe started all 13 games and played his first full season at left tackle. 1981: Joe signed with the Redskins as a relatively unknown free agent. Coach Joe Gibbs still laughs when he tells the story of how he mistook Jacoby for a defensive lineman the first time the two met. Nevertheless, Joe entered training camp with 7 veterans and 5 draft picks as competition and came out a winner. After alternating between guard and tackle the first 8 weeks, he settled in at left tackle.

College, Personal: The pride of Louisville football, Joe co-captained the Cardinals as a senior and led them to the Independence Bowl. Born and raised in Louisville, Joe received all-America honors at Western High School. He is a dedicated supporter of the American Heart Association and he and his wife, Irene, put together the 8th Annual Joe Jacoby Celebrity Golf Tournament last May. All proceeds went to the American Heart Association. Joe and Irene are extremely involved in the community and have 2 daughters, Lauren, 4, and Jenna, 2., and they reside in Clifton, VA.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

- James posted 11 total special teams hits as a rookie.
- He was the 1st free agent rookie to make the team since 1988.

How Acquired: Signed as a free agent April 25, 1991.

Games Played/Started: 4/0 [3/0] - 1991 (4/0) [3/0]

1991 Season: In a bit of irony, on April 22, 1991 when the curtain came down on the NFL draft, James was not among the 336 players chosen by an NFL team. But on January 26, 1992, James was just 1 of 47 NFL players celebrating a Super Bowl XXVI triumph over the Buffalo Bills. "We liked him from the beginning," said head coach Joe Gibbs. "He's got football smarts. He's a willing worker. James is a good blocker and he's a tough guy. He fits right in with our tight end situation." Although not drafted by the Redskins, James was highly thought of and became the team's most sought after rookie free agent. Impressive during training camp, James cleared waivers after the final 47-player roster was set and was brought back the following day and placed on the practice squad. He was activated Nov. 30 when Ron Middleton was injured. James played as a backup H-back and on special teams the final 4 weeks of the season and into the postseason. He posted 11 total special teams hits with a season-best 5 hits vs. the Eagles in Week 16. James also had a key block on Lawrence Taylor in Week 15 that helped Ricky Ervins sprint 14 yards to the Giants 1-yard line.

College, Personal: James was named the Most Valuable Player at Rutgers after catching a team-high 31 passes for 325 yards as a senior. A back-up tight end as a freshman and sophomore, he started 4 games at linebacker as a junior before making the switch back to tight end as a senior. James was a championship-calibre chess player while growing up on Staten Island. He played in tournaments until high school and now plays just for fun. He studied criminal justice while at Rutgers, and plans to enter graduate school and work towards a master's degree in forensics. He attended Staten Island (NY) High School. James resides in Clifton, VA.

• Figuring the NFL scouts thought he should be a wide receiver, AJ told every team he wanted to play offense when scouts visited the SW Texas State campus. Only the Redskins were interested in him as a cornerback.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

- AJ led the team in interceptions as a rookie in 1989.
- He was named NFC Defensive Player of the Week against Phoenix in 1989.
- He returned an interception 59-yards for a TD vs. the Cardinals in 1989.

How Acquired: Selected in sixth round of 1989 draft (149th overall).

Games Played/Started: 32/8 [5/0] - 1989 (16/8); 1990 (5/0)[2/0]; 1991 (11/0)[3/0]

1991 Season: A quick look at the Redskins' 1991 schedule loaded with run-and-shoot opponents told the Skins one thing — a healthy defensive backfield would be a must. Especially for AJ. After missing 11 games in 1990 because of reconstructive knee surgery, he was hoping to wrestle the starting corner spot from Martin Mayhew in training camp. But AJ's bad break came in the preseason opener at Pittsburgh when he suffered a dislocated bone in his right wrist. Two pins were inserted into his wrist the following day and AJ's promising season was temporarily put on hold. "AJ's an excellent cover guy," said assistant head coach/defense Richie Petitbon. "He has great speed and can play in both man and zone coverage. He has great ability, but injuries have slowed him down." But after being activated from injured reserve vs. Chicago in Week 6, his contributions were many.

Not only was he a tremendous performer in nickel situations, but also on special teams. He was 3rd on the team in passes defensed with 11 and 5th in special teams tackles with 21 (team leader with 7 solo punt coverage tackles). He ended the year with 60 total special teams hits. AJ enjoyed his most productive outing of the year against Houston in Week 9 with 7 tackles, 1 forced fumble and 1 pass defensed. In addition, AJ had his 1st career sack vs. Philadelphia in Week 16.

Pro Career: 1990: After a sterling rookie campaign, reconstructive surgery on his right knee left his status questionable at best. But a flawless rehabilitation program had AJ back in the lineup by Week 12. In just 5 games, AJ posted 5 pass deflections and an interception in nickel coverage. His interception came against the Bears with 1:54 in the game to help seal the 10-9 win. 1989: After starting the year as a nickel back, AJ got his 1st start against Dallas in Week 9. He led the team in interceptions (4) and pass deflections (8). In addition, he was 2nd on the team (7th in the NFC) in kickoff returns with a 21.0 yard average. He was named NFC Defensive Player of the Week following the 29-10 win over Phoenix in Week 13. In that game, AJ had 2 interceptions (one for a 59-yard second half TD to break the game open and the other to set up a 1st half field goal) and 7 tackles. He had a career-high 8 tackles against Chicago.

College, Personal: AJ did a little bit of everything as a standout player at Southwest Texas State. As a cornerback, wide receiver, running back and special teams player, AJ barely had time to catch his breath. In his senior year he was named 2nd-team all-Southland Conference as a receiver (26 catches for 459 yards and 4 TDs) and honorable mention as a cornerback. A native of San Antonio, TX, AJ was a running back at Clemens High School where he rushed for 1,949 yards. He resides in Ashburn, VA.

- Besides earning a Super Bowl ring last season, Joe played in the World Bowl championship game as a member of the Orlando Thunder.
- A D.C native, he played in the prestigious Capital Classic basketball game.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

- Joe had a 99-yard kickoff return for a touchdown vs. the Raiders in 1989 which is the 2nd-longest in club history.
- He led the Redskins in kickoff returns in 1989 and 1990.

How Acquired: Signed as a free agent August 18, 1989.

Games Played/Started: 32/1 [2/0] - BUF 1987 (IR); 1988 (IR); WASH 1989 (15/0); 1990 (15/1) [2/0]; 1991 (2/0)

1991 Season: Despite his small stature, Joe has been a tireless and fearless special teams player, but last season a wrist injury put him on injured reserve on Oct. 5, and with the emergence of Brian Mitchell as a return man, Joe was kept on IR for the entire year. "Joe has been a very hard worker," said offensive assistant/passing game coach Rod Dowhower. "His approach to the game has always been excellent and he's always produced when he's played." In his injury-shortened season, Joe returned all 5 of his kick returns (for 83 yards) against the Cowboys in Week 2. He was placed on the club's inactive list from Weeks 3 through 5 before being placed on IR in Week 6. Joe spent the offseason as a member of the Orlando Thunder of the World League.

Pro Career: 1990: For the 2nd-straight season Joe led the Redskins in kickoff returns with a 19.4-yard average. And besides returning kicks and punts, Joe finished 3rd on the team with 24 special teams tackles, including a team-high 10 special team hits (5 tackles) vs. Phoenix. He caught the first pass of his NFL career on a 17-yarder vs. the Dolphins and caught 2 more for 36 yards in the season finale against Buffalo. 1989: Signed by the Redskins late in training camp, Joe ended as the NFC's 3rd-leading kick returner and was selected by his teammates as special teams MVP. A 99-yard kickoff return for a touchdown against the Raiders in Week 8 was the NFL's longest of the year and the team's first TD return since 1978. His 51-yard kickoff return ignited the Skins to a 26-21 comeback win over San Diego. Joe's 24.9-yard KO return average was the team's best since 1981. 1988: With the Buffalo Bills, Joe suffered a rib injury late in training camp and was placed on injured reserve for the entire season. 1987: After being waived by the Bills in preseason, Joe was re-signed as a member of their replacement team. But before the first strike game, Joe injured his knee and was lost for the year. 1986: Joe was waived by the Bills in preseason. 1985: Signed by Tampa Bay as a free agent, Joe was waived after two preseason games.

College, Personal: At Notre Dame, Joe was a 4-year starter at wide receiver, catching 85 passes for 1,663 yards and 7 TDs. He also started 11 games at point guard on the Notre Dame basketball team as a senior taking the Irish to the NIT title game. Since joining the Redskins, Joe has been very active in community and charity events in his hometown of Washington, D.C. Born Joe Howard, he legally changed his name to Howard-Johnson as a sophomore at Notre Dame, but last year decided to put Johnson on the back of his jersey to honor the family who raised him from birth. He attended Carroll High School along with Redskins administrative assistant/defensive line coach Bobby DePaul and assistant trainer Al Bellamy. He and his wife, Cheryl, have a daughter, Brittany, 1, and they reside in Reston, VA.

- Sidney was one of several Redskin players that took part in a Rap video produced by CBS (performed by Prince) for the Super Bowl pre-game show.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

- His 1st career interception came against the Lions in the 1991 season opener.

- Sidney had 2 interceptions last season

How Acquired: Signed as a free agent October 17, 1990.

Games Played/Started: 38/1 [4/0] - KC 1988 (13/0); WASH 1990 (10/1)[1/0]; 1991 (15/0)[3/0]

1991 Season: Sidney is a perfect example of the consummate team defense philosophy employed by the Redskins. And 2 plays illustrated Sidney's valued role as a nickel cornerback. In the season opener against the Lions, Sidney's 1st career interception ended Detroit's deepest scoring threat with a 3rd quarter pickoff in the end zone. Then in Week 2, Sidney came up with his 1st career sack when he dropped Troy Aikman for -11 yards in the 3rd quarter that helped set the tone for the Redskins comeback victory over the Cowboys. "Sidney made some plays for us last year," said assistant head coach/defense Richie Petitbon. "He's smart and has proven he can play." Again in the Super Bowl, Sidney proved his value. With AJ Johnson and Darrell Green suffering leg cramps, Sidney's playing time increased and he responded with 1 tackle and 2 passes defensed. His 2nd pass interception of the season ended the Week 10 victory over Atlanta. Besides his defensive contributions, Sidney also saw action on the Redskins special teams units. He finished 6th on the team with 21 special teams tackles and had 55 total hits.

Pro Career: 1990: Signed 5 weeks into the season when injuries to the Redskins secondary left the unit thin, Sidney saw extensive action as a nickel back and on special teams. He did get a starting assignment in Week 8 when the Redskins opened in a 6 defensive back set against the run-and-shoot Lions. He responded with a team-high 7 tackles and also forced a fumble and deflected a pass. He finished the year with 31 special team tackles. He began the year in Kansas City and was waived in training camp.

1989: Sidney joined Tampa Bay as a Plan B free agent and was waived before the start of the season. 1988: He played in 13 games for Kansas City making 8 tackles, deflecting 5 passes and forcing a fumble. He tied for second on the Chiefs with 18 special teams tackles. 1987: Sidney signed with the Chiefs as a rookie free agent, but missed all of his rookie campaign with a knee sprain suffered in training camp.

TIM JOHNSON

78

Pos.	Defensive Tackle
College	Penn State
Height	6-3
Weight	283
Year	6th
Born	01/29/65

Up Close

- Tim graduated with a degree from Penn State in hotel, restaurant and institutional management.
- Along with HS teammate and current Ram Pat Carter, he runs a football camp in Sarasota, FL.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

- Tim was named NFC Defensive Player of the Week in Wild Card playoff victory over Philadelphia in 1990.
- He picked up his 1st career interception vs. Philadelphia in Week 16 last year.
- He has had three 2-sack games during his career.
- Tim had a career-high 4 1/2 sacks in 1989 as a Steeler.

How Acquired: Obtained on August 22, 1990 in a trade with Pittsburgh for a fourth round draft choice in 1991.

Games Played/Started: 73/44 [7/7] - PGH 1987 (12/0); 198 (15/12); 1989 (14/14)[2/2]; WASH 1990 (16/2)[2/2]; 1991 (16/16)[3/3]

1991 Season: At a solid 283 pounds on a 6-3 frame, stopping the run appears to be a natural for Tim. And it is. He led all Redskins defensive linemen with a career-high 82 tackles. What opponents didn't count on was his explosive quickness. Tim had 3 1/2 sacks, tied for 5th on the team with 17 quarterback hurries and was 2nd on the team with 8 tackles for losses. "Tim is very quick and he never gives up on any play," said defensive line coach Torgy Torgeson. "He's smart and he works hard. He's all you could ask for in a defensive tackle." And more. His season bests included 9 tackles (1 tackle for loss) vs. the Giants in Week 8 and 8 tackles (2 for loss) vs. Dallas in Week 12. Tim turned in an impressive day when he dominated the Rams offensive line with 7 tackles (1 for loss), 3 QB hurries and 1 pass defensed. Against Atlanta in Week 10 Tim had 7 tackles and a season-best 1

1/2 sacks. And in the Redskins home-field clinching win at Phoenix in Week 14 he had 7 tackles (1 for loss) and 1 sack for minus 11 yards. Tim also registered his 1st career interception against Philadelphia in Week 16.

Pro Career: 1990: Making his 1st start at defensive tackle vs. Philadelphia in the playoffs, Tim sacked Randall Cunningham twice (for 16 yards in losses), pressured Cunningham into another sack, had 5 tackles and 1 forced fumble. His performance was instrumental in the Redskins 20-6 win as he was chosen NFC Defensive Player of the Week. Tim had mostly been used in passing situations throughout the regular season starting only 2 games. In Week 6, Tim again was a nemesis to the Eagles with 2 sacks and a QB hurry in the Redskin win. In addition to his 3 regular season sacks, Tim added 7 QB hurries, 3 passes defensed and forced 1 fumble.

1989: Tim started 14 games for Pittsburgh, finished with 35 tackles (33 solos) and a career-high 4 1/2 sacks. He notched a career-high 2 sacks vs. Minnesota to earn the game ball. 1988: Tim led the Steelers with 4 sacks and was the 2nd leading tackler on the defensive line with 34 stops. He had a season-high 6 tackles, including 1 sack against Philadelphia. Tim posted a season-high 2 sacks vs. the Jets. 1987: Tim played in 12 games as a backup at defensive tackle.

College, Personal: A 2-year starter and 4-year letterman at defensive end and defensive tackle, Tim compiled 91 tackles, 9 sacks and 1 interception during his career at Penn State. He had 5 sacks as a senior right defensive tackle, earning 1st-team Walter Camp all-America honors and was named 2nd-team by the Associated Press. Tim is an active participant in the community helping out with Christmas food distribution and speaking at assemblies. Tim is from Sarasota, FL and attended Sarasota High School. He and his wife, LeChelle, have a daughter, Christa, 5, and they reside in Ashburn, VA.

JIM LACHEY

Pos.	Tackle
College	Ohio State
Height	6-6
Weight	294
Year	8th
Born	06/04/63

Up Close

- Jim is co-chairperson of the Ronald McDonald House and is on the board of directors for the Salesian Boys Club.
- He contributes an endowment to Ohio State which generates a football scholarship annually in his name.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

- Jim has played in 3 Pro Bowls. Twice as a member of the NFC squad (1990 and 1991) and once on the AFC (1987) team.
- He was named NFC Offensive Player of the Week vs. Miami in 1990.
- Jim has been an unanimous 1st-team all-pro selection in each of the past 3 seasons.

How Acquired: Obtained on September 3, 1988 in trade with Los Angeles Raiders for Jay Schroeder.

Games Played/Started: 105/103 [5/5] - SD 1985 (16/16); 1986 (16/15); 1987 (12/12); LA 1988 (1/1); WASH 1988 (15/14); 1989 (14/14); 1990 (16/16)[2/2]; 1991 (15/15)[3/3]

1991 Season: Mark Rypien never had to look over his shoulder in 1991. Not with Jim protecting his backside. Considered the premier left tackle in the NFL, Jim, for the 2nd year in a row, did not allow an opposing defender to record a sack. And when he wasn't keeping the pocket free from charging defensive linemen, he was cutting a wide lane for Earnest Byner and Ricky Ervins on the Redskins patented "Counter Trey." Not only did the Redskins allow a league-low 9 sacks (team record), but the Skins boasted the league's 7th best rushing attack (128.1 yards per game). And naturally, Jim was a big reason for that success. "Everyone knows he's one of the top two, if not the best, offensive linemen in the league," said offensive line coach Jim Hanifan. "He has such a great understanding of the game. He loves to practice. He loves to study. He has a great desire to get better and better." Jim was named offensive player of the week by Redskin coaches 3 times following Week 8 vs. the Giants, Week 14 vs. Rams and Week 15 vs. Cardinals. He missed only 1 game (Week 10 vs. Atlanta) with a sprained knee suffered in the Week 9 win over Houston. HONORS: Pro Bowl, AP All-Pro, UPI All-NFC, All-Madden, College and Pro Football Newsweekly NFL All-Pro, Football News All-NFC, PFWA All-Pro, NEA All-Pro, The Sporting News All-Pro, Pro Football Weekly All-NFL.

Pro Career: 1990: Jim was named the top vote getter at left tackle for the Pro Bowl, and was named the NFC's Offensive Lineman of the Year. Jim was named the NFC Offensive Player of the Week in the Week 12 win over Miami (only the 2nd offensive lineman in 6 years to win the award). He did not give up a sack all season on his way to earning 1st-team honors from AP, PFWA, The Sporting News, Football Digest, Pro Football Newsweekly, Pro Football Weekly, NEA, UPI, Football News and all-Madden. 1989: Jim regained the form that put him in the 1987 Pro Bowl as he was named a 1st team all-Pro by AP, The Sporting News, Pro Football Weekly, all-Madden and first team all-NFC by UPI. He was a second team all-Pro by College and Pro Football Weekly. His crunching blow to the Raiders' Jerry Robinson in Week 8 was selected as Sport Magazine's Hit of the Year and epitomized his strength and power. As the season progressed, Jim overcame a variety of injuries (he missed Week 9 and 10 against Dallas and Philadelphia with a bruised shoulder and dislocated thumb) and several changing faces around him to form the cornerstone of a line that allowed the second fewest sacks (21) in the league. 1988: It was a year of transition for Jim. Just prior to training camp he was traded from San Diego to the LA Raiders. Following LA's opener he was sent from the Raiders to Washington. Before he could even catch his breath, he was switched from right to left tackle. Through it all, Jim started 14 games and gave the Redskins a solid season. 1987: Jim made this 1st Pro Bowl appearance when an injury moved him into the game from his alternate slot. He was also a 2nd team all-NFL choice by AP and first team all-AFC choice by UPI while earning his 2nd straight lineman of the year selection from his teammates. 1986: There was no sophomore slump for Jim, who was voted Pro Bowl alternate by AFC players. Charger teammates voted him as the team's lineman of the year. 1985: The fifth offensive lineman selected in 1985 draft and the 12th player overall, Jim made an immediate impact with the Chargers. He moved into the starting lineup at left tackle on opening day playing beside veteran Ed White and displayed a maturity and savvy unusual for a 1st year player. His performance did not go unnoticed. Jim was named to the all-rookie teams by UPI, Football Digest, and the PFWA. UPI also named him 2nd team all-AFC and first team all-Pro by the Rocky Mountain News.

College, Personal: Jim left a mark on Ohio athletics on the high school and college levels. He played guard for the Ohio State Buckeyes and earned all-America honors from the Football Writers and UPI as a senior along with all-Big 10 honors. Jim also played in the East-West Shrine game. He earned a degree in marketing from OSU. Green Bay Packer quarterback Mike Tomczak was the best man at Jim's wedding. Jim served as the Honorary Chairman for the 1991 Multiple Sclerosis READaTHON Program. Jim also owns a chain of furniture stores back in his native Ohio. Buckeye bred, he grew up in St. Henry, OH, and played football, basketball and track for the St. Henry High School Redskins where his father is the athletic director. In track, Jim ran the 100 meters (11.2), 200 meters (22.7), 400-meter relay, and shot put (61-5) and started as a sophomore forward on a state basketball champion basketball team. Jim and his wife, Ann, have a baby daughter, Paige, and they reside in Fairfax, VA

CHIP LOHMLIER

Pos.	Kicker
College	Minnesota
Height	6-3
Weight	210
Year	5th
Born	07/16/66

Up Close

- Chip is involved in D.A.R.E. "Commitment to Excellence" program in local schools around Minneapolis.
- His parents reside in Antwerp, Belgium.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

- He was named to his 1st Pro Bowl last season.
- Chip's 505 points are the most by any player in NFL history after 4 years in the league.
- He has booted 7 game-winning field goals.
- In 1991, he became the 1st player to outscore an entire team over the season since 1945. Chip outscored the Colts 149-145.
- Chip led the NFL in scoring and field goals (tied) in 1991.
- He led the NFC in scoring and field goals in 1990.
- He tied a club record 5 made field goals vs. the Bills in 1990 and vs. Philadelphia in 1991 season finale.
- Chip tied an NFL record with 2 50+ field goals in the same quarter vs. Indianapolis in 1990 and vs. Dallas in 1991 (Week 2).

How Acquired: Selected in second round of 1988 draft (55th overall).

Games Played/Started: 64/0 [5/0] - 1988 (16/0); 1989 (16/0); 1990 (16/0)[2/0]; 1991 (16/0)[3/0]

1991 Season: Chip finally arrived in 1991. At least his peers in the NFC thought enough of him to name him the Pro Bowl kicker. And for good reason. Chip led the NFL in scoring with 149 points (2nd most in club history). He was chosen the NFC Offensive Player of the Week after kicking field goals of 53, 52, 45 and 46 yards in the Redskin Monday Night win over Dallas in Week 2. He was a model of consistency inside the 40-yard line, making 37 of his last 39 attempts. He was just as effective kicking off. Chip had 34 of his 100 kickoffs not returned. "It has all been part of the maturing process for Chip," said special teams coach Wayne Sevier. "Physically, he has the potential to do it. Now, he has put everything together. He should continue to get better and stronger. He's really on his way to becoming one of the league's truly outstanding kickers." It has been Chip's week-in and week-out consistency that backs up that claim. In the playoffs, Chip was 6 for 10 (3 of those misses came in the rain and mud against Atlanta), including 3 for 3 in Super Bowl XXVI. He was 56 of 56 in PATs (2nd most made in club history) and now has made 169 straight (team record). There were also plenty of pressure opportunities for Chip in 1991. He hit the game winning 41-yard field goal (7th game winning kick of his career) in overtime vs. Houston in Week 9. Against Phoenix in Week 14, his 42 and 27-yard 4th quarter field goals provided the decisive points in the 20-14 win. In the 56-17 win over Atlanta in Week 10, Chip converted on 8 PATs (2nd most in club history and the most in 1 game since 1966). Chip ended the regular season at Philadelphia in typical style tying a club record 5 field goals (a record he already shared) in a game (21, 35, 38, 47 and 47 yards). HONORS: Pro Bowl, UPI All-NFC College and Pro Football Newsweekly NFL All-Pro 1st team, Football News All-NFC, AP All-Pro 2nd team, The Sporting News All-Pro, Pro Football Weekly All-NFC.

Pro Career: 1990: Chip clearly established himself as one of the league's best kickers. He entered the NFL record book by pushing his consecutive games field goal streak to 28 games (the streak ended November 12 at Philadelphia when he did not have an attempt), which is tied for 2nd all-time with Jim Turner. Chip's 131 points were tops in the NFC and second in the NFL, and was the 3rd best mark in Redskins history. His 30 field goals were the most made by any NFC kicker and were 2nd in the league. At the end of the year, Chip connected on 12 straight field goals (including 3 for 3 in the playoffs). He tied a club record with 5 field goals vs. Buffalo and tied an NFL record with 2 50+ field goals (53 and 56) in 1 quarter at Indianapolis. His 56-yarder was the 2nd longest in club history. Chip closed out the year nailing 20 of his final 23 attempts with all 3 misses coming from 50+ yards. He also booted 2 game winning field goals, defeating the Lions with a 34-yarder in overtime and a 35-yarder vs. Chicago with 2:14 remaining. He was a 2nd team all-NFL choice by Pro Football Weekly and The National.

1989: Chip's 128 points were 2nd in the NFL and his 40 field goal attempts were tops in the league, while his 29 converted field goals tied him for 2nd in the NFL. In Weeks 1-8, Chip hit 16-of-18 field goals (including the last 8 games of '88, he was 25-of-28 over a 16-game span) and had a streak of 10 straight, including 3 each in consecutive wins at Dallas and New Orleans in Weeks 3 and 4. Against the Saints, Chip hit the game-winner (an 18-yarder) in the 16-14 victory. In the come-from-behind win over San Diego in Week 14, Chip nailed 4 field goals (including a 28-yarder that sealed the win) and received a game ball for his efforts. For the year Chip had consecutive FG made streaks of 10, 6 and 8 and his 29 made were the 3rd best in Redskin history. 1988: Chip kicked 3 game-winning FGs in his rookie year and finished the year on a 9-for-10 tear. In week 10 vs. New Orleans, Chip nailed a 23-yarder with under a minute to play to give the 'Skins a 27-24 win. Four weeks later, Chip improved on his flair for the dramatics when he connected on a 44-yarder with 1 second remaining to beat Philadelphia, 20-19.

College, Personal: Chip is regarded as the best kicker in University of Minnesota history, and his records reflect that reputation. He broke school records for the longest field goal (62 yards), field goals made (53), and points scored (254). As a senior, he converted 16 of 19 field goals and all 27 extra point tries. For his career, he converted 57 of 73 field goal tries and 97 of 99 extra points. He was chosen 1st team all-Big 10 as a junior and 2nd team as a senior. As a sophomore, he kicked a school record 10 consecutive field goals. He also picked up valuable punting experience, punting 20 times for 693 yards (34.7 avg.). Chip's charity work includes the Chip Lohmiller Kick-off Classic Golf Tournament to benefit the American Kidney Fund, March of Dimes, Ronald McDonald House "McKicks for Kids" and the Say No to Drugs campaign. He also has a pilot's license. As a junior high school student in Dallas, Chip was a teammate of current Green Bay Packers kicker Chris Jacke. Chip was an all-state performer at Woodbury (MN) High School, and also earned letters in hockey, golf, and track. His hobbies include snowmobiling, fishing and golf. His parents reside in Antwerp Blegium, where his father manages operations for 3M. Chip resides in Centreville, VA.

Scoring Streak

Washington led the NFL in most consecutive quarters scoring points with 16 last season. The Redskins were the only team in the NFL to have more than one 10 quarter scoring streak.

CHARLES MANN

71

Pos.	Defensive End
College	Nevada-Reno
Height	6-6
Weight	272
Year	10th
Born	04/12/61

Up Close

- Charles served as the honorary chairperson for the D.C. Cares Campaign and was the Grand Marshall of the Cherry Blossoms Festival.
- He sits on the advisory board for the Metropolitan Police Boys and Girls Club.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

- Charles has been selected to 4 Pro Bowls (1987-89 and 1991).
- His 77 sacks are 2nd in club history.
- Charles' 14 1/2 sacks in 1985 were a career-high.

How Acquired: Selected in third round of 1983 draft (84th overall).

Games Played/Started: 135/118 [15/12] - 1983 (16/1)[3/0]; 1984 (16/15)[1/1]; 1985 (16/16); 1986 (15/15)[3/3]; 1987 (12/12)[3/3]; 1988 (14/13); 1989 (16/16); 1990 (15/15)[2/2]; 1991 (15/15)[3/3]

1991 Season: If the "old" Mann wasn't enough trouble for opposing quarterbacks, running backs and offensive lineman, the "new" Mann must have been especially menacing in 1991. After a sub-par 1990 (by his standards), when a painful right knee lowered his performance level, Charles was looking for redemption in 1991 and a return to the Pro Bowl. He got both. After undergoing a 6th arthroscopic procedure on his right knee in the offseason, Charles returned to the level of a player who is considered one of the NFL's best defensive ends. His sack total was up from 5 1/2 in 1990 to 11 1/2. And he returned to the Pro Bowl for the 4th time in 5 seasons. "Charles had an excellent season," said defensive line coach Torgy Torgeson. "He played with consistency all season and he made big plays." Charles' sack total was 5th in the NFC and he had 5 multiple sack games. In addition, he was 2nd on the team with 25 QB hurries and had at least 1 quarterback hurry in 13 of 15 games. His best day of the season followed the birth of his son when Charles had been up the entire night with his wife who gave birth at 6:45 a.m. In the Week 3 shutout of the Cardinals, Charles finished with 5 tackles (1 for loss), 2 sacks, 1 forced fumble, 1 fumble recovery and 3 QB hurries. Other highlights included a season-best 9 tackles vs. Houston in Week 9 and 7 tackles, 1 1/2 sacks, and 3 hurries vs. the Rams in Week 13. He also had 2 sacks, 1 forced fumble, 1 hurry and 1 pass deflection vs. Cleveland in Week 7 and a 2-sack effort vs. Philadelphia in Week 5. But he saved his biggest play of the year in the NFC championship game against Detroit. On the game's 1st offensive play, Charles sacked Detroit quarterback Erik Kramer and caused a fumble that Fred Stokes recovered. HONORS: Pro Bowl, All-Madden, College and Pro Football Newsweekly NFL All-Pro 2nd team, AP All-Pro 2nd team.

Pro Career: 1990: Charles' 5 1/2 sacks were 3rd best on the team and he had a team-high 23 QB hurries. In the Redskins stretch run into the playoffs, it was Charles who continually came up with big plays. His sack of Bears' QB Jim Harbaugh with :05 left in the game preserved the 10-9 Redskin victory and in the playoff clinching victory at New England, Charles had 8 tackles, a sack, a forced fumble and 2 QB hurries. In the Wild Card playoff game at Philadelphia, Charles threw Heath Sherman for a 1-yard loss on 1st and goal from the 2, and then followed that up with an 8-yard sack of Randall Cunningham on 3rd and goal forcing the Eagles into a field goal. 1989: Charles managed to post some of his best numbers in being named to his 3rd straight trip to the Pro Bowl and was a UPI 2nd team all-NFC choice. He set personal-bests for tackles (93) and QB hurries (team-high 31), led the team in sacks with 9 1/2, forced 2 fumbles and made 1 recovery. 1988: Injuries throughout the year hindered Charles from having what he hoped would be a record-breaking year. Nonetheless, Charles' peers thought enough of his play to select him to his 2nd straight Pro Bowl on the merit of his 68 tackles, 5 1/2 sacks and a team-high 17 QB hurries. 1987: Charles finished the season with a team-high 10 sacks, 21 QB hurries and 80 tackles, 6th on the team and 1st among defensive linemen. He registered 2 or more sacks in 4 of 12 regular-season games and made his 1st Pro Bowl trip. 1986: Charles picked up in '87 where he had left off in '86. He had 10 sacks and 16 QB hurries, both 2nd on the team. 1985: Charles' 14 1/2 sacks ranked fourth in the NFC and 2nd on the team. He added 21 hurries and 85 tackles and was just one of 11 players on the team to start every game in an injury-filled season. 1984: Charles started the final 15 games and finished with 85 tackles, 7 1/2 sacks, 15 hurries and 3 forced fumbles. 1983: Redskins' coaches held high opinions of Charles when they drafted him, but they brought him along slowly as a rookie, playing him at left end behind Todd Liebenstein.

College, Personal: At Nevada-Reno, Charles was voted the Most Valuable Defensive Lineman in the Big Sky Conference in 1981 and '82. As a senior, his 14 sacks led the conference. He finished 3rd on the team with 76 tackles and was voted a Division I-AA all-American. Off the field, Charles works as hard as he does when he's playing. He has dabbled in real estate, modeling, acting and broadcasting. In the past he hosted a Thanksgiving special "Redskins Review" and served as a commentator on his own local radio show "Mann About Town." He has appeared in the national Diet Coke ads with other star players from the NFL and has also appeared in television commercials for McDonalds and Swanson's Dinners. Charles also devotes much of his free time to charity, working with the March of Dimes, Special Olympics, Childrens' Hospital, Children's Miracle Network Telethon, House of Ruth (shelter for abused women), Ronald McDonald House and Border Babies. Charles and his wife, Tyrena, have a daughter, Camille, 4, and a son, Cameron, 1, and they reside in Great Falls, VA.

- He has surpassed 100 tackles 5 straight seasons, including a career-high 135 last season.
- He has been chosen NFC Defensive Player of the Month twice in his career —October of 1991 and December of 1986.
- He has played on 2 Super Bowl championship teams (1991 Redskins and 1985 Bears).
- Wilber has returned 2 interceptions for touchdowns (1991 and 1986).

1991 Season: Over and over again, Wilber insisted to anyone who asked that he did what the coaches asked him to do. Redskin coaches expected a lot from Wilber in 1991. And he delivered. Better yet, his play bordered on the spectacular last season. "We asked a lot from Wilber last season," said linebacker coach and defensive coordinator Larry Peccatiello. "We switched him from the weakside (right side) to the strongside opposite the tight end. And he handled it well and probably had his best year." A look at the numbers backs up that claim. Wilber recorded 135 tackles (career high), 5 1/2 sacks (his best total since 1986), tied for 2nd in the NFC with 5 interceptions (tied career high), led the team with 11 tackles for losses and was named the NFC Defensive Player of the Month for October. But those numbers were only an appetizer for the playoffs. Wilber posted 18 tackles, 4 sacks, 2 passes defensed, 2 forced fumbles and 1 fumble recovery in 3 playoff contests. And in Super Bowl XXVI, Wilber was utterly devastating. He led the team with 11 tackles and 2 forced fumbles and made mulch of Buffalo's offense the entire afternoon. In October, Wilber put together 3 outstanding efforts that earned him his NFC Defensive Player of the Month honors. In his 1st trip back to his old haunts in Chicago, Wilber recorded 12 tackles, 1 QB hurry, 1 pass defensed and an interception, fittingly on the last play of the game. The following week against the Browns, Wilber again reached double digit tackles with 11, forced 1 fumble, recovered a fumble, had 1 QB hurry and 1 interception. And in Week 8 vs. the Giants, he recorded 10 tackles and once again came up with the game-ending interception. Other season highlights included 2 interceptions vs. Phoenix in Week 3 with 1 pickoff returned 54 yards for a touchdown. He also recorded double figure tackles vs. Houston (10), vs. Rams (11) and vs. the Giants (10). He also had a 2-sack effort vs. Dallas in Week 12. HONORS: UPI All-NFC, All-Madden, Football News All-NFC, AP All-Pro 2nd-team, NEA All-Pro 2nd-team.

Pro Career: 1990: For the 3rd straight season Wilber tallied over 100 tackles, including a team-high 10 behind the line of scrimmage. In addition to his 107 tackles, Wilber had 5 sacks and led the team with 2 forced fumbles, was 2nd with 2 recovered fumbles and was 3rd in QB hurries with eight. In the Week 16 win over AFC champion Buffalo, he was named NFC Defensive Player of the Week had a personal hand in thwarting Buffalo's first 3 possessions. Wilber came up with a 10-yard sack to end the 1st drive, recovered a fumble on the 2nd and caused a fumble on the 3rd. In a Week 13 win over Chicago, Wilber recorded a team-high 11 tackles and posted a season-high 13 tackles to go along with a sack against Dallas. 1989: Wilber's durability (he was one of four defensive players to start all 16 games) allowed him to be on the field every week, and he subsequently posted some of the best numbers of his career. He finished 3rd in tackles with 108, 1st in tackles behind the line with 8, 2nd in QB hurries with 14, and 3rd in sacks with 4. Wilber also led the team in recovered fumbles (2) and added an interception, a forced fumble, and a pass deflection. In the Week 3 win over Dallas, Wilber showed his versatility, as he made 4 tackles, a sack (-5 yards), a QB hurry, an interception (18-yard return), and a pass deflection. Late in the season, Wilber had a string of big games in wins over Phoenix (8 tackles, 1 sack), San Diego (8 tackles) and Atlanta (4 tackles, 1 QB hurry, game-clinching sack). 1988: Wilber became the 1st NFL free agent to switch teams since 1977. And he responded with quality numbers. His 133 tackles (4th on team) were by far his career-best, and he finished among the team's top 3 in interceptions (2nd with 3), forced fumbles (team leader with 3), and sacks (third with 4). Despite an injured knee, Wilber was one of only 7 Redskins to start every game. 1987: Wilber earned his 2nd Pro Bowl trip after finishing 3rd in tackles with 93, including 53 solos. He was spectacular in the season opener against the Giants, making 3 sacks. Ironically, he concluded his career in Chicago as the Bears' leading tackler (8) in a divisional loss to the Redskins. 1986: A typical Marshall season earned Wilber a trip to the Pro Bowl and consensus all-pro status. He began the year with a 58-yard interception return for a touchdown on opening day. On Oct. 26, he scored the Bears' only touchdown in a 13-7 win over the Lions. He sacked Eric Hippel, stripped the ball, and ran 12 yards for the score. He was named NFC Player of the Month for December. His 5 interceptions were the most by a Bears' linebacker since 1976. 1985: Wilber emerged as a starter while the Bears became Super Bowl champions. Although missing 1 game with the flu, he finished 3rd in tackles with 78 and 4th in sacks with 6. He also led Bear linebackers with 4 interceptions. He made 8 tackles and 2 interceptions to key a victory over the Vikings. The playoffs brought more. Against the Rams, Wilber recorded his 1st NFL touchdown with a 52-yard fumble return, and followed with a sack and fumble recovery in Super Bowl XX. 1984: The Bears gradually worked Wilber into the system, using him primarily on special teams and in short-yardage situations. He started 1 game - against Dallas on Nov. 30.

College, Personal: This Gator garnered virtually every honor at Florida as a consensus all-America and a Lombardi Award finalist as a senior. With opponents trying to avoid him his senior season, he still recorded 95 tackles, 2 interceptions, 8 tackles for losses, and 6 sacks. His foes were not as wise the previous season. He made 123 tackles and 6 sacks. His 11 sacks as a sophomore broke the Florida single-season record. He earned all-America honors and was the Florida High School Player of the Year at Astronaut High School in Titusville, FL, while also being named to the Academic all-America team. He is 1 of 13 children, given the name Wilber Buddyhia Marshall by his Bahamian-born father. He and his wife, Janelle, have 2 daughters, Brittany, 2, and Bryanna, and they reside in Great Falls, VA.

Up Close

- Martin is working towards his law degree at Georgetown University School of Law.
- He has helped fund a Youth Agricultural Training Program in Senegal as part of his work with Africare.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

- Martin led the Redskins with 7 interceptions in 1990 and has recorded a team-best 10 over the last 2 seasons.
- He returned an interception 31 yards for a TD vs. Dallas in 1991 for his 1st career TD.
- He posted a single-game high 2 interceptions vs. the Cardinals in 1990.
- Martin has posted back-to-back 100 tackle seasons.

How Acquired: Signed as a Plan B free agent March 7, 1989.

Games Played/Started: 48/38 [5/5] - BUFF 1988 (IR); WASH 1989 (16/7); 1990 (16/15)[2/2]; 1991 (16/16)[3/3]

1991 Season: An often repeated cliche is to play each game one at a time. But that's exactly been Martin's approach, and with great success. And who would have thought when Martin was signed as a Plan B free agent in 1989 that he would end up starting 30 straight games and 43 of the last 44 games (including playoffs)? "When he came here, we thought he'd be a good backup," said head coach Joe Gibbs. "But he's made himself better and better. He doesn't get beat deep, he's smart and he's a good tackler. I'm sold on Martin." With Darrell Green on the opposite corner, Martin has had plenty of chances to back up those words of praise. He finished 2nd on the team with 16 passes defensed and had 3 interceptions, including a 31-yard return for a touchdown vs. the Cowboys in Week 12. In fact, his 10 interceptions over the last 2 seasons is the most by any Redskin. Martin's best effort of the year came at Pittsburgh in Week 11 with 10 tackles, 1 forced fumble, 1 fumble recovery and 1 interception (1st of the year). He followed that game with interceptions in 2 of his next 3 games (vs. Dallas in Week 12 and Phoenix in Week 14). He also had an interception vs. Atlanta in the playoffs. Martin's top tackle effort came in Week 7 vs. Cleveland with 12 stops. Besides posting his 2nd straight 100 tackle season (career-high 108), Martin also was a standout on special teams finishing 5th with 78 special teams hits.

Pro Career: 1990: From beginning to end, each week Martin proved he belonged in the NFL. He opened the year with 2 interceptions vs. Phoenix and in the Redskin playoff victory at Philadelphia he limited the Eagles to 1 catch in his area. At the end of the year, Martin led the club with 7 interceptions (3rd best in the NFL), including 4 in a crucial 4-week (Week 9 through 12) stretch of the season. It was Martin's 1st quarter interception against Dan Marino that led to the Redskins 1st touchdown and started the 42-20 rout of the Dolphins. He also had pass thefts against Dallas, Philadelphia, New Orleans and Buffalo. He recorded 104 tackles and had 4 double-digit tackle efforts (10 each vs. Chicago, Dallas and San Francisco), including a career-high 13 vs. Philadelphia. 1989: Slated for backup special teams duty after signing with the Redskins as a Plan B free agent, he got his chance to start Week 10 against Philadelphia. His performance resulted in a game ball and Martin remained in place as the Redskins compiled a 6-1 record down the stretch. His biggest play came against San Diego when he broke up a 4th down pass in the end zone to preserve a 26-21 win. 1988: Martin spent his rookie year in Buffalo on injured reserve because of a wrist injury early in training camp.

College, Personal: In 4 seasons at Florida State, Martin totaled 186 tackles, intercepted 5 passes, had 24 deflections and recovered 3 fumbles. He made 2 starts as a junior but missed the Seminoles' All-American Bowl game against Indiana after suffering a knee injury late in the season. He started at left cornerback as a sophomore and was named to the 2nd team all-South Independent squad. He also ran track and was a member of the Seminoles' 400-meter relay team that qualified for the NCAA's in '86. Martin had better than a 3.0 GPA and earned a degree in management in 3 1/2 years. He was working in the banking business in North Carolina when the Bills drafted him. He has been accepted to Georgetown University law school and has started to attend classes. He is also heavily involved in Africare, a development organization specializing in Africa, to support an on-farm training project for disadvantaged youth in a rural village in Senegal and Mali. He helped raise funds to build a well and a dormitory in the village of Koutchie in Senegal. He also volunteers time to Africare headquarters in Washington throughout the year. He attended Florida High School (a lab school on the campus of Florida State) in Tallahassee, FL. Martin resides in Ashburn, VA.

- His 1962 Chevy Bel Air became a collector's antique in 1992.
- Alvoid was packing orange juice in the summer of 1990 waiting for an NFL team to call when the Redskins invited him to training camp.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

- Alvoid had a sack and caused a fumble on the same play in Super Bowl XXVI.
- His 1st career interception ended a Falcon scoring drive in the end zone in Week 10 last year.

How Acquired: Signed as a free agent May 17, 1990

Games Played/Started: 28/1 [5/0] - 1990 (15/1)[2/0]; 1991 (13/0)[3/0]

1991 Season: ESPN's Chris Berman was bellowing his name during post-game highlights after his apparent fumble recovery and return for a touchdown was nullified in the NFC Championship game. John Madden was heaping praise on his 3rd quarter blitz and sack of Jim Kelly that caused a fumble in the Super Bowl. There even was a picture of his Kelly sack in Sports Illustrated. And to think, just 2 years ago, Alvoid was an unemployed football player, packing and boxing orange juice for Tropicana back in his native Florida. Alvoid, who has found his niche as the team's 4th cornerback and on special teams, came up with big plays down the stretch. "He's a very smart young man," said defensive backs coach Emmitt Thomas. "He can play all the positions and even call signals. He's a great cover man with quickness and savvy." Those attributes have served Alvoid well. He finished with a career-high 28 tackles and he added 51 total hits on special teams. Alvoid notched his 1st career interception in Week 10 vs. Atlanta in the end zone which stifled a Falcon scoring drive. And he had a season-best 4 tackles vs. Houston in Week 9 and vs. the Rams Week 13.

Pro Career: 1990: To say the least, Alvoid was a longshot to make the Redskins roster. He was packing and boxing orange juice for Tropicana in Florida when the Redskins called to invite him to training camp. But with AJ Johnson out (offseason knee surgery) and Brian Davis sidelined during training camp with an injury, Alvoid took advantage of his opportunity and found a roster spot. Mainly used as a reserve in the nickel package and in special teams, Alvoid finished 3rd on the team with 84 total hits and had a season-high 10 special teams hits in the win over Miami. 1989: An 8th round draft choice by Houston, he was cut by the Oilers in training camp, and when no one else showed an interest in his talents, he missed the entire season.

College, Personal: Alvoid transferred to West Virginia after 2 years at Pratt (Kansas) Community College. As a senior, he contributed 28 tackles (18 solos) plus a team-leading 5 interceptions. Alvoid earned all-ECAC, AP honorable mention all-America, and 2nd team all-East honors. He had 2 interceptions in a Mountaineer win over Pittsburgh, and tallied a career-best 8 stops against Syracuse. Along with football, Alvoid enjoys a "rap" music career. His rap career began while at West Virginia, when he recorded "Mountaineer Rap" with quarterback and roommate Major Harris with proceeds going to the Ronald McDonald House. He also recorded a demonstration tape "I'm On It" and plans to take the tape to radio stations hoping for some air time in his home state of Florida. But he hopes to move into record producing instead of performing. Alvoid also participated (along with several other Redskins) and appeared in music star's Prince's Super Bowl rap tribute which was part of CBS' Super Bowl pre-game show. He drives a classic 1962 Chevy Bel Air which became a collector's antique this year on its 30th anniversary. Alvoid attended Manatee High School in Bradenton, FL, lettering in football, basketball and track. He and his wife, Tangie, reside in Palmetto, FL.

Special Teams

On special teams, the Redskins ranked among the leaders in virtually every category in 1991. Place kicker Chip Lohmiller led the NFL in scoring with 149 points, but his kickoffs were as instrumental as his field goals. The average starting point after kickoff for Skins opponents was the 20.5 yard line, best in the NFL. The longest punt return against the Skins was 20 yards, while Brian Mitchell averaged 13.3 yards per return and took two back for touchdowns.

- Rallo's football camp in Knoxville, TN, benefits the city's parks and recreation department.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

- He was chosen to the UPI All-NFC team last season.
- Rallo has played both guard positions, center and left tackle during his career.

How Acquired: Selected in 11th round of 1985 draft (290th overall).

Games Played/Started: 96/65 [11/8] - 1985 (6/0); 1986 (15/5) [3/0]; 1987 (12/12) [3/3]; 1988 (16/14); 1989: (15/8); 1990 (16/12) [2/2]; 1991 (16/14) [3/3]

1991 Season: In another sport, Rallo would be the perfect "Sixth Man." He is always ready and adaptable. It's also a trait that makes Rallo the Redskins most versatile, and one of the club's most valuable performers. However, with 65 starts under his belt, calling Rallo a backup doesn't quite fit. His play last season earned him All-NFC honors by UPI. "Every team is looking for a guy like Rallo," said offensive line coach Jim Hanifan. "He's a guy we can insert at either guard or center and not have a dropoff. He's certainly one of the most valuable players we have." And Rallo once again proved that last season. When Ed Simmons went down with a knee injury in Week 2, Rallo stepped into the starting left guard spot with Joe Jacoby moving over to right tackle. It's that kind of versatility across the board that has made the Redskins the owners of the best offensive line in the NFL. Rallo started the last 14 games of the year and all 3 postseason contests at left guard. He was named offensive player of the week by coaches in the divisional play-off win over Atlanta and vs. Cincinnati in Week 4. He also played center vs. Philadelphia in the 2nd half when Jeff Bostic left with an injured Achilles. HONORS: UPI All-NFC.

Pro Career: 1990: One series of plays in the Week 6 win over Philadelphia epitomized Raleigh's value when on 4 consecutive plays he played right guard, moved over to center for an injured Jeff Bostic, then switched to left guard for Russ Grimm and then back to right guard. Raleigh started 9 straight games at right guard before switching to the left side in Week 14 at New England when he replaced an injured Grimm and he remained there throughout the rest of the season and into the playoffs.

1989: Raleigh was asked to be the offensive line's jack-of-all-trades, filling in for 4 former Pro Bowlers at 4 different spots along the line (all but right tackle). Raleigh got his 1st start in Week 9 vs. Dallas, filling in for Russ Grimm at left guard, and remained a member of the starting unit for the rest of the season. 1988: Raleigh showed his trademark versatility and toughness. After starting the season at left guard, Rallo moved to center in Week 3, and then back to guard in Week 6. 1987: Raleigh was the Redskins' only offensive lineman to play every play. He also never missed a practice. Minnesota Vikings defensive end Keith Millard said of Rallo: "He's the best offensive lineman I faced all season." 1986: Raleigh earned his 1st NFL start in San Diego and was named offensive player of the game. He started 3 of 5 games in which the line didn't allow a sack. Raleigh was used as a blocking back at times in the NFC championship game against the Giants. 1985: One of the surprises of training camp, his biggest moment came in Week 15 against Cincinnati when he threw the key block that sprung George Rogers 34 yards for the winning touchdown.

College, Personal: Raleigh's coach at Tennessee, Johnny Majors, called him "one of the best offensive linemen I've ever been around." Raleigh played mostly center for the Vols, and culminated his career with an appearance in the Japan Bowl all-star game. Raleigh's twin brother, Reggie, who was born 3 minutes before him, played linebacker at Tennessee and played in the NFL with the Raiders and Cardinals. He has a football camp in Knoxville sponsored by the Parks and Recreation Dept. and the Knoxville Sentinel. He also takes instruction in the martial arts of Tae Kwon Do and has a Blue Belt. Raleigh hails from Knoxville, and attended Austin-East High School, where he played fullback and inside linebacker. Raleigh finished 3rd in his class at Austin-East, while twin brother Reggie was the class valedictorian. Rallo and his wife, Martha, have a daughter, Rachel, and they reside in Herndon, VA.

• A great deal of Ron's offseason charity work is directed to help High Springs School in Nashville, TN, which is a school for children with Cerebral Palsy and other physical disadvantages.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

- Ron has started the last 5 postseason games for the Redskins.
- He caught a career-high 3 passes in 1989 playoff against Buffalo.

How Acquired: Signed as a Plan B free agent March 14, 1990.

Games Played/Started: 67/24 [7/5] - ATL 1986 (16/3); 1987 (12/4); WASH 1988 (2/0); CLE 1989 (9/0)[2/0]; WASH 1990 (16/15)[2/2]; 1991 (12/12)[3/3]

1991 Season: Ron always knew he could play in the NFL. He knew he could be a starter. The question he asked himself when his opportunity came after Donnie Warren broke his ankle in training camp, was "Will you do it?" That question was put to him during the regular season, 2 playoff games and Super Bowl XXVI. And the answer was a resounding yes. "He was excellent in there," said offensive line and tight ends coach Rennie Simmons. "He responded well to the challenge of being a starter and he was a big part of our running success last season." The Redskins didn't know how big until a sprained knee (Week 12 vs. Dallas) put Ron on the inactive list for the final 4 games of the regular season. Before his injury, the Redskins averaged 132.7 yards per game rushing. In the 4 games he missed the Skins averaged 114.3 yards on the ground. With his return in the playoffs, the rushing game again jumped to 134.7 yards a game against the NFL's top teams. Ron did catch 3 passes for 25 yards; but it was his blocking that earned him offensive player of the week honors by the coaching staff following the Philadelphia game in Week 5.

Pro Career: 1990: The 4th time proved to be the charm for Ron and the Redskins. Three times before, 1988 and 1989, Ron had been waived by the Skins. When Ron was left unprotected on Plan B by the Browns, the Redskins made sure they didn't make the same mistake again and signed him. Playing as a run-blocking specialist, Ron started 5 games in the regular season and also added 2 starts in both playoff games. 1989: Ron's well traveled season began in the Redskins' training camp before being waived. He then signed with Tampa Bay, was waived, and hooked on with Cleveland where he played in 9 games for the Browns. While mainly noted as an excellent blocker, Ron did catch 3 passes in Cleveland's divisional playoff win over Buffalo, including a TD grab. 1988: After being waived by College, Personal: Ron caught 10 passes for 133 yards at Auburn. The Tigers were 37-12 with 4 bowl appearances during his career and he was named the club's MVP as a junior and senior. Bo Jackson called Ron his "Insurance Policy" when they both were teammates at Auburn. His best friend while at Auburn was Charles Barkley of the Philadelphia 76ers. He is a native of Atmore, AL, and played at Escambia County High School. A pre-law major at Auburn, Ron hopes to attend law school. CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

- Brian returned 2 punt returns for touchdowns (69 vs. Detroit and 66 vs. Cincinnati) in 1991 (tied team record).
- He was 2nd in the NFL in 1991 with a 13.3 yard punt return average (3rd highest in team history).
- His 12.4 yard career-punt return average is the 2nd best in team history.

1991 Season: Heading into the 1991 season, Brian had left Redskin coaches with a few unanswered questions. Would he work hard? Was he dedicated? "We could see tremendous potential," said special teams coach Wayne Sevier. "But was he willing to work. He's a smart guy, and he got the message." Loud and clear. And so did the rest of the NFL. After putting himself through a rigorous offseason conditioning program, the results were an all-pro season. In the season opener, he broke a 69-yard punt return for a touchdown against the Lions (the 1st by a Redskin in regular season since Mike Nelms in 1981). In Week 3 he broke a 70-yarder vs. Phoenix for a score, but it was called back because of a penalty. The following week he broke a 66-yarder for a touchdown vs. Cincinnati. He became the 1st Redskin (only the 2nd in team history), to return 2 punts for touchdowns in a single-season since 1981 (Nelms was the other). Add his 3rd quarter fake punt for a 1st down on a 4th and 1 from the Redskin 48 that kept a crucial go-ahead scoring drive going, and clearly, Brian had put the special back into the Redskins special teams. Brian finished the year 2nd in the NFL in punt returns with a 13.3 yard average (3rd highest in team history and the best since Eddie Brown in 1976). His 600 yards in punt returns led the NFL and was the 2nd most in club history. In addition, Brian had 8 punt returns of 20-yards-or-more. Besides his TD return heroics, there were plenty of other big returns. He had a 17-yard punt return vs. Chicago that set up the Redskins 1st score. His 20-yard return in the 1st quarter vs. Cleveland in Week 7 set up the Redskins 1st touchdown. His 17-yarder vs. the Giants in Week 8 set up the Redskins game-winning touchdown drive. He had a 42-yard punt return vs. the Rams (3rd longest of the year) and totaled 126 return yards, including 2 kickoffs for 60 yards. Brian finished 8th in the NFC in kickoff returns with a 20.1 yard average. HONORS: AP All-Pro 2nd team, College and Pro Football Newsweekly NFL All-Pro 1st team, Football News All-NFC.

Pro Career: 1990 Season: The 1st time Brian touched the ball as a pro, he returned the opening kickoff of preseason 92 yards for a touchdown against Atlanta. At various times during his rookie season, Brian played running back, quarterback and returned both kicks and punts. He also finished 2nd on the club with 26 special teams tackles and led the team with a 20.3-yard kick return average. When both Jeff Rutledge and Stan Humphries went down with injuries against Philadelphia on Monday Night, Brian took over the signal caller duties. In his only series, he directed the Skins to a touchdown completing 3 passes for 40 yards and had 2 rushes for 11 yards, including a 1-yard touchdown keeper. With a late season injury to Kelvin Bryant, Brian earned more playing time at running back. In his most extensive duty he rushed for a career-high 7 times for 36 yards against the Dolphins in Week 12.

College, Personal: Brian became the first player in NCAA history to pass for over 5,000 yards (5,447) and run over 3,000 yards (3,335) during his career. Brian also held the NCAA record for rushing touchdowns by a quarterback with 47. As a senior, he rushed for 1,311 yards and passed for 1,966 yards. He totaled 25 touchdowns (6 passing, 19 rushing) and 3,277 yards in offense. As a junior, Brian was chosen the state's outstanding collegiate football player, when he totaled 2,550 yards in offense (1,897 passing, 743 rushing). Brian also rushed for 15 touchdowns and tossed 9 TD passes. He was named to the All-America Fight Against Drugs Team by the Maxwell Football Club of Philadelphia. He won a Dow Chemical grant at SW Louisiana and scored 28 out of a possible 35 on his ACT college board test. Brian completed an outstanding prep career at Plaquemine (LA) High School leading the team to the state title and being selected the state's offensive player of the year. He majored in management at SW Louisiana. He is the youngest of 7 children in his family. Brian and his wife, Monica, reside in Herndon, VA.

1991 Season: Among all the hoopla that surrounded Super Bowl XXVI, Mark Rypien best summed up Art, "An amazing athlete and a real professional, quiet about his work, very loud with his results." Those marvelous results. They have come with quiet excellence and will one day land Art in the Pro Football Hall of Fame. His 801 career receptions in 12 seasons rank behind only Steve Largent (819) on the NFL all-time career list. His 10,984 career yards rank 5th on the NFL career list. And there's more. Much more. For the 9th time in his remarkable career, he surpassed 50 catches (71 receptions) in a season and only Largent (who had 10 50-catch seasons) is ahead of him on the NFL career list. He has caught a pass in 132-consecutive regular season games (began Oct. 2, 1983 vs. Raiders) which is 3rd on the all-time list (Ozzie Newsome is 2nd with 150 and Largent is 1st at 177). Art holds club records for most career receptions (801), yards (10,984), receptions in a season (106-also an NFL record), most passes caught in a game (13-twice) and most combined net yards (11,272 = 10,984 receiving/288 rushing). He has surpassed 1,000 yards receiving 5 times. In 1991, Art led the team and finished 5th in the NFC with 71 catches for 1,049 yards and equalled a career-best 8 touchdown receptions. Against Atlanta in Week 10, Art caught 7 passes for a season high 164 yards (5th best single-game total of his career) and his 64-yard TD reception against the Falcons was the 4th longest catch of his career. The following week at Pittsburgh, Art caught a season-high 8 passes for 130 yards and 1 TD (he also had 8 catches vs. Houston). Among Art's milestone receptions, number 751 (which passed Charlie Joiner for 2nd place all-time) was a 14-yard TD grab against the Browns in Week 7. He finished the Cleveland game with 7 catches for 106 yards and was named the NFC Offensive Player of the Week. In addition to that 100-yard effort, he had 2 other 100-yard outings (164 vs. Atlanta and 130 vs. Pittsburgh). Art surpassed 60 yards in receptions 9 times during the regular season and caught at least 4 passes in 9 games. Besides his 2 TD effort vs. the Falcons, Art also caught 2 touchdowns (6 catches/69 yards) vs. the Bears in Week 6. In the playoffs, Art caught 15 passes for 252 yards and 1 touchdown (vs. Detroit in the NFC Championship game). In the Super Bowl, he was simply superb. He caught 7 passes for 113 yards and had a 2-yard TD reception reversed by the Replay Official.

Pro Career: 1990: Art became only the third player in NFL history to reach 700 career receptions (joining Steve Largent and Charlie Joiner) as he finished the year with 68 receptions to push his career total to 730. It was the 8th time in his remarkable career that he had surpassed 50 catches in a season. In addition, Art stretched his consecutive games receiving streak to 116 games. Art clearly showed his extraordinary skills throughout the year. Five times, he surpassed 60+ yards in receptions, including a 13-catch, 168-yard effort at Detroit. His 13 grabs vs. the Lions tied his own Redskin record. His 10 catches for 92 yards and 2 touchdowns ignited the Redskins 42-20 win over Miami. Trailing Philadelphia 6-0 in the Wild Card playoff game and facing a 3rd and 9 from the Skins 33, Art came up with a clutch 28-yard reception. Two plays later, his 16-yard touchdown catch gave the Skins a lead they would not relinquish in the 20-6 win. He followed that with 10 catches for 163 yards and 1 touchdown in the NFC divisional playoff at San Francisco. 1989: Art moved to 3rd on the NFL career receiving list, catching a team high 86 passes for 1,186 yards. Art had his best game of the year in a 31-14 win over the Bears. He had 9 catches for 152 yards and 2 second half touchdowns to ignite a 5-game Redskins winning streak. It was one of 4 100-yard days for Monk. His 9 catch performance for 81 yards against San Diego pushed him past Charley Taylor as the Redskins all-time reception leader. His 60-yard touchdown catch against Atlanta ignited a 21-point third quarter rally as the Redskins beat Atlanta 31-30. During the Skins' closing 5-game winning streak, Art caught 35 passes for 478 yards and 4 touchdowns. 1988: Art caught 72 passes, the 4th highest single-season total in his stellar career. Of those, 10 were 25 yards or longer. Art caught 9 passes in a game twice - in Week 2 against Pittsburgh (86 yards) and Week 12 in San Francisco (89 yards). His biggest yardage day came in Week 15 against Dallas (7 catches, 103 yards). 1987: Art finished the regular season with 38 catches for 523 yards despite missing the last 3 regular-season games and 2 playoff games with torn ligaments in his right knee. Art returned for Super Bowl XXII and his 40-yard catch with 8 minutes left in the 1st quarter was Doug Williams' 1st completion and set the tone for the day. 1986: Art became the only receiver in Redskin history to register 3 straight 1,000-yard seasons and to catch 70-or-more passes 3 straight times. His 1,068 yards ranked 3rd in the NFC and his 73 catches ranked 6th. 1985: Art's 91 receptions were 2nd in the NFL and his 1,226 yards ranked 3rd. He registered 6 100-yard games in the last 8. He made his 2nd straight Pro Bowl appearance. 1984: Art caught a league record 106 passes, breaking the mark of 101 set by the Oilers' Charlie Hennigan in 1964. He caught 8-or-more passes in 6 games and had 5 100-yard games. In Week 2 against San Francisco, he caught 10 passes for 200 yards, becoming only the 4th receiver in Redskin history to hit the 200-yard mark. He was voted the team's MVP and was selected to the Pro Bowl. 1983: Art missed the first 4 games with a sprained knee but returned to start the final 11 regular-season games. He finished with 47 catches for 746 yards (2nd on the team in both categories) and added 8 catches for 121 yards in the playoffs. 1982: After leading the team during the regular season with 35 receptions (447 yards), Art missed the Redskins drive to the Super Bowl with a broken foot, which he suffered in the final regular season game against the Cardinals. 1981: Art's 894 yards receiving were the most by a Redskin since 1967. He led receivers in touchdowns with 6 and scored a 79-yarder against S. Louis. He finished second on the club with 56 catches and a 16-yard per catch average. 1980: As the club's first No. 1 draft choice since 1968, Art was a unanimous selection to the NFL's all-rookie team and broke the club's rookie receiving record, which previously was set by Charley Taylor in 1964. Art finished with 58 catches (10th in the NFC) for 797 yards and 3 touchdowns. He received his first NFL start in Week 7 against St. Louis at RFK.

College, Personal: A triple threat at Syracuse, Art set receiving records with 102 receptions for 1,644 yards, rushed for 1,140 yards and gained 1,105 yards in returns for a total of 3,889 yards. Art never missed a game or a practice in 4 seasons at Syracuse. At White Plains (NY) High School, Art was a national interscholastic champion in the 33-yard intermediate hurdles in 1976. Off the field, Art is an avid fisherman. At Super Bowl XXVI in Minneapolis, along with Chip Lohmiller, Monte Coleman and Ernest Byner, he went ice fishing. Art also operates a successful football camp at for kids during the summer and at one time owned a graphic art business. He is a computer enthusiast and his home office is full of them. He is a second cousin to the late renowned jazz musician Thelonious Monk. Art and his wife, Desiree, have 3 children: James Arthur, Jr., 9, Danielle, 8, and Monica Andrea, 5, and they reside in Great Falls, VA.

Up Close

- Terry serves as a goodwill ambassador for Anheuser-Busch speaking to area high schools on their responsibility of not drinking and how to handle peer pressure.
- He has a keen interest in national politics and says playing in Washington is an added bonus.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

- Terry caught a career-high 4 TD passes in 1991 on just 10 receptions.
- His 4 TD grabs last season were 1 more than he had in his 6 previous years.

How Acquired: Selected in 10th round of 1985 draft (263rd overall). Re-acquired as a free agent on August 27, 1991.

Games Played/Started: 83/13 [9/0] - WASH 1986 (16/1)[3/0]; 1987 (10/1)[3/0]; 1988 (16/3); 1989 (16/1); 1990 (2/0); SD 1990 (9/0); WASH 1991 (16/7)[3/0]

1991 Season: On August 26th, Terry moved his family to San Diego. Convinced he was a Charger even though he had been waived by the team to reach their 47-man limit. He expected to be re-called the next day. Back in Washington, the Redskins had the same plans for tight end Ken Whisenhunt. But when Whisenhunt was claimed by the Jets, the Redskins needed an experienced tight end/H-Back. On August 27th, Terry was on a plane heading back east to Washington. "Terry's extremely smart," said head coach Joe Gibbs. "He plays great on special teams and he's shown he can make big play's catching the ball. Because of that he's a valuable guy." The Redskins could not, however, have imagined that Terry would turn in his finest season as a pro. He caught 10 passes for a team-high 20.1 yards per catch. But more importantly, 4 of those 10 grabs went for touchdowns and 6 receptions were for 22 yards or longer. Terry scored his 1st touchdown of the year on a 9-yard reception vs. Atlanta in Week 10. He also scored touchdowns in 3 straight games from Weeks 13 through 16. He caught a 47-yard TD pass vs. the Rams that gave the Redskins a 7-3 lead, then added a 4-yard TD grab vs. Phoenix the next week and a 22-yard TD catch vs. the Giants. Besides his big-play receiving, Terry once again was a valuable member of the Redskins special teams. He finished 6th on the team with 71 total hits and was 5th on the team with 16 kickoff coverage tackles.

Pro Career: 1990: Terry played 2 games with the Redskins before being released on Oct. 15. Signed by San Diego on Oct. 26, Terry played 9 games with the Chargers. In his 1st outing in Week 8, he had 5 special teams hits and recovered a Tampa Bay fumbled kick return on the 15-yard line. 1989: When the Redskins were in trouble at New Orleans late in the 3rd quarter, it was Terry's 48-yard 3rd down catch that set up the Skins' only touchdown in the the come-from-behind win. Terry also excelled on special teams with 84 total hits (2nd on the club). 1988: Given a chance at full-time status when an eye injury sidelined Craig McEwen in Week 13, Terry caught 7 passes for 148 yards and 2 touchdowns in his 3 starts. The first touchdown catch came in the 4th quarter against Philadelphia, putting the Redskins in position to win on a last second field goal. A week later he grabbed a 55-yard touchdown pass against the Cowboys. 1987: Special teams were Terry's forte, but a 3-catch day against Minnesota proved crucial in a win over the Vikings. The 1st half of the season was lost when a shoulder injury forced him on injured reserve prior to the season opener. As a kick returner, Terry had 4 returns for 62 yards. 1986: Terry had only 3 catches as a rookie, but made the most of his chances. A 22-yard touchdown catch against the Cardinals provided the spark for a 20-17 Redskins win.

College, Personal: There was no stopping Terry at the University of Texas, but his yardage was earned on the ground as a premier running back. The statistics tell the tale - 274 attempts for 1,279 yards (4.7) and 11 touchdowns. Most of the total (580 yards) came his senior season, but Terry also rushed for 265 yards as a junior. The brightest moment was an 82-yard gallop against TCU. A native of Savannah, GA, he moved to Texas and attended Cooper High School in Abilene. Terry earned a bachelor's degree in speech communications. He and his wife, Rita, have two sons, Terrance, II, 2, and a baby boy, Zachary, and they reside in Ashburn, VA.

- Gerald is 13th on the NFL's all-time rushing list with 8,188 yards.

How Acquired: Obtained on April 22, 1989 in a trade with Atlanta for a second round choice in 1989 and a first rounder in 1990. The Redskins also received a fifth-round selection in 1990.

Games Played/Started: 129/73 [6/0] - ATL 1982 (9/0)[1/0]; 1983 (14/0); 1984 (15/14); 1985 (16/16); 1986 (16/15); 1987 (12/12); 1988 (9/9); WASH 1989 (12/7); 1990 (10/0)[2/0]; 1991 (16/0)[3/0]

1991 Season: A few things stand out when looking at Gerald's contributions last season. His 78 carries for 248 yards were down considerably for a player who is the NFL's 13th all-time leading rusher (8,188 yards). However, the Redskins' Red Zone scoring percentage of 87.9% was 1st in the NFL (51 of 58 - 32 TDs, 19 FGs). Thanks in large part to Gerald's contributions. While his quantity time on the playing field has diminished, his quality time has not. Gerald scored a team-high 11 touchdowns (his best total since 1984 and the 2nd most in his career) and tied for 5th in the NFC. He averaged a touchdown every 7 carries in the regular season and in 3 playoff games that figure improved to every 1.8 carries (team-leading 6 touchdowns). "Like any great running back, Gerald wants to be a big part of the game plan," said running back coach Don Breaux. "He accepted his role last year as our short yardage back and did an outstanding job. There's no doubt when he gets rolling he can still do it." Although the Redskins' designated short yardage back, Gerald still accounted for 2 of the team's 6 longest runs last season (32 vs. Philadelphia, Week 5 and 29 vs. Atlanta, Week 10). His top rushing games included a season-high 70 yards (all in the 2nd half) on 9 carries vs. Philadelphia in Week 5 and 61 yards on 10 carries vs. Cincinnati in Week 4. But it was near the goal line that Gerald contributed the most. Against the Bengals in Week 4, he had 3 rushing touchdowns, including the game winner with 2:02 remaining that broke a 27-27 tie. He also scored a pair of TDs vs. Cleveland in Week 7 and Pittsburgh in Week 11. In the postseason, Gerald had a pair of rushing touchdowns vs. Atlanta in the divisional playoff and then added 2 more rushing scores in the NFC championship game against Detroit. And in Super Bowl XXVI, Gerald again scored 2 touchdowns, including a 2-yard run :16 seconds into the 3rd quarter following Kurt Gouveia's interception on the 1st play of the 2nd half.

Pro Career: 1990: A promising season was cut short with the same nagging arch injury in his foot that curtailed his 1989 campaign. With a 95-yard effort at Phoenix and an 89-yard, 2 touchdown game at Detroit, it appeared Gerald had put away the injury bug. But in the Week 9 Monday night game at Philadelphia, Gerald re-injured the same arch and missed the next 6 weeks. Before the injury Gerald posted productive numbers against Phoenix (51), New York (61), Philadelphia (52) and Buffalo (57). While it was an abbreviated season for Gerald, he still managed to tie for the team lead with 6 rushing touchdowns. 1989: In his Redskin debut, he rushed for 111 yards against the Giants on Monday Night. A week later, Gerald broke George Rogers' team rushing record (206) when he gained 221 yards on 29 carries against the Eagles. Slowed briefly by bruised ribs, Gerald rebounded with 90+ effort against New York (91) and Tampa Bay (99) and had 658 yards after seven games. Then came an injured arch in his foot that forced him to the sidelines 4 of the next 7 games. Except for brief appearances in Week 9 and Week 13, Gerald didn't see extensive action until Week 15 at Atlanta when he again used a bruising style for 80 yards on 20 carries in a win over the Falcons. Still, Gerald's 834 yards were the best by a Redskins running back since 1986. 1988: Gerald completed his career in Atlanta as the team's career rushing leaders with 6,631 yards and his combined yardage of 8,015 was just 687 yards shy of Atlanta's club record held by William Andrews. He also set the Falcons club record for touchdowns with 48. A mid-season knee injury forced him to miss 7 of the final 12 games. 1987: Gerald was named to his 3rd straight Pro Bowl as he ran for 875 yards on 203 carries and gained another 199 on 25 catches to gain over 1,000 yards for the 3rd consecutive season. The Redskins were one of Gerald's victims. He gained 120 yards on 23 carries and scored the winning touchdown on a 4-yard run in the Falcons 21-20 victory in Week 2. 1986: Selected to his 2nd straight Pro Bowl, Gerald's 1,327 yards rushing ranked 6th in the league. He had 6 100-yard games and scored 9 touchdowns. His top 3 performances resulted in 3 victories: 172 yards vs. Miami, 141 vs. the Rams and 129 vs. Tampa Bay. 1985: Gerald led the NFC in rushing with 1,719 yards, and he added 267 receiving to finish with a combined 1,986 as he was named to his 1st Pro Bowl. His 397 carries still stand as the 3rd-highest single-season total in NFL history (behind Tampa Bay's James Wilder 407 in 1984 and the Rams' Eric Dickerson 404 in 1986). 1984: Gerald took over as the starter and in his first game rushed for 202 yards against New Orleans. His 13 touchdowns were second in the league and he had 5 100-yard games. His 1,436 yards were 4th in the NFL. 1983: Playing as a reserve, Gerald led the team with 8 touchdowns. He carried 100 times for 437 yards despite missing two weeks with fractured ribs.

1982: The Falcons selected Gerald in the 1st round (9th player overall) of the draft. He joined William Andrews and Lynn Cain in one of the league's top backfields and gained 299 yards on 78 carries as a rookie.

College, Personal: Gerald led the Pac 10 with a 6.0 yard average his senior season at Arizona State. In his career, he carried 392 times for 2,086 yards. Recruited by Frank Kush, Gerald played under three head coaches: Kush, Bob Owens, and Darryl Rogers. At Bonanza High School in Las Vegas, Gerald lettered in football, basketball and track. In one game against neighboring Henderson High School, he carried 8 times and scored 4 touchdowns, gaining 236 yards. An avid tennis player, he was invited to participate in the White Houe Tennis Tournament in 1987. Born in Tullos, LA, near the Mississippi line, Gerald is the oldest of 5 children. Gerald has a son, Gerald, Jr. 9, and resides in Marietta, GA.

Up Close

- Jeff is a part-owner of an Italian restaurant, with Ram center Doug Smith, called Marco Polo in Newport Beach, CA.
- Drafted by the Cubs out of high school he elected to follow in his father's and brother's footsteps at Alabama.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

- Jeff was named NFC Offensive Player of the Week vs. the Lions in 1990 when he passed for 363 yards.
- He passed for over 300 yards in 3 straight games in 1983.
- He has played on 3 different Super Bowls teams (1979 Rams, 1986 Giants and 1991 Redskins).

How Acquired: Signed as a Plan B free agent March 30, 1990.

Games Played/Started: 101/11 [11/0] - LA 1979 (3/1); 1980 (1/0); 1981 (4/0); NYG 1982 (0/0); 1983 (4/4); 1984 (16/0)[2/0]; 1985 (16/1)[2/0]; 1986 (16/0)[3/0]; 1987 (13/4); 1988 (1/0); 1989 (1/0); WASH 1990 (10/1)[2/0]; 1991 (16/0)[3/0]

1991 Season: During Super Bowl XXVI, Jeff became an answer to one of the many trivia questions that abound during the 2 week hype before the game. But Jeff's contributions were more than trivial for the Redskins during the regular season. Jeff's consistent play as the team's holder and backup quarterback were never down played by the Redskin coaches and players. "Jeff is super smart and he is a real competitor," said offensive assistant/passing game coach Rod Dowhower. "But what you like most about Jeff is that he gets the job done." Although Jeff saw only spot duty behind Mark Rypien, when called on he did get the job done. His 94.7 quarterback rating was the highest of his career. In his only pass attempt vs. Pittsburgh in Week 11, he hit Ricky Sanders with a 40-yard scoring pass. In his 3 other appearances at QB, Jeff was 1 of 1 for 9 yards vs. Atlanta, 3 of 4 for 40 yards vs. the Giants in Week 15 and 6 of 16 for 100 yards vs. the Eagles in Week 16. Jeff's trivia question? Name the 3 players who played with 3 different teams in the Super Bowl? (Answer: Jeff, Matt Millen and Preston Pearson).

Pro Career: 1990: Jeff engineered the greatest comeback in Redskins history when he replaced Stan Humphries in the 3rd quarter and the Redskins trailing Detroit 35-14. He completed his first 8 pass attempts and when the dust had settled, he had completed 30 passes (42 attempts) for 363 yards, including a 34-yard touchdown pass to Gary Clark on 4th and 6 with 5:48 left that narrowed the Lion lead to 38-31. Jeff completed the rally with a 12-yard quarterback draw for a touchdown with :18 second left. In OT, he completed a crucial 40-yard pass to Art Monk on 3rd and 15 from the Skins' own 5-yard line. The clutch play led to a 73-yard game winning drive that ended on Chip Lohmiller's 34-yard field goal. For his efforts, Jeff was chosen NFC Offensive Player of the Week. The next week he earned the start vs. the Eagles on Monday Night but a bruised thumb in the 3rd quarter forced him out of the game. Jeff also held for field goals and PATs.

1989: Jeff played in 1 game for the Giants but did not attempt a pass.

1988: In his only appearance, Jeff came in and pulled out a victory over the Saints. In that game, he went 11-of-17 for 113 yards in the 2nd half, including a 33-yard completion in the final minute to set up the winning field goal. 1987: Jeff started 4 games for the Giants and completed 79 passes for 1,048 yards and 5 touchdowns. He led the club to wins over the Patriots and Eagles, including a season-best 233 yards and 2 TDs vs. New England.

1986: Jeff's playing time was limited, but he made significant contributions when he was called into duty. His regular season pass completion was a 13-yard TD toss on a fake FG attempt vs. Philadelphia; he ran 18 yards for a first down on another fake FG attempt to set up a touchdown vs. Green Bay; he completed a 23-yard pass to set up a touchdown in the Giants' playoff win over San Francisco and he scrambled for a key 1st down on a 4th down play in the Super Bowl win over Denver. 1985: Jeff did not take an offensive snap in 1985, but he did continue his role as the team's holder in every game. He again continued his mastery of the fake FG with a successful attempt vs Cincinnati that resulted in a touchdown. 1984: Jeff saw limited action of offense while only attempting 1 pass for 9 yards. 1983: Although he only saw action in 4 games (all as a starter), Jeff had his best year as a pro when he went 87-of-174 for 1,208 yards and 3 TDs. Jeff had 3 straight 300-yard games, including 29 completions for 349 yards at Seattle. In his only start against Washington, Jeff was 24-of-47 for 324 yards and a TD in a 31-22 loss to the NFC champion Redskins. Jeff also passed for 325 yards against Dallas, but suffered a knee injury which sidelined him for 5 weeks.

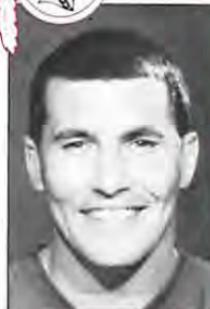

1982: Jeff was traded to the Giants, but did not take a snap his first year in

New York. 1981: Jeff saw action in 4 games for the Rams and threw for 442 yards and 3 touchdowns. But a broken thumb forced him on IR for the remainder of the season. 1980: Jeff came down with mononucleosis at mid-season and was placed on IR for the remainder of the year after seeing action in only one game. 1979: Selected by the Rams in the 9th round, Jeff was a member of the Rams' NFC championship team. He saw limited playing time in 3 games completing 13 passes for 125 yards and 1 touchdown.

College, Personal: Jeff was an all-SEC quarterback at Alabama where he led the Crimson Tide to the 1978 national title under the legendary Bear Bryant. At Alabama, Jeff threw 30 career touchdowns and left as the Tide's all-time leader surpassing Joe Namath. Jeff earned his degree in business education. He married his wife, Laura, the week following Alabama's win over Ohio State in the 1978 Sugar Bowl and after being named the game's MVP. A standout prep player in football, basketball and baseball at Banks High School in Birmingham, AL, Jeff was drafted by the Cubs out of high school but elected to attend Alabama. He also was his high school's class president as a senior. His father, Jack, was a minor league player in the Cubs organization (1950-52). Jeff and his wife, Laura, reside in Mission Viejo, CA, with their 3 children, Brooks, 13, Christen, 11, and Meg, 9.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

- Ryp was selected Super Bowl XXVI MVP after passing for 292 yards and 2 TDs.
- Ryp has played in 2 Pro Bowls following the 1989 and 1991 seasons.
- He is the 2nd leading active passer in the NFL with a career QB rating of 88.5.
- He is 33-13 and 37-14 overall as a starter.
- He tied a club record 6 TD passes vs. the Falcons last season.
- His 3,768 yards passing in 1989 is the 2nd best mark in Redskins history.

How Acquired: Selected in sixth round of 1986 draft (146th overall).

Games Played/Started: 49/46 [5/5] - 1986 (IR); 1987 (IR); 1988 (9/6); 1989 (14/14); 1990 (10/10)[2/2]; 1991 (16/16)[3/3]

1991 Season: Before the opening of the 1991 season Joe Gibbs sent an early message and challenge to Mark Rypien "We had invested a lot of time in him, it was time for Ryp to do the job," said Gibbs. With that challenge ringing in his ear, Mark Rypien went out and produced the second-best quarterback rating (97.9) in Redskins history, the second-best QB rating in the NFL, a +17 touchdown to interception ratio (28 TDs/11 INTs) that was the best in the league, 28 touchdown passes which were the second-best in the NFL (second-best in team history) and 3,564 yards passing which led the NFC. And beyond the individual honors, Ryp answered the challenge and led the Redskins to a 17-2 record and the most coveted of all trophies — the Vince Lombardi Trophy awarded to the Super Bowl champion. When it counted most, Ryp was at his best. In the Super Bowl, Ryp passed for 292 yards (18-33) and 2 touchdowns, including a 30-yard scoring strike to Gary Clark on 3rd and 10 that gave the Redskins a 31-10 lead. In the NFC championship game against Detroit, Ryp completed 12 of 17 passes for 228 yards and a pair of touchdowns. In 3 postseason wins, he completed 44 of 79 passes for 690 yards and a 91.2 QB rating. Ryp's signature has been the deep throw. Considered the finest deep passer in the NFL, Ryp completed passes of over 45 yards 17 times in 1991. He had 9 completions over 50 yards, 6 passes over 60 yards and 2 completions over 75 yards. He also threw 8 touchdown passes of 47-yards-or-longer. Named the NFC Offensive Player of the Week against the Falcons in Week 10, Ryp set career-highs with 442 yards passing (2nd most in team history behind Sammy Baugh's 446 yards), 6 touchdown passes (tied Baugh's team record), including an 82-yard TD pass. Against the Cardinals in Week 14, Ryp posted a season-high 22 completions (256 yards and 2 touchdowns). Ryp also threw 3 touchdowns (269 yards) in the NFC East clinching win over the Rams. Against Pittsburgh in Week 11, he completed 21 of 28 passes for 325 yards and 2 touchdowns. In Weeks 10 and 11 (vs. Falcons and Steelers), Ryp was 37 of 59 for 767 yards, 8 touchdowns and no interceptions. From Weeks 10 through 15, Ryp threw for 17 touchdowns while only firing 2 interceptions. In those 6 games, Ryp's QB rating was an outstanding 123.5. Earlier in the year, wide receiver Gary Clark asked the question to a slew of reporters,

"What does it take for people to realize Mark Rypien can play? He's not an average quarterback. Look at the guy's winning percentage. It's awesome. He doesn't lose too often." Heading into the 1992 season, Ryp boasts the NFL's second-best record among starting quarterbacks (Joe Montana 100-39 .719%) with a 33-13 (.717%) record in regular season and a 37-14 (.725%) overall mark including playoffs. Since returning to the Redskins lineup in Week 10 vs. the Saints in 1990 (on IR from Weeks 4-9 with a knee injury), he has guided the Redskins to a 19-4 regular season mark and dating back to Week 12 of the 1989 season, the Redskins are 26-5 in regular season and 30-6 overall with Ryp at the controls. HONORS: Pro Bowl, NFL Films NFC Player of the Year, Football News NFC Player of the Year, Super Bowl XXVI MVP, UPI All-NFC, All-Madden, College and Pro Football Newsweekly NFL All-Pro 1st team, Football News All-NFC 1st team, AP All-Pro 2nd-team, NEA All-Pro 2nd team, Pro Football Weekly All-NFC.

Pro Career: 1990: After missing 6 weeks with a sprained left knee sustained Week 3 vs. Dallas, Ryp returned in sterling fashion. He led the Redskins to 5 wins in their last 7 tries and a Wild Card playoff spot. Against New Orleans in Week 10, Ryp completed 26-of-38 passes for 311 yards and 4 touchdowns leading the Skins to a 31-17 victory and igniting the late season rally. The 4 touchdown passes against the Saints tied a career-high. For his performance, Mark was chosen the NFC Offensive Player of the Week. There were plenty of other high points during the season as well - including 21-of-28 for 245 yards and 3 TDs vs. Miami and 17-of-31 for 240 yards and 3 TDs vs. Phoenix. But Ryp saved his best for Washington's playoff win over Philadelphia. Facing one of the league's best defenses, Mark completed 15-of-31 attempts for 206 yards and 2 TDs. 1989: After a 2-game benching, Mark came back and led the Redskins to 5 straight victories to complete the season while finishing behind only Joe Montana and Jim Everett in NFC passing efficiency. In the final 5 weeks, Ryp completed 108 of 166 passes (65.5 percent) for 1,430 yards, 8 touchdowns and only 4 interceptions. He won the starting job during training camp and started the first 8 games before giving way to Doug Williams in Week 9 against Dallas after a series of fumbles. With the Redskins saddled with a 5-6 mark, Ryp faced a pivotal game in his young career when the Chicago Bears came to RFK. Ryp completed 30 of 47 passes for 401 yards and 4 touchdowns in a 38-14 romp. And against the Falcons, Ryp capped a 21-point third quarter explosion with a 9-yard touchdown run on a 4th and 1. In less than 3 quarters of play, he completed 17 of 27 passes for 284 yards in the 31-30 come-from-behind win. His 3,768 yards passing was the second best total ever by a Redskin and only Sonny Jurgensen and Joe Theismann ever completed more than his 280 passes in a single year. 1988: After spending his first 2 professional seasons on injured reserve, Ryp beat out Jay Schroeder in training camp for the No. 2 spot behind Doug Williams, and led the Redskins offense against the Phoenix Cardinals in Week 4 when Williams was sideline with appendicitis. Although the Redskins lost to Phoenix, Mark completed 26-of-41 passes for 303 yards and 3 touchdowns. A month later the roles were reversed when Mark injured his shoulder at home against the Cardinals after passing for 303 yards and 4 touchdowns in a 35-17 win. He returned to make starts against Cleveland and Philadelphia late in the season. 1987:

Mark spent the first 10 weeks on injured reserve, after injuring his back in the preseason finale against the Rams. He was activated for the Week 11 contest vs. the Giants. He dressed but did not play. He remained on the active roster for the remainder of the year but did not see any playing time. 1986: Mark impressed coaches in training camp but saw little playing time in preseason, completing 1 of 3 passes for 12 yards. He was placed on IR with a knee injury.

College, Personal: Ryp's college career followed a path similar to that of his pro career. He had to wait before playing. Mark broke his collar bone his sophomore year and did not play before rebounding to earn 1st-team Pac 10 honors as a junior. He completed 134 of 270 passes for 1,927 yards and 14 touchdowns. As a senior, he did even better, completing 159 of 273 passes for 2,417 yards and 14 touchdowns. His yardage total was 2nd in school history to Jack Thompson's 2,702. The Cougars averaged 441 yards per game that season, another school record. At Shadle Park High School in Spokane, Mark finished as one of the nation's top 10 career passers (423-849 for 6,460 yards and 65 touchdowns) as he broke Chicago Cubs second baseman Ryne Sandberg's city passing record. As a senior, he was all-state in football, basketball and baseball. He led his high school to the state basketball title as a senior and was named the tournament's outstanding player. His younger brother, Tim, played in the Toronto Blue Jays organization and on the Canadian Olympic baseball team. Another younger brother, Dave also played on the Canadian national baseball team in last year's Pan Am Games. Born in Calgary, Ryp's family moved to Spokane at an early age. Last May, Mark became the first non-touring pro to participate in a tour event when he played in the Kemper Open at Avenel Country Club in Bethesda, MD. Mark holds an annual golf tournament that benefits Cystic Fibrosis and he is the national spokesperson for Spina Bifida. He and his wife, Annette, who is a former Redskinette, have two daughters, Ambre, 3, and Angela, 1, and reside in Reston, VA.

Up Close

- Ricky once caught a six-foot shark while fishing in the Gulf of Mexico. The shark attacked a catch he was pulling in.

- He played in the Bing Crosby Pro-Am Golf Tournament.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

- His 12 TD receptions in 1988 tied a club record.
- Ricky set a Super Bowl record with 193 yards receiving in Super Bowl XXII (since broken by Jerry Rice).
- In 2 Super Bowls, Ricky has caught 10 passes for 234 yards (23.4 average) and 2 TDs.

How Acquired: Rights obtained from New England in exchange for a 3rd round draft choice in 1987. Signed August 11, 1986.

Games Played/Started: 82/36 [10/3] - 1986 (10/3)[2/0]; 1987

(12/5) [3/2]; 1988 (12/4); 1989 (16/12); 1990 (16/6) [2/1]; 1991 (16/6) [3/0]

1991 Season: After a 73-catch (1988) and an 80-catch season (1989), accepting a lesser role in the Redskins big play offense might have been hard to swallow. But not for Ricky. While his catches were down in 1991 (45) Ricky was still a feared member of "The Posse." "People who know the game know Ricky had one of his best years," said fellow wide receiver Gary Clark. "It's just that he's doing things most folks don't notice." With defenders respecting his great speed and ability, Ricky would freeze safeties underneath or pull them away on deep patterns freeing up other areas. Since he is also the team's best blocking receiver, he was frequently asked to stay in on maximum protection. Not glamorous stuff. And not things that get you noticed. "We asked Ricky to do a lot of things," said head coach Joe Gibbs. "Not everyone's cut out for the things we asked him to do. But everyone knows he is a big part of our success." During Weeks 11 through 14 when the Redskins were making their final push to secure home field advantage throughout the play-offs, Ricky's value became noticeable. In each of those weeks, he caught a touchdown pass, including a game-clinching 30-yarder vs. the Rams in Week 13 and a game-tying 17-yarder in the 3rd quarter the following week at Phoenix. And in the play-offs, Ricky caught 4 passes for 79 yards, but no catch was bigger than his 2nd quarter 41-yard grab vs. the Bills in Super Bowl XXVI that became the impetus for a 17-point explosion. During the regular season, Ricky's bests included 5 catches vs. Dallas in Week 2 (85 yards and 1 TD), vs. Cleveland in Week 7 (38 yards) and Houston in Week 9 (46 yards). He also had 4 catches at Chicago (38 yards) in Week 6 and at Pittsburgh (67 yards and 1 TD).

Pro Career: 1990: After putting together outstanding back-to-back seasons, Ricky's numbers trailed off a bit. Still, his 56 receptions for 727 yards made him a bona fide threat. Ricky caught at least 5 passes in 6 games and had a season-high 11 catches (2nd-best of his career) for 132 yards in 41-38 overtime win over Detroit. He also had 2 strong outings in the season opener with the Cardinals (6/70/1) and Week 3 vs. Dallas (7/78). 1989: He not only put up big numbers, he came up with big catches. His 45-yard TD grab against the Chargers, with the Redskins trailing 14-0 with :24 seconds remaining in the 1st half, put the Skins into position to win. Ricky had huge numbers in the opener against the Giants (6/143/1), at LA Raiders (12/158/1), and at Atlanta (7/167), while narrowly missing 100 yards against San Diego (4/98/1). In Atlanta, his 68-yard reception to the Falcon 1-yard line sparked a comeback victory. Then at Seattle in the finale, Ricky showed he could play both ends of the passing game when he hit Art Monk with a 32-yard pass completion to set up a Redskin field goal. He became only the second player in Redskin history to catch 80 passes in a single season (Monk has done it 3 times). 1988: His 12 touchdown receptions tied the club record and were the most by a Redskin receiver since 1965. With 73 catches for 1,148 yards, Ricky's teammates selected him as the 1988 most valuable player. After warming up with 5 catches for 79 yards and a touchdown in the opener against the Giants, Ricky caught 5 passes for 145 yards against Pittsburgh, including a 55-yarder for a touchdown. In Week 5 vs. the Giants he caught 7 passes for 141 yards and 2 touchdowns. An 8-yard, game-tying touchdown catch in the 4th quarter against the Saints in Week 10 provided the impetus for a 27-24 victory. Two weeks later, he had 6 catches for 59 yards and a touchdown at San Francisco. He had a season-high 10 catches for 128 yards and a touchdown in a 20-19 victory at Philadelphia in Week 14. He completed the year with 6 catches for 120 yards and a touchdown against Cincinnati. His 12 touchdown catches tied him with Hugh Taylor (1951), Charley Taylor (1966) and Jerry Smith (1967) for the club record. 1987: Ricky flashed his ability early but did not hit stride until midseason. Ricky had 6 catches for 96 yards in a crucial comeback victory over the Giants, and his 28-yard scoring catch with 4:56 remaining provided the winning points. In the final regular season game against Minnesota, Ricky set the stage for the postseason with 8 catches for 164 yards, including touchdown catches of 51 and 46 yards. In the 1st-round victory over the Bears, Ricky recorded 6 catches for 92 yards, including a 32-yard grab to set up a score. A 28-yard reverse set up the Redskins' 1st touchdown against Minnesota in the NFC championship game. The climax came in Super Bowl XXII when Ricky caught 9 passes for 193 yards and 2 touchdowns. In shattering Lynn Swann's 161-yard record, Ricky played a role in 5 Super Bowl marks. 1986: After missing the first 5 games with leg injuries, Ricky caught 14 passes for 286 yards in limited play. His 1st NFL catch was good for 71 yards against the Giant and his 2nd came in Green Bay on a 26-yard touchdown grab which tied the game. Ricky had 5 catches for 94 yards after starting for the injured Gary Clark against the Eagles. 1984-85: Playing in the Houston Gamblers (USFL) run-and-shoot offense with Jim Kelly, Ricky was an immediate success with 101 catches for 1,378 yards and 11 touchdowns. He had 6 games of 100 yards or more and 12 games with 7 or more catches. His top game against Pittsburgh when he caught 8 passes for 227 yards. Despite being sidelined for 8 games by an injury in '85, Ricky caught 48 passes for 538 yards and 7 touchdowns.

College, Personal: Ricky's ability to run after he catches a pass is no coincidence. He was a running back at Southwest Texas State, and finished 3rd on the Bobcats' all-time rushing list with 878 yards on 151 attempts. As a senior, he rushed 141 times for 706 yards and caught 14 passes for 210 yards and a touchdown. He was the most valuable player in the 1982 Palm Bowl with 104 yards on 25 carries. His talents are not limited to football. At Belton High School in Belton, TX, he qualified for the state meet in the pole vault, hurdles and long jump. He now devotes his free time to honing his golf game. A native of Temple, TX, Ricky and his wife Michelle, have a daughter, Ashlynn, and a son, Richard, and reside in Ashburn, VA.

Spreading The Field

The Redskins boasted the league's top scoring offense in 1991 with 485 points, while yielding just 224 points which was the second-lowest mark in the league. As a result, the Redskins point differential was a robust 16.3 points. That figure was the most by any team since the league schedule was expanded to 16 games beginning in 1978 and the most since the 1969 Minnesota Vikings posted a 17.6 point differential.

- The Redskins' 485 points were the third most by an NFL teams since the 16 game season was implemented in 1978.
- The Redskins 30.3 points per game average were the most by a team since the 1984 Miami Dolphins averaged 32.1 points a game.
- Washington's 485 points were the fourth most in league history.

Up Close

- Mark supports Camp Dynamite, a camp for inner-city youth in SE Washington, by holding a banquet to raise much needed funds.
- While swimming in Hawaii during Pro Bowl week, Mark was caught in a rip tide and narrowly made it back to shore.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

- Mark was selected to his 1st Pro Bowl last season.
- He has started 29 games over the past 3 seasons.

How Acquired: Selected in 10th round of 1989 draft (263rd overall).

Games Played/Started: 34/29 [5/5] - 1989 (6/6); 1990 (12/7) [2/2]; 1991 (16/16) [3/3].

1991 Season: Not that Mark minded. But everytime his name was mentioned, or written, the "first native born Alaskan to play in the NFL" usually preceded or followed. But now, thanks to a watershed 1991 season, "Pro Bowler" will aptly precede or follow any mention of his name. "He's got super strength," said offensive line coach Jim Hanifan. "Last year he really came into his own. He is a very hard worker and he's just getting started. He's really going to be a better football player." Mark earned 3 offensive player of the week honors vs. Houston in Week 9, Pittsburgh in Week 11 and the Giants in Week 15. Mark was a big reason the Redskins allowed a league-low 9 sacks (team record) and had the league's 7th best rushing attack (128.1 yards). HONORS: Pro Bowl.

Pro Career: 1990: Predicted for stardom in only his 2nd season by Joe Gibbs, Mark did encounter some growing pains. He was replaced as a starter in Week 5 against the Giants, then he suffered a sprained ankle in Week 8 at Detroit that sidelined him for 4 weeks. But he bounced back in Week 14 when he regained his starting spot at right guard, and where he remained for the rest of the season. 1989: The Redskins found out everything they needed to know about Mark when he was thrown into the injury-plagued starting lineup in the Week 10 win over Philadelphia. After he stood up to Eagles' DT Mike Pitts in a 1st quarter shoving match, he quietly proceeded to go the whole game without giving up a sack or QB hurry.

College, Personal: Mark played nose tackle, defensive tackle, and center before settling into the guard spot his junior year at Idaho. Despite being hampered by knee and elbow injuries, Mark came back in his senior year to help the Vandals to the I-AA semifinals and a school-best 11-2 record. When deciding where to play college football, mark selected Idaho over Hawaii because its cold and rainy weather suited him better. When not running from bears in his native Alaska or playing Santa Claus for local kids, Mark is one of the most active Redskins in community and charity appearances. He and his wife Lisa, have 2 children: a daughter Alex, 7 and a son Daniel, 6., and they reside in Herndon, VA.

Up Close

- John's many talents include juggling and playing the drums.
- He is one of the Redskins most active participants in the club's highly successful GamePlan program

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

- John was selected to the Pro Bowl in 1988.
- He became the only free agent in NFL history to rush for over 1,000 yards (1988) since the NFL-AFL 1970 merger.

How Acquired: Signed as a Plan B free agent April 1, 1991.

Games Played/Started: 46/29 - ATL 1987 (9/1); 1988 (16/13); 1989 (15/15); 1990 (6/0); WASH 1991 (IR)

1991 Season: When John signed with the Redskins as a Plan B free agent last season, he had hoped to return to the form that gained him over 1,000 yards rushing and put him into the Pro Bowl in 1988. But severely bruised ribs in training camp put a hold on any of those plans. The Skins placed him on IR (post-47 man roster) and he missed the entire year. "John is a real smart guy who kept himself prepared the entire year," said running back coach Don Breaux. "He's been a productive runner in this league. He's got good quickness and good hands."

Pro Career: 1990: A quick look at the numbers told the Redskins all they needed to know when they signed John as a Plan B free agent. Despite a career-low 6 games played and only 9 rushing attempts, John's previous 2 seasons convinced the club they were getting a premier running back.

1989: John posted his 2nd consecutive season with over 1,000 combined yards. He led the Falcons in rushing (689) and was 2nd in receiving with 39 catches. 1988: John came out of nowhere to total 1,594 yards (1,024 rushing/570 receiving) and earn a trip to the Pro Bowl. He had 9 100-combined yards games, 3 100-yard rushing games, and a 100-yard receiving game. John's 68 catches were the 4th best mark in Falcons history. He averaged 10.2 yards per carry against the Saints (10-102). 1987: John played in all 9 games. His only start came against the 49ers when he and Gerald Riggs lined up in the backfield.

College, Personal: John's jersey number 23 was retired by Appalachian State as he left the school as the number 3 rusher in Division I-AA history with 4,409 yards. John also broke 31 school records and set 19 Southern Conference records. His achievements included a career 4.9 rushing average, 22 100-yard games, 4 200-yard games and 45 TDs. A martial arts enthusiast, he was featured in a high-kick photo layout as one of the 8 future stars "soaring into the '90s" as picked by Sports Illustrated. He also had a speaking part in the NFL commercial for Diet Coke. One of 6 children, John's father is a pastor and his mother is a seamstress in Ruffin, NC. In high school, John was the conference player of the year at Rockingham County High School as a senior. John and his wife, Karen, have a son, Johnathan, 2, and reside in Hickory, NC.

Born	12/31/63

Up Close

- Although his size is more suited for his current job, Ed was a goalie on his high school's soccer team.
- One of his ways to relax is playing video games.

- Has started 24 games (21 at right tackle, 2 at left tackle, 1 at left guard).

How Acquired: Selected in sixth round of 1987 draft (164th overall).

Games Played/Started: 57/24 [3/0] - 1987 (6/3); 1988 (16/0); 1989 (16/8); 1990 (13/11); 1991 (6/2)[3/0]

1991 Season: Heading into the season, the Redskins liked the new-look of the offensive line with Ed at right tackle, Mark Schlereth lined up next to him at right guard, Jeff Bostic at center and the left side of Jim Lachey at tackle and Joe Jacoby at guard. And after 2 weeks the Redskins weren't disappointed, averaging 165.5 yards on the ground. But that promising start became grounded when Ed sprained his right knee vs. the Cowboys in Week 2. He was placed on IR on Sept. 11 and missed the next 8 games. "Ed's a real hustler and has a chance of being one of the league's best tackles," said offensive line coach Jim Hanifan. "He just needs to stay healthy." Ed did return for the Week 11 contest at Pittsburgh and saw action in all 3 playoff games.

Pro Career: 1990: After 17 straight weeks as the starter at right tackle (final 8 games of 1989 and the first 9 games of 1990) Ed was on the brink of becoming one of the top young tackles in the league. Only a season-ending knee injury in Week 13 against the Bears temporarily halted that progress.

1989: Given an extended starting role for the first time in his career, Ed truly did the job. He filled in for the injured Jim Lachey (Weeks 9 and 10) and Joe Jacoby (Weeks 11-16) at left and right tackle. 1988: Ed served as a quality backup of Lachey and Jacoby at both tackle spots, but saw primary action in all 16 games as a member of the special teams. 1987: Ed made 3 starts (his debut came against Philadelphia's Reggie White) at different spots along the line in his rookie year, but a knee injury against Detroit in Week 9, and subsequent arthroscopy, sidelined him for the remainder of the season.

College, Personal: Ed was a starter at Eastern Washington for 4 years and did not miss a play his final 2 seasons. He was named to the Kodak all-

America team his senior season. His first 2 college seasons were hampered by nagging knee injuries. Despite his size, Ed already had demonstrated his athletic ability at Nathan Hale High School in Seattle by lettering twice each in football, basketball and soccer. He was offered a football scholarship to Eastern Washington although the coaching staff had never seen him play. The film the coaches received after Ed's senior year was too grainy to make out individuals, so an EWU assistant traveled to see him play in a high school basketball game. Ed enjoys bowling as an offseason pastime and once bowled 8 consecutive strikes. He was born in French Camp, CA. Ed and his wife, Marci, have a two daughters, Cheyanne, 2, and a baby girl, Olivia. They reside in Great Falls, VA.

• Fred's favorite anti-drug talk was delivered by his college coach Erk Russell. To get his players attention he dropped a sack of rattlesnakes on the locker room floor. He wanted to make the point they should be as scared of drugs as they were of the rattlers.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

- Fred led the Redskins with 7 1/2 sacks in 1990.
- In his last 38 games he has recorded 17 sacks, 8 fumble recoveries, 6 forced fumbles, 1 INT and 1 safety.
- Fred recorded a sack and safety on the same play vs. Seattle in 1989.

How Acquired: Signed as a Plan B free agent March 20, 1989.

Games Played/Started: 61/19 [5/3] - RAMS 1987 (8/0); 1988 (5/0); WASH 1989 (16/5); 1990 (16/3)[2/0]; 1991 (16/11)[3/3]

1991 Season: Since joining the Redskins as a Plan B free agent in 1989 from the LA Rams, Fred has had the uncanny ability of coming up with big plays. In his last 38 regular season games (since Nov. 20, 1989), Fred has recorded 17 sacks, 8 fumble recoveries, 6 forced fumbles, 1 interception and 1 safety. And in Super Bowl XXVI, Fred's "Big Play" tag was certainly well deserved. He finished the game with 6 tackles, 1 sack, 1 forced fumble and 1 fumble recovery. In 3 playoff games, he posted 9 tackles, 3 sacks, 1 forced fumble and 2 recoveries. "Fred has good quickness and he's stronger than people give him credit for," said defensive line coach Torgy Torgeson. "He's a determined guy who just keeps coming and he has a knack for making plays." Last year was no exception. Fred finished the year 2nd on the club with 6 1/2 sacks, 3rd with 20 QB hurries, 3rd with 2 forced fumbles and 2nd with 2 fumble recoveries. In the Week 6 win at Chicago, Fred set up the win with his 1st career interception in the 4th quarter which led to a TD and a 17-7 lead. And in Week 9 vs. Houston, Fred's 4th quarter fumble recovery led a to a touchdown and a 13-6 lead. He enjoyed his biggest day of the year vs. Atlanta in Week 10 when he had 5 tackles, 1/2 sack, 1 forced fumble, 1 fumble recovery, 2 QB hurries and 1 pass defensed. Besides being named defensive player of the week by the coaches for that effort, he also earned MVP honors following the Philadelphia game in Week 5 (his 1st start). Replacing an injured Markus Koch in the lineup, Fred responded with 5 tackles, 3 hurries and 1 sack. He remained in the starting lineup for the remainder of the year. As a pass rushing specialist for the first 4 contests of the year, Fred recorded a sack in each game.

Pro Career: 1990: It was a significant year for Fred. And even though his playing time was mainly limited to passing situations, Fred made things happen. He led the team with 7 1/2 sacks, 4 fumble recoveries and tied Wilber Marshall for the team lead with 2 forced fumbles. Fred's knack for the big play came in bunches. In Week 3 he had 1 1/2 sacks and his recovery of a Troy Aikman fumble led to a Redskin field goal. And against the Saints, his fumble recovery on New Orleans' opening drive of the 2nd half led to a touchdown which broke the game wide open in the Redskins win. 1989: Following the suspension of Dexter Manley and the injury to Markus Koch, Fred stepped in as the starter at right end for the last 5 games of the year. In his 1st career start against Chicago in Week 12, Fred made a career-high 7 tackles, forced a fumble and recovered a fumble. Just the week before against Denver, Fred's sack of Gary Kubiak and subsequent fumble recovery led to Washington's only touchdown of the game. And in the season finale at Seattle, Fred iced the win with a 3rd quarter sack and safety of Dave Kreig. 1988: Fred played the first 5 games of the year before an ankle injury forced him to miss the rest of the season. As a pass rushing specialist, he had 1 sack, recovered a fumble and had 3 tackles. 1987: Fred impressed Rams coaches in training camp as a 12th round draft choice, but a separated shoulder placed him on injured reserve for the first 5 games. He was activated prior to Week 8 and played primarily on passing downs.

College, Personal: Fred began his career at Georgia Southern as a tight end but switched to offensive tackle his final 3 seasons. He was first team Division I-AA all-America selection as a senior. Mainly a basketball player and musician in high school, Fred only played football his senior year. A coach noticed him playing the tuba in the marching band and convinced him to play football. The son of a Pentecostal minister, Fred aspires to follow in his father's footsteps when his playing career is over. Fred and his wife, Regina, have a baby son, Lance, and they reside in Ashburn, VA.

- Clarence is planning on a career in the FBI and has met with FBI Director William Sessions.
- He started a chess program for Special Olympics.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

- In his first pro start, Clarence recorded 11 tackles vs. Phoenix.
- Clarence had a sack in the 1987 NFC championship game when he played at linebacker.

How Acquired: Selected in eighth round of 1987 draft (220th overall).

Games Played/Started: 48/4 [2/0] - 1987 (5/0)[2/0]; 1988 (14/0); 1989 (16/4); 1990 (1/0); 1991 (12/0)

1991 Season: Waived on the final cut when rosters were reduced to the 47-man limit, Clarence once again became a Redskin insurance policy when Alvin Walton was injured in the Week 2 contest at Dallas. With Alvin lost to injured reserve, Clarence was re-signed Sept. 11 for the Week 3 game vs. Phoenix. And typically, Clarence gave the Redskins solid special teams play. He contributed 64 special teams hits and was 3rd with 18 kickoff coverage tackles. Clarence's top performances were 10 hits vs. Atlanta in Week 10 and 9 vs. the Rams in Week 13. He ended the year on injured reserve (Dec. 15) with a sprained shoulder and missed the final 2 games of the year, including the playoffs.

Pro Career: 1990: Waived on the final cut, Clarence re-signed with the Skins the very next day after clearing waivers. Clarence had high hopes for the 1990 season, however, those hopes were swept away when he wrenched his left knee during practice preparing for the Week 3 contest against the Cowboys. He was placed on IR and was lost for the remainder of the season. 1989: Clarence shed his utility role when he took over for Alvin

Walton in Week 13 at Phoenix and finished with a team high 11 tackles. He started at strong safety the final 4 games, but the expanded role did not affect his special teams play where he finished tied with Terr Orr for 2nd in total hits with 84. 1988: Clarence played nickel back, backup safety, and linebacker in passing situations, and also proved a valuable backup at cornerback. His value carried over to special teams where he finished 3rd in kick and punt coverage with 17 tackles. 1987: Drafted as a "project" Clarence successfully made the switch to the secondary in the pro ranks. Clarence played mostly special teams in 5 regular season games, but had his best success in the playoffs. Playing at linebacker, Clarence made 5 tackles, including 1 sack, in the NFC championship game against Minnesota.

College, Personal: It was hard to imagine Clarence as a safety when he was making his name at linebacker at Northern Illinois. His 96 tackles as a senior were impressive, but not as much as his 4.45 speed in the 40. Clarence played at Gage Park High School in Chicago before going to Northern Illinois, where he majored in sociology. He started a Chess program for the local Special Olympics chapter which has since been adopted by the international organization. Clarence is a native of Winchester, IL, and resides in Ashburn, VA with his wife, Yolanda, and daughter, Taylor, 1.

- Alvin's license plate tags on his Mercedes is one of the most noticeable - "Dirty" - at Redskin Park.
- Along with other NFL players, he formed a basketball team to play games to raise money for charities.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

- Alvin led the Redskins in tackles 4 straight seasons (1987-90).
- He had a 57-yard interception return for a touchdown vs. the Cardinals in 1990 and a 29-yarder vs. the Cowboys in 1989.
- Alvin recorded a career-high 196 tackles in 1988.

How Acquired: Selected in third round of 1986 draft (75th overall).

Games Played/Started: 77/62 [9/8] - 1986 (16/4)[3/3]; 1987 (12/12)[3/3]; 1988 (16/16); 1989 (13/12); 1990 (16/16)[2/2]; 1991 (4/2)[1/0]

1991 Season: Heading into the season Alvin had every reason to believe that he would add to his 4-straight 130+ tackle seasons, but he didn't count on the injury bug to hit him. In the Week 2 win at Dallas, Alvin sprained his shoulder and was placed on injured reserve forcing him to miss the next 12 games. "Alvin has been a very valuable player for us," said assistant head coach/defense Richie Petitbon. "Physically, no one on our team hits like him." When he did return to the active roster on Dec. 15, Alvin moved into a backup slot behind Danny Copeland. When he was healthy, Alvin posted a season-best 3 tackles and 9 special teams hits vs. Philadelphia in Week 16. He was on the post-season deactivated list for the Super Bowl.

Pro Career: 1990: Alvin finished as the team's leader in tackles for the 4th straight season with 143 and it was his 4th consecutive 130+ tackle season. He was the team leader in tackles 4 times (17 vs. Dallas, 15 vs. New England, 15 vs. Philadelphia in Week 6 and 13 vs. Philadelphia in Week 9). He also had double-figure tackle outings vs. Chicago (10) and San Francisco (10). His 57-yard interception return for a touchdown against the Cardinals in the season opener sealed the Redskin 31-0 win, while his 4th quarter 60-yard interception return vs. Buffalo set up a Redskin touchdown that clinched the victory. And in the play-offs, his fumble recovery deep in Redskin territory stopped a Philadelphia drive with the Skins holding a 7-6 lead in the 2nd quarter. 1989: A shoulder injury in Week 12 vs. Chicago forced Alvin to the sidelines for the remaining 4 games. Despite the injury, Alvin finished as the team's leader in tackles for the 3rd straight season with 137. He also finished tied for the team lead in interceptions with 4. He made a season-high 16 tackles at LA. In a win over the Eagles, he had 13 tackles and forced a fumble, and at New York Alvin posted 13 tackles and an interception. At Dallas in Week 3, Alvin stepped in front of a Troy Aikman pass and returned an interception 29 yards for a score. 1988: Alvin led the Redskins in tackles for the 2nd straight season, racking up a career-high 196 stops, including 116 solos. Twelve times, Alvin had 10-or-more tackles, including a season-high of 18 twice. He accounted for 6 turnovers with 3 forced fumbles and 3 interceptions. 1987: Alvin led the team in tackles with 148 - 40 more than the next Redskin. He averaged 12.3 tackles per game, and reached double figures in 9 of 12 games. His interceptions were timely. He had one in the end zone to stop a 4th quarter Ram drive and 2 against Minnesota, including a final theft that came with 1:03 remaining to end a Viking threat and preserved the Redskins' victory. 1986: He finished the season with 75 tackles despite making only 4 starts. His aggressive style of play was obvious from opening week when he had 10 hits on special teams. A starter for the play-offs, Alvin responded in the Wild Card game versus the Rams with 6 tackles, a fumble recovery to set up the first score, and an interception in the 4th quarter to set up the final field goal. A week later against Chicago, Alvin recovered a 3rd quarter fumble to set up a touchdown and a 21-13 lead.

College, Personal: Alvin started at Mt. Jacinto Junior College in California and gained a scholarship to Kansas with all-conference and all-state honors. In his only season with the Jayhawks, Alvin started at left cornerback and made 58 tackles, 2 interceptions, and a blocked punt. However, a mix-up in classes left him ineligible for his senior season. He, along with other NFL players, formed a basketball team in the offseason and played games to help raise money for various charities. A native of Riverside, CA, Alvin attended Banning High School in Banning, CA, lettering in football, basketball, and baseball, and led the team to the state basketball title as the center. He and his son, Earlmar, 8, and his 2 nephews, Michael, 17 and Traevon, 15, reside in Ashburn, VA.

1991 Season: If others thought Donnie's career might be in jeopardy, after having 2 screws inserted into his fractured right ankle following a preseason scrimmage against the Steelers, that thought never crossed his mind. Within 10 days after the operation, Donnie was back lifting upper-body weights. After 2 weeks he was lifting weights on his lower body. After missing 6 regular season games, Donnie returned against Cleveland in Week 7. The following week he was back in the starting lineup. "Donnie is one of the hardest workers we've got," said head coach Joe Gibbs. "He's constantly working in the weight room. He embodies what you love as a coach." That embodiment has included 19 starting assignments in the playoffs, including 4 Super Bowls (every playoff game under Gibbs) and 3 world championships. He is 8th on the Redskins all-time receiving chart with 240 catches and his 2,511 yards receiving is 10th on the club's all-time list. Along with Sammy Baugh and Monte Coleman, Donnie is 1 of only 3 Redskins to have played for the team in 3 decades. His 182 games as a Redskin ties him with Mark Moseley for 4th on the all-time list.

Pro Career: 1990: Don played in 16 games (15 starts)) and his 15 catches tied him for the team lead among tight ends. Against the Giants, Donnie played a major role catching a career-high 10 passes for 66 yards. He also came up with a 9-yard touchdown grab from Jeff Rutledge against the Eagles. 1989: Often overlooked, Donnie was named to the Sports Illustrated NFL all-Pro team. His selection may have surprised fans, but only confirmed what his coaches and peers have known for years. When Chicago came to RFK Stadium, it was Donnie whose 3-yard touchdown catch provided the Skins some much needed confidence. His 15 catches were Donnie's highest total since 1986. 1988: Bruised ribs limited Donnie's effectiveness during the season, forcing him out of games 5 and 6, and limiting him in several other contests. His 32-yard reception of a Doug Williams' pass with 5 minutes remaining against New Orleans triggered the winning touchdown drive in a 27-24 victory. 1987: Donnie caught 11 passes and again played an important role in the running game. He played fullback, H-back and tight end. 1986: Donnie caught 20 passes for 164 yards. He was named offensive player of the game for his blocking in the wild card game against the LA Rams. He caught 4 passes in a game twice, in St. Louis and against the Giants at RFK Stadium. His lone touchdown came in the 4th quarter of the regular season finale against Philadelphia. 1985: One of 3 offensive players to start every game, Donnie caught 15 passes for 163 yards. His only touchdown turned out to be Joe Theismann's last TD pass. 1984: Don's biggest catch came in Week 15 against Dallas, one that came on 3rd down and gave the Redskins a 1st down, allowing them to virtually run out the clock and preserve a 30-28 victory. 1983: Donnie's 20 catches for 225 yards ranked 6th on the team. He scored 2 touchdowns with a long gain of 33. His best game came on Monday night against Green Bay (4 catches, 70 yards). He missed 3 games with a bruised back. 1982: The team's 3rd-leading receiver, Don finished with 27 catches for 310 yards. He played a major role in the team's Super Bowl victory over Miami, catching 5 passes for 28 yards. Overall in the play-offs, he caught 11 passes for 72 yards. 1981: Don caught a pass in 15 of 16 games, all of which he started. His top receiving game was a 5-catch, 43-yard effort against the Giants, a game in which he scored his 1st NFL touchdown. 1980: Donnie fractured a fibula in the preseason finale and didn't return until Week 5. Still, he caught 21 passes for 323 yards and finished as the team's 3rd leading receiver. 1979: The team's 1st draft pick (4th round), Donnie started 10 games as a rookie and played in all 16.

College, Personal: Donnie transferred from Mt. San Antonio Junior College to San Diego State as a junior and caught 56 passes for 711 yards in 2 seasons. He was honorable mention all-America academically. Until a future opened in pro football, Don considered being a fireman and took fire science courses in junior college. Donnie enjoys boating and golfing during the offseason. He and his wife, Irene, reside in Clifton, VA, with their sons: Blake, 10, Brett, 7 and Beau, 4.

- Gary's NFL journey has included five teams in six years.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

- He caught a career-high 12 passes in 1990.
- Gary recorded 3 TD receptions in 1989.

How Acquired: Signed as a Plan B free agent on April 1, 1992.

Games Played/Started: 65/18 - BUF 1986 (16/0); 1987 (1/0); ATL 1988 (14/1); 1989 (13/1); 1990 (16/13); 1991 (5/3)

1991 Season: After posting career-high numbers in 1990 in the Falcons newly installed Red Gun offense, Gary hoped those numbers would grow in 1991. But the injury bug (left knee) took its toll on Gary and forced him on the injured reserve list on October 18. In 5 games, Gary caught 3 passes for 22 yards and 1 touchdown. "He's shown he can be an effective blocker," said assistant coach Rennie Simmons. "He's also shown that he can catch the ball, but we really like his ability as a blocker."

Pro Career: 1990: Although used more as a blocker, Gary still managed to catch a career-high 12 passes for 175 yards and 2 touchdowns. His best outing came against Phoenix with 3 catches for 59 yards, including 1 TD. He also had a pair of 2 catch games each vs. the Saints and Steelers. A strong special teams player, he recorded 23 total tackles to rank 3rd on the team.

1989: Signed by the Packers as a Plan B free agent, Gary was released, but re-signed, by the Falcons 3 games into the season. He played in 8 games (1 start) and caught 8 passes with 3 going for touchdowns.

1988: Gary had a solid year with 11 receptions for 134 yards, while seeing action in 14 games. 1987: He was cut and re-signed 3 times in between seeing time on Buffalo's replacement team. 1986: He caught on with the Bills as a fullback and played in 16 games, catching 8 passes. He originally signed with the Cowboys in 1985, but was cut in training camp before signing with the Bills.

College, Personal: Gary caught 49 passes for 676 yards and 4 touchdowns while at Georgia Tech. Gary attended Twin Lakes High School in West Palm Beach, FL where he captained the football and basketball teams. He and his wife, Beatrice, reside in Stone Mountain, GA.

- He was married this past offseason in the Cayman Islands.
- Eric served as the spokesperson for the National Safe Kids Campaign, the first nationwide childhood injury prevention campaign.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

- He had a career-high 64 tackles and 17 QB hurries in 1991.
- Eric posted a career-high 14 tackles vs. the Giants in 1990.
- He recorded a single-game high 3 sacks against Pittsburgh in 1989.

How Acquired: Acquired in a trade with Detroit for James Wilder and a 1991 4th round draft choice on September 11, 1990.

Games Played/Started: 111/95 [3/3] - DET 1984 (12/1); 1985 (12/12); 1986 (16/16); 1987 (11/11); 1988 (16/16); 1989 (16/16); WASH 1990 (13/8); 1991 (15/15)[3/3]

1991 Season: From 14th in total defense to 3rd in 1991. From 9th against the rush to 3rd. Sacks were up to 16 12. Up the middle the Redskins had improved dramatically. And Eric was a big part of that success. For the 1st time in his career he felt at home in a made-for-him 4-3 defensive front. "Eric had a very good year," said defensive line coach Torgy Torgeson. "He's a smart player and he worked hard from the beginning of training camp. He was in the best shape of his life." Eric also produced some of the best numbers of his career. He recorded a career-high 64 tackles. And even though he was used mainly in rushing situations, Eric still managed 17 quarterback hurries and 3 sacks.. His season bests included 8 tackles and 1 QB hurry vs. the Giants in Week 8 and 7 tackles and 3 hurries vs. the Rams in Week 13. Eric came up with sacks vs. Dallas (1 1/2) in Week 12, Pittsburgh (1) in Week 11 and Cleveland (1/2) in Week 7.

Pro Career: 1990: Eric joined the Redskins in Week 2 of the season after missing the entire 1990 training camp with the Lions. He gradually worked his way into the Redskin lineup and took over full-time starter's status in Week 8 at Detroit. Eric quickly established himself as a mainstay in the Redskins defensive front. Not only did he come up with 55 tackles in just 13 games, he also came up with 3 sacks and 8 QB hurries. His season highlights included 11 tackles at Philadelphia and 14 tackles at the Giants. At New England, Eric had 6 tackles and 2 sacks. The only thing that slowed him down was a sprained arch suffered at Indianapolis in Week 15 that forced him on injured reserve for the final game and the playoffs. 1989:

Eric proved to be one of Detroit's most reliable defenders finishing 8th on the team in tackles with 50 (42 solo). He was 3rd on the team with 6 sacks and recorded a career-high 3 sacks against Pittsburgh. 1988: Eric finished 9th on the team and 1st among Detroit's linemen in tackles with 43 (34 solo). His 6 1/2 sacks equalled his career-high. 1987: Eric returned to defensive end after playing nose tackle in 1986 and led Detroit's defensive linemen with 38 tackles and 2 sacks. 1986: As a 1st-time starter at nose tackle, Eric had a career-high 62 tackles (52 solo) which was tops among Detroit's down linemen. In addition, he had 3 sacks, 1 interception, 1 fumble recovery and 1 blocked field goal. He had a game-high 10 tackles vs. the Rams and he also blasted Philadelphia with 10 tackles, 2 pass deflections and 1 blocked field goal. 1985: Eric split time at both defensive end and nose tackle, starting 9 of the first 10 games at defensive end. He racked up 60 tackles and 6 1/2 sacks in 12 games before suffering a season-ending neck injury. 1984: Finishing the season with 9 tackles, Eric played sparingly in 8 games. Came into the league as a 3rd round draft choice.

College, Personal: An all-America defensive lineman at Washington State in 1983, Eric was also a 1st team all-Pac 10 and all-West Coast selection as a senior. He earned a bachelor's degree in agricultural economics at Washington State. He rushed for over 200 yards (at fullback) in his final high school game at Stockton's (CA) St. Mary High School. His father, Roy, was a 2nd round draft choice by the Lions in 1963 and played 2 seasons with the San Francisco 49ers (1963-64). Since joining the Redskins, he has been a popular feature for culinary editors in the Washington metro area newspapers. Eric also was a feature on the NFL Today Show when he prepared a Turkey dinner for some Redskin teammates at Thanksgiving. While in Detroit, Eric was scheduled to host a cable television show called "The Gridiron Gourmet," but his trade to the Redskins forced him to cancel the show. He and his wife Kim (married this past offseason in the Cayman Islands), reside in Oakton, VA.

- Keith graduated with a degree in therapeutic recreation with a concentration in juvenile delinquency.
- Although new to the area, Keith make an impact visiting area schools as part of the GamePlan program.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

- He led the Steelers in sacks 3 times during his 9 years with the club.
- Keith owns 2 of the top 3 single-season sack figures in Steelers history.
- His 59-career sacks are 3rd in Steelers' history.

How Acquired: Signed as a Plan B free agent on April 1, 1992.

Games Played/Started: 126/85 [6/2] - PGH 1982 (9/0)[1/0]; 1983 (14/2)[1/0]; 1984 (12/2)[2/0]; 1985 (16/16); 1986 (16/16); 1987 (11/10); 1988 (IR); 1989 (16/16)[2/2]; 1990 (16/16); 1991 (16/7)

1991 Season: Although the elder statesman among Steeler defensive linemen last season, Keith still was that unit's most explosive pass rusher. He led the defensive line and was 3rd on the team with 7 sacks (his best total since 1986). And while the Steelers elected not to protect him in Plan B, the Redskins were eager to bring his experience and 59-career sacks to Washington. In addition to his 7 sacks, Keith also added 23 tackles. He had a season-best 2 sacks at Houston.

Pro Career: 1990: Keith started every game for the 2nd straight year and finished with 29 tackles and 5 sacks. He also had his 1st NFL interception vs. Cincinnati and had a season-best 2 sacks and 5 tackles at Houston.

1989: Keith recovered from a neck injury that sidelined him the previous season. He had 6 1/2 sacks over an 8-game span from weeks 4-11, including a season-best 2 sacks vs. Kansas City. 1988: Suffered a herniated disc in his neck in training camp and went on IR Aug. 15th and missed the entire season. 1987: Keith finished with 33 tackles and 3 sacks, including a season-best 7 tackles at Houston. 1986: His 12 sacks were the 3rd highest figure in team history. His 54 tackles were a career-high and he had a season-best 2 1/2 sacks at Buffalo. 1985: Keith led the team with 5 1/2 sacks, including 2 vs. Dallas. 1984: Toe and knee injuries forced him to miss 4 games, but he still finished 4th on the team with 5 sacks. 1983: Keith set a team record 14 sacks (broken in 1985 by Mike Merriweather's 15 sacks) breaking Ernie Holmes' 10-year old mark of 10 sacks. 1982: Keith made the roster as a free agent and played in every game.

College, Personal: Keith was a 4-year starter and co-captain at Northeastern over his final 2 years. He also led the team in sacks in each of his last 3 seasons. Keith was Pittsburgh's 1990 recipient of the Ed Block Courage Award after coming back from his neck injury. He also is a very active supporter of Sickle Cell Society and was involved with Your Personal Best assembly program in Pittsburgh and continued to speak to area school children when he joined the Redskins Game Plan program. He grew up in Newark, NJ and attended Malcolm X Shabazz High School. He and his wife, Maxine, have 2 children, Jasmine, 9, and Keith, Jr. ("Kiki"), and they reside in Wexford, PA.

- Growing up in his Chicago neighborhood, Bobby and his buddies would get together and sing old Motown hits.
- Bobby took part in the NFL Pro Set Mini-Camp for Kids held at RFK Stadium for disadvantaged D.C. youth.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

- He recorded a season-high 2 sacks vs. the Giants in Week 15 last year.
- Finished 4th on the club with 4 1/2 sacks.

How Acquired: Selected in first round of 1991 draft (17th overall).

Games Played/Started: 16/1 [3/0] - 1991 (16/1)[3/0]

1991 Season: One play in late October usually doesn't mean a whole lot. But after 6 straight failures at the hands of the Giants, any play that could break that spell might well be considered the biggest play of the night. And it was Bobby who provided that play. Trailing 13-7, Bobby dropped running back Rodney Hampton for a 6-yard loss and forced the Giants to punt from their 23-yard line. Two plays later, Mark Rypien hit Gary Clark with a 54-yard touchdown pass and the lead. "Bobby got better and better as the year progressed," said defensive line coach Torgy Torgeson. "He had to go through a learning process, but he learned pretty fast and he came on. With a year under his belt we'll see how far he can go." Brought along slowly, Bobby solidified his position as the team's number 1 draft choice (the team's 1st pick in the 1st round since Darrell Green in 1983). He tied for 4th on the club with 4 1/2 sacks and finished with 25 tackles. In the Giants rematch in Week 15, Bobby had 3 tackles and a season-best 2 sacks. And in his 1st NFL start vs. Atlanta in Week 10, he recorded 3 tackles, 1 1/2 sacks and recovered a fumble. His 1st NFL sack came against the Cardinals in Week 3.

College, Personal: Bobby was being touted as one of the best kept secrets in college football. But his senior season convinced the Redskins that he was one of the premier defensive linemen in the country. In his only season as a starter at Michigan State, he was a 1st team all-Big 10 selection. Bobby recorded 77 tackles and had 5 sacks, including a season-high 15 tackles vs. Notre Dame. As a junior, Bobby had 4 sacks and 37 tackles as a backup at defensive tackle in his 1st year with the Spartans after transferring back to Michigan State from Northeast Oklahoma A&M. While at Northeast Oklahoma A&M, Bobby was a dominating force coming up with 55 tackles and 4 sacks after transferring there from Michigan State where he sat out the year. Off the field, one of his interests is singing. Bobby attended high school at Austin (IL) Community Academy. He resides in Chicago.

Round	1 (4th overall)
Born	05/15/70

College Career: The Redskins draft room was buzzing with excitement when a deal was closed that allowed the Super Bowl Champions to draft the player they had rated as the best in the entire collegiate pool. Desmond capped a brilliant senior season and college career by winning the Heisman Trophy. He became the first Heisman winner to be drafted by the defending Super Bowl Champions. He was also a unanimous first team all-America and Big Ten selection, Big Ten Offensive Player of the Year and was named Player of the Year by the Walter Camp Foundation and The Sporting News. As a senior Howard caught 61 passes for 950 yards and 19 touchdowns. He set an NCAA record with at least one touchdown catch in 10 consecutive games. Howard also had two rushing touchdowns and two others on returns. His 23 touchdowns and 138 points in a season are Michigan records. Howard was equally prolific as a runner and return specialist. He averaged 13.8 yards on 12 carries, returned 12 kickoffs for 373 yards (31.1) and one touchdown and 15 punts for 261 yards (17.4) and a score. 1990: Desmond was voted second team all-America as a kick returner after averaging 29.5 yards on 16 kickoff returns and 11.8 yards per punt return. He caught 57 passes for 858 yards and nine touchdowns and was a first team all-Big Ten selection. 1989: Freshman Honor Roll choice by The Sporting News. Redskin Firsts

On August 9, 1938, the Washington Redskins formed the NFL's first marching band. Later, on August 17, 1938, "Hail to the Redskins" made its debut which is the first fight song by any team in the NFL.

SHANE COLLINS

Pos	Defensive End
College	Arizona State
Height	6-3
Weight	267
Round	2 (47th overall)
Born	04/11/69

College Career: The drive and determination Shane used to battle back from a career-threatening knee injury during his junior season are what made him attractive to Redskins scouts and coaches. He started the Sun Devils' final six games in '91 and finished the year with 42 tackles (23 solo) and one sack for minus-11 yards. He also recovered a fumble and batted four passes. 1990: A preseason all-America and all-Pac-10 pick, Shane saw his season end after two games when he suffered torn ligaments in his right knee. He underwent reconstructive surgery and missed the final nine games. 1989: Shane earned honorable mention all-America honors from The Sporting News, Football News and The Poor Man's Guide to the NFL Draft. He made 74 tackles and was second on the team with five sacks, ten tackles behind the line of scrimmage and was an honorable mention all-Pac-10 choice. 1988: Named Freshman Football Player of the Year and Freshman Defensive Lineman of the Year by The Sporting News. He recorded 67 tackles (46 solos) with six sacks and 10 tackles for losses. 1987: Recruited as a linebacker, Shane was redshirted before switching to defensive line in '88 spring drills.

Personal: Shane's outstanding athletic ability is evidence by his success in football and as an Olympic-caliber thrower in the shot put. He has aspirations of competing in the 1992 Summer Olympics in Barcelona. Collins finished second in the shot at the 1990 Penn Relays and was third in the 1989 NCAA Indoor Championships. Ranked as the best all-around athlete in Montana his senior year at Bozeman Senior High, Shane won 10 varsity letters in football, track and basketball. He won the 1986 national high school shot put championship with a toss of 65'1/2". Shane earned his degree in business from Arizona State and was enrolled in the master's program during his senior season.

Redskin Firsts

The Washington Redskins became the first, and only, team in NFL history to win a World Championship in their first year by defeating the Chicago Bears 28-21 to claim the 1937 title. On February 13, 1937, the National Football League approved the transfer of the Boston Redskins franchise to Washington, D.C. The Redskins, in their first season in Washington, compiled an 8-3 record on the road to the NFL title.

Game 1: Sept. 1, 1991

REDSKINS 45 Lions 0
RFK Stadium 52,958

Showing no signs of a lethargic 1-3 preseason, the Redskins shredded the Detroit Lions for 392 yards of offense and held the ball for 36:28 in a 45-0 season-opening victory. The 45-0 win was the largest margin of victory in franchise history.

Orchestrating the Redskins offense was quarterback Mark Rypien, who passed for 183 yards and two touchdowns with Gary Clark catching six passes for 107 yards. Special teams also pitched in with Brian Mitchell's 69-yard punt return for a TD.

Defensively, the Skins held the run-and-shoot Lions to 75 yards passing and forced three interceptions. Darrell Green registered two thefts and Sidney Johnson notched his first career interception.

REDSKINS 33 Cowboys 31
Texas Stadium 63,025

Four Chip Lohmiller field goals allowed the Redskins to overcome a 21-10 deficit and defeat the Dallas Cowboys 33-31 on Monday Night.

After knotting the score at 7-7 on a Rypien touchdown pass to Jimmy Johnson, the Redskins soon trailed 21-10 in the second quarter thanks to a 75-yard run by Emmitt Smith and a five-yard TD pass by Troy Aikman. But Lohmiller connected on 53 and 52-yard field goals in the second quarter. A 37-yard Rypien to Monk TD pass cut the score to 21-20 at half.

Lohmiller also added 45 and 46-yard field goals in the second half and the Redskins took the lead for good on a Gerald Riggs one yard plunge early in the fourth quarter. Lohmiller was named NFC Offensive Player of the Week for his efforts.

REDSKINS 34	Cardinals 0
RFK Stadium 54,662

The Redskins posted their second shutout in as many home games with a 34-0 trouncing of the Phoenix Cardinals.

Earnest Byner rushed for 109 yards on 23 carries and added 51 yards on four receptions.

While Byner was tormenting the Cardinals defense, Wilber Marshall and Charles Mann were doing the same to the Cardinal offense. Marshall picked off two passes, one at the goal line and the other was returned 54 yards for a touchdown. Mann posted five tackles, two sacks, one forced fumble, one fumble recovery and three quarterback hurries.

REDSKINS 34	BENGALS 27
Riverfront Stadium 52,038

The Redskins withstood a furious Bengal rally in the second half to win 34-27.

On the strength of 21 second quarter points, the Redskins held a 24-10 advantage at the half thanks to two Gerald Riggs' rushing TDs and a 66-yard punt return for a touchdown by Brian Mitchell.

The Bengals then reeled off 17 unanswered points. After marching 90 yards on nine plays, a Craig Taylor 34-yard run and a Jim Breech 25-yard field goal evened the score at 27. Then, with 5:17 remaining the Redskins went 53 yards on six plays with Riggs' seven-yard run around right end providing the difference.

REDSKINS	20	Bears	7
Soldier Field	64,941

The Redskins made it three straight wins over Chicago with a 20-7 victory over the Bears at Soldier Field.

Offensively, the Redskins took advantage of their opportunities by turning two Bear interceptions into fourth quarter points. Leading 10-7, defensive end Fred Stokes intercepted a deflected pass which set up a five-yard scoring strike from Mark Rypien to Art Monk, and linebacker Kurt Gouveia's interception resulted in a 23-yard Chip Lohmiller field goal.

REDSKINS 42	Browns 17
RFK Stadium

For the first time since 1940, the Redskins were 7-0 after defeating the Browns 42-17 at RFK.

The Redskins pounded out a season-high 208 yards rushing. Earnest Byner picked up 65 yards in the first half but left the game with an injured hand. Enter Ricky Ervins. After the Browns made the score 21-17, Ervins ripped off a 46-yard kickoff return to set up a scoring drive. On the next possession, he scored his second touchdown of the day on a 65-yard run. He finished the day with 133 yards on 13 carries.

It was also Art Monk's day for heroics. He caught seven passes to 106 yards, but it was his second catch, a 14-yard touchdown from Mark Rypien, that moved him past Charlie Joiner into 2nd place on the NFL's all-time reception list.

REDSKINS 17	Giants 13
Giants Stadium 76,627

The Redskins ended a six-game losing streak to the Giants with a come-from-behind 17-13 victory at the Meadowlands.

After trailing in total yards 125-1 after the first quarter and 207-35 at the half, the Redskins fought back from a 10-0 deficit and took control of the game in the second half. In the third quarter, Mark Rypien converted six straight third down attempts before hitting Gary Clark with a seven yard scoring strike. Rypien found Clark later for a 54-yard score that put the Redskins ahead 14-13.

After holding the ball for 8:10 in the first half, the Redskins controlled the clock for 20:35 in the second half.

REDSKINS 16 Oilers 13 (OT)
RFK Stadium 55,096

The Redskins went to 9-0 when Chip Lohmiller nailed a 41-yard FG in overtime to defeat the Oilers 16-13.

Ernest Byner picked up 112 yards on 21 carries, including a 23-yard touchdown that gave the Redskins a 13-6 lead early in the fourth quarter. The Oilers tied the game with less than two minutes remaining on a Lorenzo White one-yard plunge that capped a 10-play, 79-yard drive. Houston had a chance to win in regulation after Brian Mitchell fumbled the kickoff. However, Ian Howfield's 33-yard attempt sailed wide left.

In overtime, Darrell Green intercepted Houston's Warren Moon on the Oiler 23-yard line and set up the game-winning field goal.

REDSKINS 56 Falcons 17
RFK Stadium 52,461

The Redskins set season highs for total yards (559), passing yards (451), points (56), touchdowns (8), touchdown passes (6), turnovers forced (6) and sacks (6). Rypien passed for a career high 442 yards (2nd best in club history), and six touchdowns (tied for most in team history). He also completed an 82-yard touchdown to Gary Clark, the longest completion of his career.

Clark finished the day with four catches, 203 yards and three touchdowns. His yardage total was the most in the NFC in 1991.

REDSKINS 41	Steelers 14
Three Rivers Stadium 56,813

The Redskins pushed their record to 11-0 with a 41-14 victory over the Steelers.

Mark Rypien completed 21-28 passes for 325 yards and two touchdowns. He continued his penchant for the long ball with a 49-yard touchdown toss to Gary Clark and a 63-yard completion to Art Monk which led to the Redskins first touchdown. Monk finished the day with eight catches for 130 yards.

The Redskins defense also put the clamps on the Steelers, limiting Pittsburgh to 41 yards rushing and posting five quarterback sacks;

REDSKINS 27	Rams 6
Anaheim Stadium 55,027

The Redskins clinched the NFC East crown for the first time since 1987 with a 27-6 victory over the Rams at Anaheim Stadium.

Clinging to a 7-6 lead at halftime, thanks to a 47-yard Mark Rypien to Terry Orr TD, the Redskins quickly established dominance in the third quarter. Following Wilber Marshall's fumble recovery on the Rams third play from scrimmage, Rypien connected with Ricky Sanders in the end zone for a 30-yard score. Ricky Ervins scored later in the period on a 24-yard screen pass for a 21-6 lead.

REDSKINS 20	Cardinals 14
Sun Devil Stadium 48,373

After spotting the Cardinals a 14-0 lead at halftime, the Redskins stormed back in the second half to notch a 20-14 win and claim home field advantage throughout the playoffs.

After letting the Cardinals pile up 154 yards in the first half, the Redskins defense held Phoenix to just 40 yards in the final two periods. The offense enjoyed a similar turnaround, scoring touchdowns on its first two possessions of the second half. The Redskins gained 263 of their 384 yards in the second half and controlled the clock for nearly 20 minutes.

Washington increased its lead to 17-14 on its third possession of the half with a 42-yard Chip Lohmiller field goal. Lohmiller added a 27-yarder in the fourth quarter following a Brad Edwards interception.

REDSKINS 34

Giants 17

RFK Stadium 54,722

Washington used 415 yards of offense and the most points against the Giants since 1975 to tie the franchise record for most wins in a season.

Washington took a 7-3 lead on its second offensive play of the game, a 65-yard touchdown pass from Mark Rypien to Gary Clark. After the Giants made it 10-7, the Redskins scored 20 unanswered points to take a 27-10 lead in the third quarter.

The Redskins running game, after a mid-season slump, was back at full throttle, gaining 151 yards on 36 carries. Earnest Byner (17-68) went over the 1,000 yard mark for the second straight year.

EAGLES 24

Redskins 22

Veterans Stadium 58,988

With the division title and home field advantage in the playoffs already secure, Mark Rypien and several other starters got more rest than usual. The Redskins held a 13-7 halftime advantage allowed the Eagles only 26 yards of offense.

The Eagles defense and special teams brought Philadelphia back in the second half. Trailing 19-7 in their fourth quarter, Jeff Kemp capped an 87-yard drive with a two-yard touchdown pass to Keith Jackson. A blocked punt at the Redskins seven set up another Eagles score, and a 38-yard Roger Ruzek field goal with :17 left provided the winning points.

NFC Championship: Jan. 12, 1992

REDSKINS 41	Lions 10
RFK Stadium 55,585

For the fourth time under Joe Gibbs and for the fifth time in franchise history, the Redskins earned a berth in the Super Bowl.

On the game's second play, Charles Mann knifed through and sacked Lions' quarterback Erik Kramer forcing a fumble which Fred Stokes recovered. Two plays later, Gerald Riggs rumbled from two yards out and the Skins had a 7-0 lead. On Detroit's next series, Kurt Gouveia intercepted Kramer returning the ball 38-yards to the Redskins 10-yard line. Chip Lohmiller kicked a 20-yard field goal and the Redskins were ahead 10-0 with just 4:02 gone in the first quarter.

Detroit scored its only touchdown with a Kramer to Willie Green 18-yard pass in the second quarter, but the Redskins answered that threat with an 11-play, 73-yard drive, ending on a Riggs' two-yard plunge into the end zone. The Lions added a field goal before half to narrow the Redskins lead to 17-10.

The second half belonged to the Redskins. Washington scored 24 unanswered points with Rypien hitting Gary Clark with a 45-yard scoring strike and Monk on a 21-yard TD toss. Darrell Green ended the Redskins scoring with a 32-yard interception return for a touchdown.

Super Bowl XXVI: January 26, 1992

REDSKINS	37	Bills 24
Hubert H. Humphrey Metrodome, Minneapolis, MN

The Redskins completed their most successful season, winning a club record 17 games including their third Super Bowl title, all under Joe Gibbs, with a decisive 37-24 victory over the Buffalo Bills.

Washington's defense managed to keep the high scoring Bills in check, while 17 second quarter points gave the Redskins the lead at halftime. Chip Lohmiller opened the scoring with a 34-yard field goal. Mark Rypien connected with Earnest Byner for a 10-yard score and then Gerald Riggs went in from a yard out to provide the 17-0 margin.

The Redskins wasted little time in expanding their lead in the second half, as Kurt Gouveia intercepted a Jim Kelly pass on the first play following intermission and Riggs followed with a two-yard run for a 24-0 lead.

Buffalo answered with 10 straight points, but Rypien hit Gary Clark from 30 yards out and Lohmiller added two field goals to put the game out of reach. Rypien earned MVP honors for his performance, connecting on 18 of 33 passes for 292 yards.

Redskins On Monday Night

The Redskins have appeared on ABC Monday Night Football 38 times and are 20-18 overall. They are 13-7 at home and 7-11 on the road. Washington played the fifth game on the Monday night series (Week 5, 1970 vs. Oakland), and their 48-47 loss in Green Bay (1983) still stands as the highest scoring game ever on Monday night. (San Diego's 54-44 win over Pittsburgh in 1985 was played on Sunday night).

Sonny and Sam

In 1964, the Redskins sent popular running back Dickie James to the Giants for Sam Huff and swapped quarterbacks with Philadelphia, sending Norm Snead to the Eagles for Sonny Jurgensen. Over the past 27 years, Sonny and Sam have become synonymous with the Redskins.

Hot Decembers

Traditionally under Joe Gibbs, the Redskins have been strong finishers and December has been a hot month for the club over the past 11 seasons. Since 1980, the Redskins boast the best December record in the NFL with a glittering 34-10 mark. Under Gibbs, the Skins have posted an outstanding 31-10 (.757) record in December (including 1-1 in the playoffs) and have won 11 of their last 13 December outings.

Since 1970

Since the 1970 AFL-NFL merger, the Washington Redskins are the winningest team in the NFC with a 212-115-1 (.648) winning mark. The Redskins have also won five division titles, made 12 playoff appearances and five Super Bowl appearances. The Redskins are 17-9 in postseason since 1970.

Overtime

In 1974, the NFL established overtime to decide regular season games. Since then, the Redskins have compiled an 9-3 record in overtime games.

1. November 2, 1975-Washington 30, Dallas 24
Home-Ken Houston returned a Roger Staubach interception 14 yards, and Billy Kilmer scored the winning touchdown after 6:34 of overtime action.
2. November 16, 1975-St. Louis 20, Washington 17
Away-Cards scored with 20 seconds remaining on "Mel Gray catch" to force overtime. St. Louis won coin toss and marched to 37-yard Jim Bakken field goal to win after seven minutes of play.
3. November 22, 1975-Oakland 26, Washington 23
Home-George Blanda 27-yard field goal decided contest after 7:13.
4. September 27, 1976-Washington 20, Philadelphia 17
Away-Mark Moseley's 29-yard field goal won Monday night game with 12:49 elapsed in overtime.
5. November 12, 1978-Washington 16, New York Giants 13
Home-Redskins won on Moseley's 45 -field goal after 3:32 elapsed.
6. November 15, 1981-Washington 30, New York Giants 27
Away-Moseley kicked 49-yard field goal on game's final play to force overtime and Moseley booted a 48-yard field goal to win with 3:44 elapsed.
7. September 12, 1982-Washington 37, Philadelphia 34
Away-Redskins sent the game into overtime on a 48-yard field goal by Moseley with :01 to play. Moseley won the game with a 26-yarder with 4:47 elapsed.
8. November 2, 1986-Washington 44, Minnesota 38

First DC Stadium Win

It didn't come easy, but on December 17, 1961 the Redskins finally got their first DC Stadium (now RFK Stadium) win in the '61 season finale with Dallas. Dickie James scored four touchdowns, a Redskin single-game record (Larry Brown tied it in 1973), to lead the Redskins to a 34-24 win. The win ended a 23-game winless streak for the Redskins dating back to the 1960 season.

Memory Lane

The Franchise Feb. 13, 1937	The Washington Redskins are officially born! The National Football League approves transfer of Boston Redskins franchise to Washington, DC, and a new history begins.
The Band Aug. 9, 1937	The famed Redskins Band founded. First of its kind.
First Victory Sept. 16, 1937	The First Game! Thursday night opener draws 19,941 fans to flood-lighted Griffith Stadium. Riley Smith scores on 60-yard run with interception, two field goals and an extra point. Redskins 13, Giants 3.
First Title Dec. 5, 1937	Ten thousand fans stomp up Broadway behind brass band. Sammy Baugh completes 11 of 15, Cliff Battles runs 75 and 76 yards for TDs. Giants routed 49-14, for Eastern Championship.
World Champs! Dec. 12, 1937	Freezing weather, frozen field, icy-nerved Bears can't stop Baugh. Completes 17 of 33 for 335 yards and 3 TDs. Wayne Miller, the all-time Notre Dame great, escapes with nine catches for 160 yards, including 77 and 55-yd. TD spring.
Westward Ho! Aug. 2, 1939	Redskins set forth on first coast-to-coast football training trip. Training site: Eastern State Normal School in Cheney, Washington.
Zero Hour Oct. 1, 1939	Only scoreless tie in Redskin history as Giants are battled in mud and rain.
Record Pass Oct. 15, 1939	From kick formation, standing deep in end zone, Frank Filchock flips pass to Andy Farkas who goes all the way for the touchdown. Longest pass play in National Football League history, 99 yards.
Eastern Champs Dec. 1, 1940	Miniature-sized Davy O'Brien of Eagles completes 33 passes in 60 attempts, but Redskins win 13-6 to clinch Eastern Championship.
73-to-Ohhh! Dec. 8, 1940	Redskins get more first downs than Bears in World Championship Game at Griffith Stadium, but lose 73-0.
California Aug. 18, 1941	Redskins bring pro football on large scale for first time to California. Establish training quarters in San Diego at Brown Military Academy.
Title Escapes Nov. 23, 1941	Fifty seconds to go in the Eastern Championship Game, Redskins hold 13-10 lead. But Giants get field goal and touchdown to win, 20-13.
Only Loss Sept. 27, 1942	Giants don't make first down, gain only ONE yard rushing, complete just ONE pass...but it's good for TD; then they capture another TD on interception...and Redskins suffer their only 1942 defeat, 14-7.

World Champs! Dec. 13, 1942	Bears take early lead on errant pass from center. But Sam Baugh's 85-yd. quick kick sets them back on their heels. Wilbur Moore then makes a vital interception and follows with a sensational catch for 38-yd TD. Andy Farkas caps victory by carrying ball 10 of 12 times on 80-yd TD tour. Score: 14-6.
Division Title Dec. 19, 1943	After two straight losses, Redskins bounce back in Eastern Title playoff game to trash Giants 28-0.
Runner Up Dec. 26, 1943	Sam Baugh suffers concussion early tackling Sid Luckman on punt return and Bears go on to win NFL title 41-21.
To a T July 30, 1945	Redskins abandon their double-wing formation and adopt the T-formation.
Eastern Champs Dec. 9, 1945	Second straight shutout (Steelers 24-0 Dec. 2) vs. Giants 17-0, wins Eastern title.
One Point Shy Dec. 16, 1945	In subzero weather, Redskins lose world title to Rams, 15-14, on incredibly freakish plays. Baugh's pass from end zone hits goal-post for safety (no longer allowed); and Waterfield's try-for-point hits crossbar and bounces over.
Charity Game Sept. 6, 1945	First Annual Redskins-Rams game for benefit in Los Angeles Times Charities, Inc. draws 68,188 to Memorial Coliseum and nets Times Boys Club $96,711.23.
High Note June 13, 1947	Redskins Band performs at Philadelphia Inquirer's Famed Festival of Music alongside Whiteman, Waring and the Philharmonic.
Champs Trumped Nov. 23, 1947	Fans give auto to Sam Baugh who thanks them with 6 TD tosses, routing champion Cards, 45-21.
First on TV June 14, 1950	American Oil announces plans to televise all Redskins games-no other pro team on TV.
Baugh-to-Bach Oct. 10, 1945	Dr. Howard Mitchell leads his National Symphony Orchestra at mid-field in a half-time show.
TD Torrent Oct. 1, 1955	Twenty-one points in 137 seconds! Eagles lead 16-0 in 3rd quarter. Brito recovers fumble on their 32 and LeBaron passes to Janowicz for TD. Torgeson recovers fumble on Eagles 13. Janowicz goes over. Redskins win, 31-30.
The Alumni Oct. 15, 1958	Redskins Alumni Association organized. Twenty-three former players residing here adopt formal constitution and by-laws and invite all non-resident ex-Redskins to join.
Here to Stay Dec. 24, 1959	Redskins sign 30-year lease to play in proposed D.C. Stadium and Congress gives go-ahead to build.
New Home Oct. 1, 1961	First game in new D.C. Stadium draws 37,767. Redskins fail to hold 21-0 lead, Giants win 24-21.
4 of a Kind Dec. 17, 1961	Dick James scores 4 TDs to set Redskins single game scoring record in 34-24 win over Dallas.

Sonny and Sam

Coach of Year
1971

George Allen voted NFL and NFC "Coach of Year."

Future is Now 1971	Allen guides Redskins to most wins, 9 in 29 years with 9-4-1 record. First time in 26 years Redskins gained championship playoff game.
NFC Champions Super Bowl 1972	Redskins win first title in 30 years with a convincing 26-3 win over defending world champion Dallas Cowboys in RFK Stadium following 16-3 playoff victory over Green Bay. Redskins lose 14-7 to Miami in Super Bowl VII in the LA Coliseum.
Brown-NFL "Player of Year" 1972	Larry Brown honored by all selections as NFL "Player of Year," wins NFC rushing title setting new Redskins rushing record with his 1,216 yards, his second over 1,000 year.
NFC Coach of Year 1972	For second year in a row, George Allen accorded "Coach of Year" honors.
Wild Card 1973	Redskins and Cowboys tied for best record in the NFC East, but Dallas wins division in tiebreaker based on better point differential of net 13 points.
4th Straight Year in Playoffs 1974	For the fourth consecutive year, George Allen's "Over the Hill Gang" reach the playoffs.
All-time Receiver Dec. 21, 1975	Redskins wide receiver Charley Taylor becomes all-time reception leader in NFL history with 634th career catch against the Eagles in season's finale.
Jurgensen Retires May 1, 1975	Redskin quarterback Sonny Jurgensen retires after playing for 18 seasons in the NFL, 11 in a Redskin uniform.
Death Claims Milton King Jan. 23, 1976	Milton King, vice president and treasurer of the Redskins, dies at the age of 85.
Return to Playoffs 1976	By winning final four games, including wins at Dallas and at St. Louis, Redskins make playoffs for fifth time in six years under Allen.
Pardee Hired Jan. 24, 1978	Jack Pardee, former Redskin player and coach, named 16th head coach in Redskin history.
Presidential Visit Oct. 2, 1978	President Jimmy Carter became the second President to ever attend a regular season NFL game when he and Mrs. Carter, along with son Chip and wife Caron, see the Monday night Cowboy-Redskin clash.
Off to the Races 1978	By winning the first six games, including wins over rivals Dallas and St. Louis and playoff bound New England, the Redskins enjoy their best start in over 35 years.
Good News, Bad News 1979	The 10-6 record marked the ninth consecutive year Redskins finished .500 or better. Both the division title and wild playoff game lost in final seconds of final game in Dallas, 35-34.
100 Straight 1980	Redskins extend NFL's longest consecutive streak of sellouts to 100, dating back to 1966.

Gibbs Hired Jan. 13, 1981	Joe Gibbs, offensive coordinator of the San Diego Chargers, becomes the 17th head coach in Redskin history.
Finishing Kick 1981	Victorious in 8 of their final 11 games, Coach Gibbs and his Redskins set or tie 13 club records.
Huff Inducted Aug. 7, 1982	Sam Huff, former Redskin linebacker and assistant coach, is inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame.
A New Beginning Sept. 12, 1982	With the 0-5 start of a year ago, the 0-4 preseason fresh on everyone's mind, Mark Moseley lifts the burden with 26-yard overtime field goal to give the Redskins a victory over Philadelphia. Moseley had only minutes earlier sent the game into overtime with a 48-yarder.
Strike! Sept. 21, 1982	The NFL players walk out in a strike that would last until Nov. 17. In all, eight games were missed, seven cancelled.
Holy Moseley! Dec. 19, 1982	With time running out, with the game on the line, with an NFL record at stake, Mark Moseley beats the odds and the Giants by booting his 21st straight field goal in a snowy RFK Stadium. The kick breaks Garo Yepremian's record of 20 and gives the Redskins a 15-14 win. Also in the game, John Riggins becomes the fifth back in NFL history to exceed 2,000 carries (Payton, Simpson, Brown, and Harris are the others).
A Whitewash Jan. 2, 1983	For first time since 1980, the Redskins are on the right side of a shutout, whitewashing the Cardinals 28-0. Their 8-1 record is the best in the NFC, giving them home-field advantage throughout the playoffs. The 128 points given up by the Redskin defense is the fewest in the NFL.
Hogs Take Their Bows Jan. 15, 1983	The celebrated Hogs create enough holes in the Minnesota Viking defense for Ground Hog John Riggins to plow for a Redskin playoff record of 185 yards leading Washington to a 21-7 win and a spot in the NFC Championship. Before leaving the game, Riggins gallantly bows to the 54,000-plus Redskins faithful who roar in approval.
Sweet revenge Jan. 22, 1983	The Redskins avenge their only loss of the season, setting back the Cowboys, 31-17, to reach their second Super Bowl, and first in ten years.
Super Bowl Win! Jan. 30, 1983	By drowning the Dolphins 27-17 in Super Bowl XVII, the Redskins earn their first world title in 40 years. Their win streak reaches eight, and 15 of 16 and 20 of 24 over two seasons. Jack Kent Cooke accepts the Super Bowl Trophy from Commissioner Pete Rozelle in the locker room as MVP Riggins boasts, "Ron may be President, but for tonight I'm King." Coach Gibbs receives a congratulatory phone call from President Reagan. The Redskins' 12-1 record is the fifth best NFL mark in the last 50 years, and their best ever.
Hails from the Chief Jan. 31, 1983	President and Mrs. Reagan are at Dulles Airport to greet the World Champion Redskins as they arrive back from California.
Parade of Stars Feb. 2, 1983	The entire city of Washington celebrates as the Redskins are paraded before some 500,000 fans in a downtown ceremony amidst pouring

Nov. 20, 1983

The Redskins lose 48-47, in the highest game in Monday night football history. The Redskins and the Packers combine for over 1,000 yards total offense.

Doomsday Showdown for Dallas
Dec. 11, 1983

John Riggins sets NFL record. His consecutive games with rushing touchdowns reaches 12 while notching his 19th touchdown of the year to tie that NFL mark. John's streak ends at 13 consecutive games while he goes on to establish an NFL record 24 touchdowns.

Alone on a Hill
Dec. 17, 1983

Dressed in army fatigues, the Redskins marched into Dallas to do battle. The result was a convincing 31-10 victory and sole possession of first place in the NFC East. It was a game that saw Tony Dorsett held to 34 yards on 14 carries (one yard of five carries in the second half), and scores from four different Redskins.

One-Two Punch
1983

For the second year in a row the Redskins finished with the best record in the NFL. Their 31-22 victory over the Giants capped a remarkable 14-2 regular season. It is the first time in the history of the League that an NFC team has compiled so many victories.

Ring Out The Rams
Jan. 1, 1984

Mark Moseley's NFL kick scoring record of 161 points and Riggins' total of 144 top entire NFL. It is the first time since 1951 that the number one and two scorers played on the same team. Their total of 305 points surpasses the totals of eight other clubs.

Three Of A Kind
1985

The Redskins ring in the New Year by drubbing the L.A. Rams 51-7 in the most lopsided playoff in 26 years. Team sets or ties 13 club playoff marks with the 44-point margin of victory, the greatest in the 47-year history of the Redskins.

Happy Birthday
Feb. 13, 1986

The 10 victories marks a third consecutive season the Redskins won 10 or more games, equalling a club best streak set from 1972-74. The 35 wins in those three seasons were a club record for the successes for an three-year period. Threes were also meaningful for offensive linemen Joe Jacoby and Russ Grimm, who each earned a third consecutive trip to the Pro Bowl. Receiver Art Monk (91 catches) was sent for second straight time.

The Washington Redskins entered their 50th season in the Nation's Capital, celebrating the birth of the franchise.

Little Mr. Big
Oct. 27, 1986

WR Gary Clark accounted for 241 receiving yards (on 11 catches) to break teammate Art Monk's club record on Monday Night TV.

Showdown
Nov. 23, 1986

Anxious to avenge their first loss of 1986, the Redskins came out smokin' against Dallas. The 34-0 first half lead marked the most points the Cowboys had ever allowed in a single half of play. With a final score of 41-14, the Redskins had scored their most points ever against the Cowboys.

Gibbs Gets #70
Jan. 3, 1987

What a Catch! Head Coach Joe Gibbs became the winningest coach in Redskin history as the team defeated the Bears 27-13 in a divisional playoff. Gibbs' 70th victory was highlighted by a pair of Schroeder-to-Monk TD passes.

A Giant Step
Jan. 11, 1987

With 15 new faces on the roster, the Washington Redskins played in their third NFC Championship game in five years.

Pro Bowlers,

Relief Pitcher
Dec. 26, 1987

Quarterback Doug Williams connects on 11 of 22 for 217 yards and two TDs in Minnesota. The 27-24 overtime victory is highlighted by a Ricky Sanders 51-yard catch-and-run to force sudden death. Haji-Sheikh kicks the game winner on team's first possession.

The Bear Facts
Jan. 10, 1988

For the second time in two years, 'Skins travel to Chicago for Divisional Playoff. After trailing 14-0 in the second quarter, team rallies to win 21-17. Darrell Green provides the game-winning points on an electrifying 52-yard punt return, as Redskins advance to the NFC Championship Game for the fourth time in six seasons.

NFC Champs!
Jan. 17, 1988

Redskins are 17-10 victors over the Minnesota Vikings as Doug Williams connects with Gary Clark to break a 10-10 fourth quarter deadlock. Washington becomes the first team to advance to the Super Bowl three times in the 1980s.

World Champs!
Jan. 31, 1988

Twenty Super Bowl records are broken en route to 42-10 decision over the Denver Broncos. Quarterback Doug Williams is named the game's MVP as he connects on 18 of 29 for a record 340 yards. His four touchdown passes tie another record as team scores five times in five possessions in the second quarter alone.

100 Wins
Dec. 10, 1989

Joe Gibbs registered his 100th career win as head coach of the Redskins as the team defeated San Diego, 26-21. Only six other coaches have reached 100 wins faster than Gibbs.

Art Monk moved into third place on the all-time NFL receiving list, ahead of friend and receivers coach Charley Taylor, in Washington's 26-21 win over the Chargers.

The Redskins equaled the greatest comeback in club history with a 41-38 overtime win at Detroit. Down by 21 points in the third quarter and 17 points entering the fourth, Jeff Rutledge rallied the Redskins by passing for 363 second-half yards (30-42). The game winning points came on a Chip Lohmiller 34-yards field goal in overtime.

Art Monk became only the third player in NFL history to catch 700 passes when he hauled in four receptions against the Saints in RFK.

The Redskins pushed their playoff record to 12-3 under Joe Gibbs with a solid team effort 20-6 win over the Eagles at Veterans Stadium.

For the first time in franchise history the Redskins opened the year with 11 straight victories.

The Redskins became only the sixth team in NFL history to record 17-or-more wins in a single season by posting a 17-2 overall mark (best in team history).

In 16 games, the "Hogs" only allowed a league low and club record nine sacks. It was the third lowest total in NFL history.

Art Monk became only the second player in NFL history to catch 800 passes when he caught five passes in the season finale at Philadelphia. He ended the year with 801 career receptions, just 18 passes behind all-time leader Steve Largent's 819.

For the fourth time under Joe Gibbs and for the fifth time in franchise history, the Redskins earned a berth in the Super Bowl with a convincing 41-10 win over the Detroit Lions.

The Redskins claim their third Super Bowl win under Gibbs. The Skins knocked out Buffalo 37-24 and Mark Rypien was named Super Bowl MVP completing 18 passes and throwing two TDs. Gary Clark and Art Monk both caught seven passes with Clark gaining 114 yards and one TD, with Monk adding 113 yards. Brad Edwards had two interceptions and the defense sacked Bills QB Jim Kelly five times.

The Redskins set a club record with eight players earning selection to the Pro Bowl. Jim Lachey and Darrell Green are named starters while Gary Clark, Chip Lohmiller, Charles Mann, Earnest Byner and Mark Schlereth also were named by their peers as the best in the league at their positions.

Redskin owner Jack Kent Cooke and Virginia Gov. L. Douglas Wilder announce plans to build a 78,600 seat stadium at Potomac Yard in Alexandria, VA.

The Redskins move into their new training complex. The building is over 80,000 square feet and is the newest in the NFL.
